The county clerk has received official notification that M. Danaherty, who was sent to the insane asylum February 8th, 1895, died on September 18th.

County Clerk Dixon issued marriage licenses to Ida Harney and Everett Hubbard on September 29th, also on the same date Mabel M. Cummings and J. F. Lovelace.

William Beck, aged 15, was examined before County Judge Ryan Wednesday, and was pronounced insane. Sheriff Cooke took the boy to the asylum Friday morning. The boy set fire to his father's barn a couple of weeks ago, which was destroyed with all its contents.

Miss Edna Mattoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mattoon, of Viola, was married to J. O. Brown, of Linn county, last Sunday afternoon. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, the officiating minister being Rev. Snyder, of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have gone up the valley on a trip, and upon their return will reside at Viola.

A Chinaman was driving through Main street with a drove of hogs last Friday. Finally the rear end gate of the wagon bed fell out, and the porkers began to drop out one by one. After the second hog easily dropped to the pavement and began a promenade on the bricks, the Chinaman's attention was called to the fact that he was losing his hogs. After a couple of hours chasing and dodging, he finally landed the animals back in the wagon.

The following notice appeared in the Middleton, Ohio, Republican. Mr. Smith has been a resident of Oregon City for several years: We publish this week an interesting letter from Hon. L. O. Smith, descriptive of his Oregon home, the climate, crops, etc. Mr. Smith was a former editor of this paper and resided here and no doubt his legions of friends hereabouts will be pleased to hear from him. We expect to publish several letters from his pen in the near future. Watch for them.

Arthur Clift, who returned a few days ago from a trip up the Columbia, looking for young cottonwood trees, says the potatoes vines in the vicinity of Vancouver are turning black from the effects of some disease, and it is feared that considerable of the crop will be worthless. Mr. Clift found cottonwood trees that had grown since 1894. They were five inches in diameter and were 25 feet in height. Mr. Clift secures a lot of small trees every winter for the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, who have the young cottonwoods transplanted, to take the place of the trees that have been cut off and made into white paper.

Mr. J. D. Stevens gave the COURIER-HERALD a pleasant call Tuesday. Mr. Stevens is commissioned by the mayor and council of Canby to see the S. P. R. R. and U. S. postal officials in Portland to remedy the existing conditions relative to train and mail service in Canby. He will report the result of his interview to the citizens of Canby and vicinity at the open meeting of the A. O. U. W. in Knight's hall, Canby, Friday evening next.

Abernethy Chautauqua Circle met at the residence of Mrs. Washburn at Park-place Friday night, and reorganized for the coming year's work. Mrs. William Galloway was re-elected president and leader, this being her third term. Mrs. J. T. Apperson was elected vice-president, and George A. Hamilton secretary. The meeting proved a delightful reunion in a social way, and Mrs. Galloway was presented with an elegant silver salad set, complimentary to her services for the circle. Refreshments were served.

O. C. Yocum and F. C. Little, both living in the Cascade forest reserve, at the base of Mount Hood, proved up on their homesteads Monday. Their witnesses were William G. Steel, of Portland, and Charles Fryer. These homesteads were located before the boundaries of the forest reserve were established, and are the last subject to final proof in that immediate vicinity. W. G. Steel had a homestead location there, but commuted it a couple of years ago. These parties have been offered good figures for their claims, but declined to sell. Mr. Yocum intends to build a $2500 hotel at Government camp.

A correspondent of the Eugene Guard says that the Blue river mining district is taking on all the air a regular mining camp. Suit has been instituted in the Lane county circuit court by the Blue River Mining Company against Frank Mengoz and others, whereby the company asks for an injunction restraining defendants from interfering with plaintiff's property. The plaintiff asks for $300 damages. Also several arrests have been made in the district, the parties involved being accused of stealing mining tools from the cabin of John Downer, a negro miner. A rich placer strike is also reported.

The Ashland Record gives an account of the work done by J. W. Berriam, of Stone, at the Rogue river hatchery, as follows: "The fish hatchery at the mouth of Elk creek is running in full blast and is a sight worth seeing. Mr. Berriam has two racks across the river at a distance of about 400 yards apart with a gate in the lower rack so that the fish can pass through. At one end of the lower rack he has a down stream fish trap. When he wishes to make a drive he sends the fisherman out with a seine that reaches from shore to shore. They go down the river, forcing everything in front of them to the lower rack. They go along the rack with one end of the seine and drive the fish into the trap."
