Ray McKinley, a deckhand on the steamer N. R. Lang, met with a serious accident Sunday evening, which nearly cost him his life. Mr. McKinley left the steamer about 11 o'clock, to come to this city on an errand, and while walking along the breakwater stepped into an opening, and fell to the water 40 feet below. Men on the steamer heard his cries, rushed to the rescue, and found McKinley lying helpless on the ground, near the water. He was taken aboard the steamer and a physician was immediately summoned, who on examining the man's injuries found that one rib was broken and his back and head badly bruised and cut. The injured man was taken to Marine hospital in Portland for treatment.

The taxes on county property for 1900 will be 29 mills and on city property 43 mills. The taxes are constantly increasing and the public debts are constantly increasing. Out of a voting population of over 5000 but 800 pay poll tax. Deducting 1200 for old age and exemptions would still leave 3000 polls or $9000, $7200 more than we get now. This would pay the salary of a special collector and have a handsome balance for the county. This is but one item of loss and shows how we are drifting. Its somebody's business to look after these leaks. We pay salaries enough. At the special meeting of the Oregon City school district to levy a tax but two persons outside of the board were present. More publicity should be given to public affairs and taxpayers should take an active interest in such.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hornschu have been bereaved of both their children, Reuben and Vera, aged 3 1/2 and 5 1/2 years, respectively, within the short space of two weeks. Were it not for the blessed hope of meeting departed loved ones in the better land, our earthly bereavement would darken into midnight sorrow, but faith looks beyond the grave and beholds a happy reunion in the sweet bye and bye. Funeral services were held by Rev. S. Copley.

Kate Emmett, called the merriest, little comedienne on the American stage, will appear at the opera house, Monday Feb. 4th, in her great success, "The New Waifs of New York." This is play of high and low life in New York in a strikingly sensational way with a rich vein of comedy, and presented with magnificent new scenery, startling mechanical effects, stirring situations, excellent specialties, and the other good things that go to make a first class play. The Tribune said:

"The warm weather of yesterday did not prevent tremendous crowds from gathering at Heuck's, and that mer little comedienne Miss Kate Emmett was given a hearty welcome. Her play "The New Waifs of New York" which has been here a number of times, about the same as ever, though the performance was made more enjoyable through the introduction of a number of catchy specialties. As Willie Bull, Miss Emmett won many bursts of applause, particularly in the court room scene, where her saucy airs and seemly spontaneity were more than pleasing. Mr. Lorin J. Howard has surrounded Miss Emmett with an excellent company and the play was handsomely staged."

Miss Emmett is sunny and winsome in her work. She takes the part of a boy, and does some very clever acting, her impersonation being capital. The little actress has comedy and pathos, her command.—Edwyna A. Barron Chicago Inter Ocean.

His face wreathed with a smile as he lighted a cigar in the opera house lobby as a well-dressed man remarked as he left the theatre: "Well I guess I got my money's worth or more and all I laughter that is due me. That "Star Boarder" is a cracker-jack—the best thing of the kind, in fact, that I ever saw. I laughed until I was almost tired, but it did me good. Such pret girls, clever singers and dancers and many tip-top specialties and such a go all around company I never saw before. I didn't look for a plot. Hi had I guess I couldn't have found a semblance one. But I don't dote on plays with plots that require thinking all the time. I attend the theatre for relief from the cares of every day life—to be amused, laugh, to have in fact, a good time, a got it tonight." This is only one many similar expressions of the intense satisfaction found in the performance "The Star Boarder" that will be at the opera house Saturday night.

Almond Cream is a preparation that heals faster than winds can roughen. If neglected, face and hands can hardly keep from roughening in cold, raw weather. They can't keep from being smooth if you rely on Almond Cream. It heals quickly because it's entirely absorbed. For the same reason there's no grease or stickiness to annoy. Daintily perfumed.
