Magazines.

Even to the chronic theatre-goers of long experience, it may be a surprise to learn that one of the very oldest actors in point of service, still before the public, is Mr. Stuart Robson. In the July number of Everybody's Magazine appears the first instalment of a series of articles by Mr. Robson in the nature of an autobiography, and entitled "The Memories of Fifty Years." The simple explanation for the month is on "Liquid Air." The story of Petroleum is told, and a brief account of the workings of the oil industry. There are fourteen other good articles and short stories.

The Popular Science Monthly, which was established in 1872 by the Appletons, and which has at present the largest circulation of any scientific journal in the world, is now being edited by Professor James McKeen Cattell of Columbia University, and published by McClure, Phillips & Co. Professor Cattell is well known as a psychologist and as the editor of "Science." The July number contains among other articles, a paper by Simon Newcomb, the astronomer, entitled "Chapters on the Stars," a new paper by Dr. Haffkine, the discoverer of the preventative against the plague, on "Preventive Inoculation."

There is, perhaps, but a single place in this country where almost all the newspapers of the United States are read. To the exchange bureau of The Ladies' Home Journal practically every paper in this country comes—an aggregate of nearly 9000. It is the rule to read each one within a day after it is received, so a large staff of trained readers is kept employed constantly. By this plan it is possible for the editors to keep in close touch with the reading public, and accurately informed as to the topics that are uppermost in the public mind in every section of the country. In this reading, such selections are made as may be of special immediate interest, as well as matter for future reference and notes that may serve as memoranda or suggest articles. Moreover, everything relating to the Journal is clipped and filed. Thousands of dollars a year are spent in this work alone, but Editor Bok regards it as a very profitable investment, as invaluable information is thus supplied that could be obtained in no other way.

For Over Fifty Years
AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. It is pleasant to the taste, Sold by Druggists in every part of the World. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.
