

CLACKAMAS COUNTY NEWS

Logan.

Mrs. J. H. Brown is very ill at present. The smallpox scare is as yet unabated. Mr. Croner is badly broken out with it. Rumor has it that J. M. Tracy will move to Oregon City in the near future. Sam Gerber has his new barn well under way. Sunday school every Sunday in the Meldrum school house, district 94. Mrs. George McConnell and family spent Sunday with friends at Logan. May Sutherland will start for the coast today. To the correspondents who boast so much, will say, don't count your chickens before they are hatched; don't crow too soon, for the republicans beat everything getting together. 1900. April 16.

Rural Dell.

The few spring days have started some farmers plowing. Fred Palmer has sold his team. Miss Emma Eymann, who has been working in Portland for several months, is at home. W. S. Seance has been cutting sawlogs on his place for some time. Miss Edith Jackson, of Maple Lane, came out last week to visit her grandparents and returned Sunday. The school meeting held on the 9th inst for considering the bids for building the new schoolhouse passed off very smoothly. The bid of Henry Osterholts, of Needy, was accepted, it being the lowest. Will Skeen and family, of Liberal, were here Sunday. One of the late new things is the Evergreen "scribbler."

Our road supervisor, B. F. Smith, put a crew of men to work grubbing and improving the road north from the school house today. It is claimed that A. Montandon, the citizens' nominee for road supervisor, will receive the support of a great many republicans at the polls. What's the matter with Kinzer? Mrs. Stuckey has been on the sick list for some time, but is now improving. A series of meetings will begin at Smyrna this evening and last until Friday evening. A. Montandon is thinking of building a new dwelling house. A. C. April 17.

Liberal.

Farmers are "jumping sideways" this week. If the weather continues good, they will finish seeding next week. Wheat aphid is in vast numbers on the fall wheat. This was never known before at this time of year. Prospects for a full fruit crop are exceedingly good. Quite a number in this vicinity have la grippe. Born—To the wife of Eph Dodge, on April 11, a son. Mother and child are doing well. Mrs. Allie Dodge was visiting Mrs. Dan Graves, her daughter, on Sunday last.

H. L. Barnes had his shoulder badly hurt while rolling logs last week. Roy Graves, who has had a long siege with his foot that was split open with an ax, is about well and will return in a few days to his farm at Long Creek. Miss Ida Bowie has returned home from Fresno, Cal., and will stay with her grandmother, Mrs. L. E. Wright, this summer. Her many friends gave her a hearty greeting when she returned home. She is very much improved in health. Miss Dollie Ridings was visiting her aunts, Mrs. Lydia Wright and Mrs. W. H. White, Saturday and Sunday. The dancing school had a good crowd Saturday night—more ladies than gentlemen. Boys, that will never do. Our merchant had a runaway on Tuesday while hauling goods from Oregon City. Mr. Hannegan was shaken up some. Jim says the wagon tongue is a little short. He has a spirited team and will have to be more careful. Patriotism does not demand that we shall approve a wrong. Loyalty to our country does not require disloyalty to principles of rightness. Loving and honoring the flag means loving and honoring the principles for which that flag stands. K. April 17.

Garfield.

Lovely weather at the time of writing. Miss Holmstrom is well pleased with her school here. Conrad Krigbaum is home again for a visit. J. P. Irvin is fast completing his board fence so as to save his wheat and clover from stock. H. Austin is at J. P. Irvin's for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Krigbaum were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Holder last Sunday. John T. Irvin entertained a few of his friends Easter, among those being Cid Lung, Rany Crawford, A. J. Krigbaum, Emerson Surface. Lewis Palmator and Mrs. Irvin on Sunday entertained Miss Holmstrom and Ida Surface. Some of the young people of Garfield seem to be flourishing with plenty of "chink," as they can have candy pullings, oyster suppers, etc. Hurrah for the young merchants of Garfield! April 17. CORPORAL.

Milwaukie.

The fence on the front of the cemetery is getting a fresh coat of white paint. Samuel Hoesly is putting a new foundation under his house and building an addition to it. Lucy Tischoner is sick with an attack of tonsillitis. Seventeen grangers attended the Pomona Grange at New Era last Thursday. Homer Miller is busy extracting stumps on the premises of J. W. Grosche. The Episcopal Sunday school had an excellent Easter program on Sunday afternoon, mostly the Sunday school pupils taking part, and they did very well. The church was crowded with people, many who could gain admittance.

John Harrington has his chicken ranch in good shape. He has several new kinds of ducks from the East. The benefit entertainment Monday night was a grand success, enough money being raised to shingle the roof of the house, and a wagon load of eatables were brought. Misses Rose Scott, Edna Ross, Geo. Wisinger were the committee who had charge of the entertainment. Chas. Mullen has been appointed to superintend the carpenter work and he has the promise of plenty of help to finish the work in one day. The ladies will furnish a good dinner to all who help. Among those taking part on the program were: Misses James, Lena and Johanna Keil, Oliver, Dottie Messers, Lakin, Prof. T. J. Geary, of Oregon City, Henry Hennessee, Joe and Paul Keil and others. April 17. M.

