

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

PERSONAL MENTION.

Robert Ginther was in from Beaver creek, Wednesday. E. D. McKee has returned from a short visit to The Dalles. J. D. Lee, superintendent of the penitentiary, was in town Tuesday. W. S. Tull and family, of Barlow, were visitors in town Wednesday. Rev. O. B. Streyfeller and family, of Albany, are camped at Gladstone park. J. E. Hedges is very slowly recovering from a recent severe attack of diphtheria. Mrs. S. A. Paquet, of Portland, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. de La Fontaine.

Misses Ora and Anna Flinn, of Albany, are visiting G. W. Church and family. Mrs. Louise Hopfield, of Mount Tabor, was visiting Mrs. O. J. Parker Tuesday. W. L. Little, a well known civil engineer of St. Helens, was in the city yesterday.

Chris Kocher and family came down Marks' Prairie Wednesday, to hear Sam Jones. Miss Addie Clark came down from her Polk county home to attend the Chautauqua. Miss Bessie Ghormley, of Portland, was visiting Mrs. K. H. Gabbert, during the week. Charles Logus was up from Portland Wednesday looking after his property interests here.

Mrs. E. E. Boyd and children were visiting Mr. Boyd's parents, at Washougal, over Sunday. Dr. F. M. Brooks, of Silverton, was visiting G. A. Heinz and family during the first of the week. L. E. Armstrong, one of the leading farmers of Macksburg, was visiting here Tuesday and Wednesday. Ex-County Judge Hayes is afflicted with a severe attack of blood poisoning affecting a bruised hand. Mrs. Frank DeParo and daughter, of Portland, is visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. T. F. Cowing. Mrs. Charles Thomas, of San Coulee, Montana, accompanied by her children, is visiting Mrs. William Eudy. Supreme Judge and Mrs. C. E. Wolverton, of Salem, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wilson, Wednesday. C. H. Dye was elected grand inside watchman at the grand lodge of the A. O. U. W., in The Dalles this week. W. L. Snidow is very ill with a painful affection at the base of his tongue, which is causing him much suffering. C. F. Hennings, who formerly conducted the Seventh street bakery, is now proprietor of a saloon in Albion. Mrs. Otto Krause and Mrs. J. J. Dalrymple, of Salem, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, during the week. Misses Della and Alpha Moore, who were visiting their brother, L. O. Moore, returned to their home at Brownsville, Saturday. J. C. Bradley, Charles W. Kelly, J. H. Howard and Charles Woodward will attend the grand council of Redmen at Pendleton next week. Carl Oberg, of Portland, was in town Monday, visiting his brother, Rev. Harold Oberg. He was on the way to his mines in the Santiam country. City School Superintendent L. W. McAdam returned Wednesday from an extended trip through Eastern Oregon, having enjoyed the jaunt immensely. Mrs. Mary Jack and son, Barton, came down from Marquam Tuesday, and are camped at Gladstone park. W. W. Doores brought them here by team. J. F. Clark and Martin Schenck, accompanied by Fred Toner and Lee Fenton, of Dallas, leave this week for a hunting and fishing trip in the vicinity of the Three Sisters. Senator L. L. Porter, of Oregon City, spent Sunday in Corvallis. He will be deeply interested in a wedding that is to transpire in Corvallis about September 1st.—Corvallis Times. Rev. A. J. Montgomery and family will leave Monday for their summer outing at Government camp, Mount Hood. Rev. Montgomery, however, will return and fill his pulpit every Sunday. George A. Harding left Sunday night for San Francisco, to visit his son Lee. He will make an effort to have the volunteers come home in a body, especially those from Clackamas county. J. W. Linn, who left here some months ago for Dakota, wrote a letter under a recent date from Oakwood, Wyoming, requesting that the Courier-Herald be sent him, as he could not do without it. J. G. Maddock, of Goldendale, was a guest at the Electric hotel yesterday. He accompanied the National Editorial Association into Canada, and wears one of the souvenir badges presented by the Dominion people.

