COMMENTARIES.

Matters Concerning Local Everyday Affairs Noticed by the Courier-Herald Reporter.

The jury system should be abolished in justices' courts. It has been demonstrated time and again, that juries in the justice courts of Clackamas county, fail to convict in nine cases out of 10. In many instances the testimony is conclusive, but the juries bring in a verdict of not-guilty, and the taxpayers foot the bills.

It keeps pedestrians busy on upper Seventh street dodging bicycle scorchers on the sidewalks. That street is now in excellent condition for wheelmen, and why the authorities permit such things on one of the most crowded thoroughfares, is a nine days' wonder.

Some of the admirers of Sam Jones, claim that his preaching is in a different vein from the matter of his lectures at Gladstone park. A lady, here, however, who heard Jones for two weeks continually, says that his sermons were a repetition of the same harangue as given at Gladstone park.

The Oregonian sent their city editor and assistant telegraph editor to San Francisco, to ascertain just how matters stood with the returning volunteers in reference to being mustered out at Portland or San Francisco. They reported that the Second Oregon Regiment from Colonel Summers down favored being mustered out at San Francisco. The Telegram recently suggested that the sword for Colonel Summers, be presented at San Francisco.

Ringler, the Chautauqua sports master, claims that this paper did not treat him right in reference to matters on the athletic field. Why didn't he treat the Jolly Fellows baseball club right?

It is reported upon pretty good authority that at least two of the Oregon City volunteers will stop off at Albany, and go into the Santiam country to locate homesteads before returning home. Information has also been received, that one of the Willamette companies will return home by way of Newport.