Barlow.

The weather is like it ought to be, and all hands are taking advantage of it by making garden and getting in their crops. The Needy baseball club came over to Barlow Sunday to learn the game from Capt. Tull's team. The game stood 48 to 20 in favor of Barlow. The Aurora boys will play next Sunday. Wm. Nason sold his splendid orchard and home this week to George Newton, of Battlegate, N. D., who took possession today. The Barlow people will extend the welcome hand to Mr. and Mrs. Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Nason, both highly respected old people, whom we all regret to lose, will move to Portland. May peace and comfort attend their declining years. Cassie Tull and Willie Bauer started Monday morning for Eastern Oregon. This is Cassie's first adventure, and the girls are hoping Will will take good care of him. Mrs. M. E. Bratton made a business trip to Portland and Oregon City Saturday. Mrs. H. H. Hedges visited in Portland Monday. When will the Canby boys want their jackets tanned by our baseball nine? Brother U'Ren took dinner with us at the Adams' house today. He was out on his wheel. "He's nice," as the girls say. Billie Irvin is around and looks quite well and smiling again, which his many friends are glad to note. Sunday school did not seem to interrupt the baseball game the least bit. Mrs. Jesse is very busy in their large garden, but the Judge seems to lean on the fence a great deal. Wonder if he is talking politics? We don't think it is necessary, Judge, you will get there just the same. April 17. CORPORAL.

Some much-needed work is being done on Molalla avenue and other streets this week. SALINA. April 19.

Maggie Marlin went to Woodburn on Saturday. Edith Jackson is visiting relatives at Needy. J. W. Gerber and family visited J. D. Niman and family Sunday. Mary Davies, after a brief visit at home, returned to Portland the first of the week. Maple Lane is almost girlless this week. Hattie Roman is sojourning amid the suburban scenes of Ely, while Jessie Jackson and Elese Gibbs are acquiring metropolitan modes in the old and only city at the fantastic falls of the wild, winsome, wonderful, winding Willamette. The rock crusher is now in our midst. It was quite a task to get it through the sticky clay in the "cut," but this was accomplished successfully last Saturday, after the expenditure of much manpower and more horsepower, interspersed with remarks appropriate to such occasions. It is now ready to grind somewhat after the same style as the fabled mills of the gods. April 19. Tom A. Hawk.

Harmony.

Mr. Biddel has been quite ill with la grippe, but is now much better. The fruit crop promises well this year. I hear no complaint from the late frost. There was a surprise party given at S. B. Millard's residence last Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Millard's 50th birthday. All present had a very enjoyable time. The independent ticket gives good satisfaction so far as I can learn. We think we can make it warm for the republicans on June 4th. 16-2-1. Meadowbrook.

Bull Run.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Tuesday, April 3, at the head works of the Bull Run pipe line, the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. H. Spain, Rev. G. P. Rich, of Kelso, Or., officiating. The contracting parties were Miss Kate Andre and Mr. Louis Bolinger, both of Portland. Only relatives and a few friends were present. The house was prettily decorated with Oregon grape, ferns and vines. After the ceremony luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Bolinger will make their home in Portland.

NOW Is the time to secure new subscribers, local and national campaigns this year.

There is every indication here of an immense fruit crop this year. There is a blossom on every available spot on the trees. P. Varetiti has recently sold 40 head of cattle at $25 per head. The school ma'tams around this section seem to be in training for a walking match. They are taking daily walks of five to 20 miles. Mrs. A. Andre and daughter, Annalied, drove their large band of cattle to a distant range last week and did it in a creditable manner. Mr. Andre was away and Mrs. Andre was unable to get anyone to do the job. And still some take a pessimistic view of women doing men's work. 4.

Frog Pond.

The school observed Arbor Day with appropriate exercises and a number of the patrons were present. Claus Peters and his brother, Jake, of Wilsonville, went to Portland Friday. Nooney Eilers came up from Portland Saturday evening. Garrett Peters was in Oregon City Sunday. A number of the boys spend their Sunday evenings on the banks of Saum's mill pond. We are once more able to breathe freely after the fright Mr. Flynn gave us some days ago. He passed through on his way from Oregon City, and judging from rate of speed, he must have seen "spirits." Jake says the next time he lends his horse he will tie a placard to the saddle, "Will carry only one." Girls, it's no use to ring your bicycle bell for George after ten. Mr. Mayes says spring rains are bad for farm machinery, so he has built a fence around his binder. Charley Turner has purchased a new bicycle. Farmers are all busy putting in the spring crop. Parties wishing to purchase thoroughbred pigs should call on R. W. Oldenstadt, of St. Ford. He keeps the noted Kegel-shire and Poland China. Miss Jennie Noble went to Oregon City, Saturday and returned Sunday accompanied by our Wilsonville merchant, A. Frog.
