A. rooms, and several classes are being formed. Dr. Seaman made a physical examination of several young men the other evening to determine just what kind of exercise they needed to develop weak muscles.

A. A. Kenny, for 15 years in the United States naval service, has purchased the Stricklin farm from the state board of school land commissioners, paying therefor the sum of $3500. Mr. Kenny was married here a few years ago, the bride being a resident of Portland. He left last night for San Francisco to bring his family here.

An item in last week's Enterprise states that if anyone was not appointed on the volunteer reception committee, that they were not eligible. Does this mean that Dresser, Hedges, Wisharts, Huntleys and other citizens, were to be disfranchised, or in other words, excommunicated along with Judge Galloway, Colonel Bob Miller and others?

Mrs. E. B. Andrews entertained a number of the members of her Sunday school class at her home in Falls View addition last Tuesday evening. The program consisted of games and music, and refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Robinson, Nora Califf, Lulu Albee; Messrs. D. A. N. Munsey has about completed the improvements on his house. One side of the building and half of the roof had been covered for many years with a dense growth of ivy. On that side of the structure the roof had not been repaired since the building was constructed 31 years ago, while the shingles on the other side had been replaced two or three times. The roots of the ivy had absorbed the moisture in the roof, and to a great extent had prevented mold from appearing on the interior of the building.

R. D. Wilson tried the project last winter of manufacturing jointed fish poles from native arrowwood. These poles possessed the advantages of being light in weight, ornamental and of unusual strength. There was a popular demand for them. As they were made by hand, the supply was limited. The arrowwood poles will stand a strain of from 29 to 33 pounds before breaking, while bamboo and other woods break at a strain of from 15 to 19 pounds. A day or two ago Mr. Wilson received an inquiry from a dealer in the East, asking if he could supply the poles to the trade. He contemplates putting in machinery and manufacturing poles on an extensive scale.

Dr. E. A. Sommer suggests a plan to improve the condition of the wagon road between New Era and Oregon City, provided the proposed road to intersect the Lawton road, should not materialize. It is to build a plank road to intersect the fifth street road near the Mount Pleasant school house and connect with the Lawton road, one-half mile distant. However, he does not oppose any other roads leading to the city.

Last week attention was called to the magnificent display of Filipino carrios in Huntley's window, the property of Herman K. Jones. Now J. H. Black has a very rare and interesting collection at the postoffice window in charge of Ed Taylor. Interesting relics are a rusty padlock from the execution chamber of Bilibib prison and some Filipino female wearing apparel. At Harding's drug store is the splendid collection of carrios belonging to J. W. Moffatt and Lee Harding. At Charman's drug store is an interesting display belonging to Rea Norris and Frank Burryhne.

Senator's Porter's hired man, who graduated from some patent sheet in North Dakota, and came here to learn effete Oregonians journalism, became so badly afflicted with the swellhead during the absence of the boss, that he imagined that he owned the Evening Telegram. He says that a weekly paper is too slow for him, but it is painfully apparent that the caliber of the Enterprise is far above anything that he has hitherto been connected with. If he will take the trouble to examine the Portland edition of the Telegram, he will find that it still discriminates against Oregon City. The employee, who will not work for the interests of his employer, is worse than an infidel.

The ever popular Jessie Shirley Company are playing to crowded houses this week, notwithstanding a large part of the population are in the hop yards. The company is stronger than it was when here before as two new members are added to the troupe. Read the list of plays in another column.

U. S. Ship Under British Flag.

New York, Sept. 14—A dispatch to the World from Hong Kong says: The United States transport Tartar, which expected to sail today, has been detained by the harbor authorities under the British merchant shipping act, whereby her capacity is limited to 750 passengers, although the Tartar has a licensed capacity of 1340.

Consul Wildman, representing the United States government, who took the matter at once before the local government authorities, maintained that the Tartar is an American troopship, although she is flying the British flag, and is not subject to the merchant shipping act. The authorities have been discussing the matter all day, and it is very probable that 450 of the soldiers on board will be left behind when she is finally permitted to sail for San Francisco.

Several of the discharged soldiers on board the Tartar filed the complaint as to her unsanitary condition, which started the proceedings to detain the vessel.