Adam Shultz, who is now running a butcher shop in Portland, was here this week. He is suffering from the effects of the forefinger of his right hand having been recently amputated with a butcher's knife accidentally. Jacob Schildauer, who has been enjoying several weeks vacation, since the expiration of his enlistment on the battleship Oregon, left yesterday for San Francisco, where he expects to enter the naval service on the Hartford. Byron Sarver, of Logan, was in town yesterday, getting a severe throat wound dressed. The sweep of a grubbing machine struck him on the throat knocking him a distance of 20 feet, and almost shutting off his mortal existence. Mr. Knapp, who was foreman in the Enterprise office something over a year ago, but who now has charge of the Warrenton Tribune, was here Wednesday. He stated that Charles Meserve had retired from his position on the Astorian.

Williamette Camp, Woodmen of the World, had a special meeting Wednesday night, and initiated two candidates. A special team came up from Portland and impressed the candidates into service. About 100 members were in attendance. There was a general meeting of the executive committee, and members of the other committees of the reception to the volunteers, at the armory Saturday night. The matter of the volunteers voting to be mustered out in San Francisco, was generally discussed, and strong arguments were made in favor of returning the money to the subscribers of the reception fund, but it was voted to postpone the matter. A reception will likely be tendered those, who return.

A representative of the Enterprise received considerable advertising from the Canby-Aurora neighborhood agreeing to devote a whole page to that section and distribute several hundred extra copies free. It has run the ads a month and during that time has published but one small article on the page mentioned, filling the page with boiler plate, ads, etc. The COURIER-HERALD has a circulation of over a thousand in that part of the county and can give value received to advertisers without promising free copies and write ups that it cannot or does not furnish. Moral: Advertise in and subscribe for a legitimate newspaper. Both the Baptist and Episcopal Sunday schools had picnics at Gladstone park Saturday. As they were both on the ground at the same time, it became sort of a joint affair, as Rev. Hammond joined the other speakers in making addresses from the platform. The children of the Episcopal Sunday school were looked after by Misses Amy Kelly and Imogene Harding. Superintendent H. E. Cross presided over the Baptist Sunday school, athletic games being one of the features of entertainment. W. W. Marrs won the old man's race, and J. J. Burgess was a close second. J. W. Loder, G. W. Swope, J. F. Clark and H. E. Cross championed the class boys in a baseball game. Wilbur McKee, a new arrival, is serving a 30 days' sentence in the county jail for the larceny of postage stamps from the law offices of T. F. Cowing and A. S. Dresser, also for stealing Dr. Seaman's revolver from his room and disposing of it. McKee is a stenographer, and had done some work for Colonel Miller and other attorneys. Postage stamps were disappearing from some offices at an alarming rate, and it was found that these had been hypotheated in various saloons for the drinks. It was also learned that McKee had disposed of the revolver to young Freeman at Canemah for $3. Chief Burns took him into custody Wednesday, and Deputy District Attorney G. B. Dimick gave him permission to plead guilty to petit larceny. After his arrest, he gave several names that he had gone under.

The last number of the American Druggist and Pharmaceutical Record, the leading drug journal of the U. S., contains notice of the awarding of a prize to C. G. Huntley, of this city, for the best retail druggists advertisement. The ad was written by Mr. Huntley and set up in the COURIER-HERALD office and appeared in this paper. This is the second first prize out of these ads submitted by Mr. Huntley, for which we congratulate him. In part it says: "This example is chosen because it is a little out of the rut of ordinary prescription advertising. It is a good example of the kind of ad that can often be used to advantage by druggists. It is interesting, frank and confidential. It will make a good impression on every reader and will help to secure a hearing for later ads. This advertiser's work is characterized by simplicity and straightforwardness. There is no straining after effect, no attempt at brilliancy—just quiet, instructive, persuasive talk such as might be used in chatting with a customer."

