April 2. W. W.

Barlow.

Fine growing weather and fruit prospects good. Some spring chickens are ripe now.

The demo-pop caucus went off as per schedule, as smoothly as silk. The assimilation was perfect, and no comfort could be extracted by a few republicans present that hoped the fusion would fall. We even absorbed one man that voted for McKinley four years ago, and made a delegate of one silver republican, and we feel proud of the fact that we have no Brownells nor U'Rens to boss our caucuses and conventions.

The delegates to county convention were as follows: Populist—A. B. Cole, Wm. Evans, P. H. Molloy, D. H. Parmenter; democrats—W. W. Jesse, H. Hedges, W. M. Covey, Wm. Barlow. Nothing succeeds like success. Let the good work be continued.

The Barlow literary and debating society wound up for the season in a blaze of glory Saturday night. The entertainment was pronounced a perfect success by all present. The acting, singing and recitations from first to last, were of high order and entertaining to a high degree. We would be pleased to mention some of those that took part, but for lack of space will be compelled to refrain. The literary journal that was conducted so cleverly and fair by its editor, Comrade Meville, was likewise discontinued, not for want of support nor financial backing, but that the editor may give us a rest.

Miss Mabel Knight, of Canby, commenced a three months' subscription school in the Barlow schoolhouse Monday morning.

W. W. Irwin, who has been traveling in search of health, is now at his home near here seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. W. M. Covey is now in Portland, where she was operated on for tumor in the left side, which proved to be the result of fractured ribs by being run over by a wagon two years ago. She is recovering slowly.

Mrs. Obed Quint has been granted a pension on an unusual short time after application, of which all here are well pleased.

The girls played a huge joke on the boys at the dance Saturday night. Shortly after 12 o'clock, a m. as there were three quadrille sets on the floor, and as the first figure was called and the boys saluted their partners with a polite bow, the girls quietly walked away and sat down. The boys looked dumfounded, but someone can hit on to the joke and yelled, "April fool!" Oh! but it was rich. Come again, boys!

There are two persons in this vicinity who are sick, and are said to be beyond the hope of recovery by the use of medicine. Why don't they and their friends try the efficacy of Christian Science? It can do no harm, and may cure. Have you lost faith in your God? See 12th chapter, 1st Cor.

Judge W. W. Jesse is the democratic nominee for justice of the peace, and all those that don't want justice, should they be brought before him, had better vote for some other man.

CORPORAL.

Cherryville.
