FARM GARDEN SUN SCALD. A Factor Requiring Consideration in Growing Fruit Trees. In some parts of the country sun scald is one of the most important factors in growing fruit trees.

Deep down beneath the skin, hair roots may yet exist, filled with vitality, and all that is required to develop them into a beautiful head of hair is the faithful application of the proper agents.

EFFECT OF SUN SCALD. erable pruning in the tops is avoided, because it would expose the larger branches to the deadly sun scald. This difficulty is less frequently met in the northeastern states, but the writer (F. A. Waugh, in The Country Gentleman) has lately visited an orchard as far north as Canada and New England line, where nearly 50 per cent of the trees were ruined by this trouble.

Sunburns are usually only the beginning of other serious troubles. Borers commonly follow closely after. Bacteria and molds gain access and cause increased damage to wood and bark, and the rain and sun check and crack the exposed tissues, to their great and permanent detriment.
