...According to agreement made in Salt Lake City, if your preparations proved a benefit to my bald head, I was to send you a testimonial. There is a fine growth of new hair started. Am not troubled any more with dandruff and that annoying itching of the scalp. I had tried everything I could hear of before I saw you, but received no benefit. You can use this if you wish. Please send me half-dozen bottles.

OSWEGO LIVELY.

A Visitor Gives the Reporter Several Interesting Items.

Our informant stated that the Oswego school is prospering. H. T. Evans is the principal; Miss Louise Barnett is teacher of the intermediate department, and Misses Georgina Bell and Pearl Nida are teachers in the primary department. The total enrollment of pupils this year is 242, showing a marked increase since last year when only 185 pupils were enrolled. A recent entertainment, which was an unequalled success, brought in $20. The pupils of the school participated in the program, and the drill is said to have been the best ever given in Oswego. The object of the entertainment was to raise money to purchase a new flag for the school building. After taking out the cost of the flag, there was money enough left to pay for having the school piano tuned. At the annual school meeting Henry Gans, who had served continuously as a director for 21 years, declined a re-election, and E. G. Russell was chosen to fill the vacancy. C. Hall was re-elected clerk for the fourth time.

Hon. F. L. Mintie has been appointed an internal revenue collector for Alaska, and Mrs. Mintie has departed for their new home at Skagway. Last Friday night the Christian Endeavor Society gave Mr. and Mrs. Mintie a farewell reception, which proved a very satisfactory affair.

The following Oswego people have recently been ill: Dena Prosser, Frances Walling, Lizzie Rosenstreter and Carl Weltner.

Milton Shipley, aged 42, who died of consumption, was buried Friday, under the auspices of the Oswego grange. The funeral was largely attended. The deceased was a son of the late A. R. Shipley, a well known pioneer.

At the funeral of Lillian Dorris, the three-year old daughter of Thomas and Catherine Fox, six small boys acted as pall-bearers and six little girls followed in the procession carrying flowers. The death occurred on Wednesday from pneumonia, and the funeral services took place from the M. E. church, and Rev. St. Clair officiated.

Mr. G. H. Pettinger was taken to a hospital in Portland on Tuesday evening of last week. The complaint was said to have been appendicitis and it was thought that an operation would be necessary. However, it is since learned that his condition is not so serious, and an operation will not be required.

Miss Mianie Uida and Bert Hays were married at the home of the bride's parents Thursday. Justice Haines officiated.

COMMENTARIES.

Matters Concerning Local Everyday Affairs Noticed by the Courier-Herald Reporter.

L. Legged Porter forgot to take that knotty "beam" out of his optics, when looking for "notes" elsewhere. Has he forgotten the time when he marched around a certain room, the foot of his game leg audibly striking the floor at each step, while he amused the bystanders with mandarin utterances like this: "There's only a few more of us left now." Perhaps he would take some now, if some one else would pay for it. Has he forgotten how he left a former employee's wife on the charity of the public, after agreeing to provide her with transportation so that she could join her husband? A number of people who went down in their pockets to relieve the situation, have not forgotten the recent occurrence. Did he ever have an employee, that he did not accuse of stealing his money? However, a man that will buy lousy, second-hand furniture for a new house, might do anything.

Albert Tazior, the new vice-president of the National Editorial Association, stated to the reporter Sunday, that the Oregon delegation was the only one that maintained headquarters, or made a good showing for their own state. Mr. Tazior overheard a Wisconsin delegate talking, who was here last year. He said that he was so impressed with Portland and Oregon, that altogether he wrote over 40 columns of descriptive matter for his home paper. The result had proved disastrous. Five regular subscribers, three of his best advertisers and two politicians, who were his financial backers, had all pulled up stakes and gone to Oregon.

OREGON'S ALL RIGHT.

Sketch of a Trip Through Seventeen States by the Editor.

(1)

The writer has just returned from New Orleans, where he had the honor of representing the Oregon press as one of the delegates to the National Editorial Association meeting at that place. He traveled nearly 7000 miles and through 17 states and is glad to get back and satisfied to remain in Oregon.

He has not seen a place, climate and other things considered, where he would rather reside than here. In subsequent articles he will try to give a short sketch of some of the different localities visited.

From Oregon City by the Southern Pacific railroad we traveled through the fertile Willamette valley with its green-clad mountains on either side to the Rogue river valley, which is favored with a climate fully as good, if not better, than ours and less rain, but farther from market, being a day from either San Francisco or Portland. Having left the enterprising city of Ashland we commence to climb the mountain, after our train has been cut in two and two engines placed on each section. After climbing for several hours we can look down and see below us the railroad in several places where it winds back and forth up the mountain side, and the city of Ashland nestled in the beautiful valley. Almost as soon as we cross the California line, we enter, what seems to us, who are used to green hills and valleys, a barren country, on which, though, is kept many a bunch of cattle. After passing through this for several hours, viewing beautiful Mt. Shasta to the left, we enter the Sacramento valley with more rain than the less favored section of the state, and where orange growing is getting to be quite an industry, the fruit there being as good and a month earlier than in Southern California, though the crop is not quite as heavy and a little more liable to frosts. After leaving this valley we enter San Francisco, the city of the coast, through its many suburbs, and are favored with a strong breeze from the ocean, something we are not familiar with in our sheltered valley, and in Frisco, it is said, you need an overcoat every day in the year. This city of the golden gate is a very busy one, and in our next will see it and Southern California.

The First Baby.

When baby comes to the home it will bind the wife closer to the husband, or it will gradually tend to cut her off from his companionship. A sickly mother loses in physical charm, and often in temper and disposition. A fretful child is a trial, even to loving parents. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription prepares the wife for motherhood. It strengthens the body, and induces a healthy condition of mind, free from anxiety or fear. It makes the baby's advent practically painless. The mother being healthy her child is healthy, and a healthy child is a happy child, a joy to the parents, linking them together with a new bond of affection.

There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I read what your medicine has done for other people," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass., Box 70, "so thought I would try it, and I found it a blessing to me and family. I took your medicine a year when I had a ten pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my three children, and I have been very well ever since. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' Before I took your medicine I only weighed 135 pounds, and now I weigh 175 pounds."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure sick headache.

In Memory of F. A. Klingler.

Oh, why do we weep and moan
 At our loss so great?
 For the loved one was not our own,
 But God's, who kindly gave.

Father, we can never hear thy footfall
 Upon our threshold again.
 Neither can we hear thy welcome call
 For us to do some little errand for thee.

And mother's heart is sad within her breast
 That you at this time should be called away,
 But thou art taking thy eternal rest,
 Calmly awaiting the resurrection day.

Let us take courage and repining cease
 For the will of the Lord be done, not ours.
 Thy soul is in Heaven, resting in peace,
 Awaiting our coming, which may not be long.

We miss thee from thy accustomed place;
 In our home there is a vacant chair;
 Happiness within us there is no trace,
 For we miss thee everywhere.

A kind, loving husband and father thou hast been;
 Thou hast filled our home with cheer.
 Now thy form we can never see again;
 'Tis gone, yes, laid in the silent tomb.

Kind friends with us sympathize, [do;
 And have done all mortal hands could do
 But tears of sorrow will fill our eyes
 And our memory is filled with thoughts of you.

Around our hearth there lingers still
 Sweet remembrances of thee while here.
 The family circle, which is broken, can never be welded till
 We reach that Heavenly sphere.

A FRIEND.

Foresight Means Good Sight

If there ever was a truism it is exemplified in the above headline. Lack of foresight in attending to the eyes in time means in the end poor sight.