SKIPPED OUT. McLoughlin, the Electric Line Promoter Leaves His Creditors Behind. N. O. McLoughlin, the active promoter of the Oregon City, Molalla and Southeastern Electric Railway, has gone and his whereabouts are unknown. He left three or four days ago, but his absence was not particularly noted, until his wife had the household furniture and belongings packed and started to Portland Wednesday afternoon. G. H. Young, who had a claim against the furniture, seized the chattels by attachment proceedings. Mrs. McLoughlin explained matters by stating that her husband had skipped out and also had deserted her. McLoughlin's creditors are numerous, and the majority of them realize that they are deep in the hole, victims of misplaced confidence. He came here five or six years ago, and worked more less in the paper mills and for the Portland General Electric Company. Always paid his obligations and was prominent in fraternal circles. Last winter he held a position at the state insane asylum, but early in the spring returned here, and launched the scheme to build an electric railway in the direction of the Molalla country. He was reticent as to his plans, but let out the information that relatives in the East were to furnish him funds to push the proposed enterprise. The fact, that he talked but little about the proposed railway line, helped his credit. He claimed that he would have a remittance of expense money soon, but his employees were never made aware that he received any. Everything was done on credit—office rent, furniture, supplies, etc., were charged up to the Oregon City, Molalla and Southeastern Electric Railway, and it still remains on the debit side of numerous ledgers. Not an employee was paid as much as a 50 cent piece; farmers, who boarded the surveyors are also left. The Company's liabilities are possibly $2,000.

Y. M. C. A. Notes. Young men of the city and strangers in our midst are made welcome at our new home, corner of Eleventh and Main streets, every day in the week from 9 in the morning till 10 at night. Our reading room is supplied with our city papers, also the leading daily papers of the state. There is also on file a good selection of religious and secular weeklies and monthlies. The Ladies' Auxiliary is planning to furnish the parlor, that we may have a pleasant room in which to spend our spare time. Changes and additions are being made in the gymnasium, preparatory to a big fall and winter work. The gymnasium classes will be started the first of September. They will consist of a business men's class on Monday and Thursday afternoons, young men's class on Tuesday and Friday evenings, junior class on Tuesday afternoon and Saturday morning. A ladies' class will also be conducted. Recreative games are introduced in the regular work of the gymnasium, and prove helpful to tired business men, lawyers, and, in fact, to members of all ages, occupations and tastes. On taking up class work, members are given a free physical examination, with anthropometric chart. It is pleasing to know so many young men have joined the association during the past few weeks, for, as a rule, men who join the association during the quiet season of the year are men who appreciate its advantages and are willing to enter into the true spirit of the organization. The membership privileges of the Oregon City Young Men's Christian Association are open to any self-respecting man of 16 years of age or over, without regard to religious belief, denomination or creed. An initiation fee of $1 is charged and an annual fee of $5. This ticket entitles holder to all the privileges of the association, bath, gymnasium classes, physical examination, members' parlor, etc. Junior fees are $3 per year, including an initiation fee of 50 cents. These tickets entitle boys from 12 to 16 years of age to the free use of the association privileges at set hours. In regard to payment of fees, see A. M. Grille, general secretary. Our men's gospel meetings are held every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the association building. The music will be made a special feature. All men are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Alger Crowded Out. WASHINGTON, July 20.—Alger has been crowded out at last. The systematic manner of ignoring him as a cabinet officer and secretary of war resulted in his finally handing to the president the resignation for which the people have been so anxiously longing. The universal demand of the members of the cabinet that Alger get out has had its influence, and the cold shoulder he has received in the cabinet, together with the fact that Corbin has taken everything out of his hands in the war department, made the position untenable.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS. Born, in Oregon City, July 18th, to George Sylvester and wife, a daughter. A Mautz's barn was burned at Maple Lane a few days ago, accidentally. Our reading room is supplied with our city papers, also the leading daily papers of the state. There is also on file a good selection of religious and secular weeklies and monthlies. The Ladies' Auxiliary is planning to furnish the parlor, that we may have a pleasant room in which to spend our spare time. Changes and additions are being made in the gymnasium, preparatory to a big fall and winter work. The gymnasium classes will be started the first of September. They will consist of a business men's class on Monday and Thursday afternoons, young men's class on Tuesday and Friday evenings, junior class on Tuesday afternoon and Saturday morning. A ladies' class will also be conducted. Recreative games are introduced in the regular work of the gymnasium, and prove helpful to tired business men, lawyers, and, in fact, to members of all ages, occupations and tastes. On taking up class work, members are given a free physical examination, with anthropometric chart. It is pleasing to know so many young men have joined the association during the past few weeks, for, as a rule, men who join the association during the quiet season of the year are men who appreciate its advantages and are willing to enter into the true spirit of the organization. The membership privileges of the Oregon City Young Men's Christian Association are open to any self-respecting man of 16 years of age or over, without regard to religious belief, denomination or creed. An initiation fee of $1 is charged and an annual fee of $5. This ticket entitles holder to all the privileges of the association, bath, gymnasium classes, physical examination, members' parlor, etc. Junior fees are $3 per year, including an initiation fee of 50 cents. These tickets entitle boys from 12 to 16 years of age to the free use of the association privileges at set hours. In regard to payment of fees, see A. M. Grille, general secretary. Our men's gospel meetings are held every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the association building. The music will be made a special feature. All men are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Alger Crowded Out. WASHINGTON, July 20.—Alger has been crowded out at last. The systematic manner of ignoring him as a cabinet officer and secretary of war resulted in his finally handing to the president the resignation for which the people have been so anxiously longing. The universal demand of the members of the cabinet that Alger get out has had its influence, and the cold shoulder he has received in the cabinet, together with the fact that Corbin has taken everything out of his hands in the war department, made the position untenable.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS. Born, in Oregon City, July 18th, to George Sylvester and wife, a daughter. A Mautz's barn was burned at Maple Lane a few days ago, accidentally. The loss was about $500, partially covered by an insurance policy of $250. The young people of the Presbyterian church gave one of the most delightful lawn parties of the season at the home of Mr. Meyer on last Saturday night. Ice cream and cake were served. Willamette Camp, Woodmen of the World, had a special meeting Wednesday night, and initiated two candidates. A special team came up from Portland and impressed the candidates into service. About 100 members were in attendance. There was a general meeting of the executive committee, and members of the other committees of the reception to the volunteers, at the armory Saturday night. The matter of the volunteers voting to be mustered out in San Francisco, was generally discussed, and strong arguments were made in favor of returning the money to the subscribers of the reception fund, but it was voted to postpone the matter. A reception will likely be tendered those, who return.

Both the Baptist and Episcopal Sunday schools had picnics at Gladstone park Saturday. As they were both on the ground at the same time, it became sort of a joint affair, as Rev. Hammond joined the other speakers in making addresses from the platform. The children of the Episcopal Sunday school were looked after by Misses Amy Kelly and Imogene Harding. Superintendent H. E. Cross presided over the Baptist Sunday school, athletic games being one of the features of entertainment. W. W. Marrs won the old man's race, and J. J. Burgess was a close second. J. W. Loder, G. W. Swope, J. F. Clark and H. E. Cross championed the class boys in a baseball game. Wilbur McKee, a new arrival, is serving a 30 days' sentence in the county jail for the larceny of postage stamps from the law offices of T. F. Cowing and A. S. Dresser, also for stealing Dr. Seaman's revolver from his room and disposing of it. McKee is a stenographer, and had done some work for Colonel Miller and other attorneys. Postage stamps were disappearing from some offices at an alarming rate, and it was found that these had been hypotheated in various saloons for the drinks. It was also learned that McKee had disposed of the revolver to young Freeman at Canemah for $3. Chief Burns took him into custody Wednesday, and Deputy District Attorney G. B. Dimick gave him permission to plead guilty to petit larceny. After his arrest, he gave several names that he had gone under.

The last number of the American Druggist and Pharmaceutical Record, the leading drug journal of the U. S., contains notice of the awarding of a prize to C. G. Huntley, of this city, for the best retail druggists advertisement. The ad was written by Mr. Huntley and set up in the COURIER-HERALD office and appeared in this paper. This is the second first prize out of these ads submitted by Mr. Huntley, for which we congratulate him. In part it says: "This example is chosen because it is a little out of the rut of ordinary prescription advertising. It is a good example of the kind of ad that can often be used to advantage by druggists. It is interesting, frank and confidential. It will make a good impression on every reader and will help to secure a hearing for later ads. This advertiser's work is characterized by simplicity and straightforwardness. There is no straining after effect, no attempt at brilliancy—just quiet, instructive, persuasive talk such as might be used in chatting with a customer."
