

Hood View.

The fifth annual meeting of the West Willamette Association of Congregational ministers and churches was held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 16, and 17, in the Hood View church near Wilsonville.

The morning of the 16th dawned clear and bright, and nothing arose to mar the harmony of arrangements previously made. Hood View and its surrounding neighborhood were in the height of their glory, decorations and the erecting of a spacious tent where a sumptuous lunch was to be served was already in order, and as evening drew on the delegates from far and near began to arrive, and at 7:30 p. m., about 30 guests, ministers and their wives, delegates and their wives, and guests from Salem, Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Portland and all over the state were in attendance. After the morning program dinner was the special feature. Hot coffee and tea, Boston baked beans, potato salad, pickles, chicken, ham, beef, pie, cake and all the good things in the culinary line heart could wish or appetite crave were at hand, provided by the able and substantial farmers and their good wives. Basket after basket of lunch were devoured by the hungry guests, and all was commotion in the parsonage for a time until almost before the lunch committee and young lady waiters were aware of time, the bell chimed 1:30 p. m. and the afternoon program was in order and nothing was to be missed by anyone and all hustled to the church again to listen to the eloquence of able speakers. Again there was a busy crowd of ladies in the parsonage preparing the evening lunch, which was soon over. Meantime all visiting guests with Alpine sticks in hand climbed the hill and viewed the magnificent scenery of old Pleasant Hill and the cemetery of old Pleasant Hill. At 5:30 a special musical concert was given by the young people, and the program was as follows: Song.....Choir Gladys Baker Instrumental solo.....Miss Ellen Brobst Song, "Down in Tennessee," with guitar accompaniment.....Elva Templeman and Chester Toose Song.....Choir Violin solo.....Gladys Baker Song.....Miss Templeman and Chester Toose Instrumental solo.....Miss Sarah Brobst Song.....Choir Those who took part on the program performed their parts so well that no special mention is made excepting little Miss Baker, who must be complimented for her self composure and skillful way in which she handled the instrument.

After the program was rendered the time was spent by the older members of the assembly in the discussion of the topics of the day, while the young people, crazed with the Japanese napkin fad, rushed hither and thither getting names on their napkins.

At 7:30 the bell tolled the time and the church was packed. People came from far and near to hear the words of the missionary workers. Many were compelled to stand.

Rev. O. F. Clapp, of Forest Grove, closed this day's good work by a few well fitting remarks and by touching lightly on all of the speakers of the day in which he quite rightly named a great many of them as "The Fluent Speaker," "The Genius Orator," "Mr. Silver Tongue," etc.

Mrs. Eggert's paper was excellent, as also was Mrs. C. F. Clapp's, in the very plain language they used to bring the listeners the real facts in the missionary work, while we cannot help mentioning the eloquence of Rev. M. D. Dunning in his off hand speech.

Rev. H. L. Bates needs a word in favor of the way he brought out all the good points of the Tualatin academy and Eugene University, which, by the way, is a good thing to impress on the minds of parents from time to time, less they grow a little negligent in regard to the education of their young people.

The visiting ministers and delegates were very hospitably entertained by the people in the neighborhood, and they all enjoyed in a hearty resolve of thanks to them, and great was the praise of the beauty of scenery and fine farming country. Old Mt. Hood, from which the name is derived, loomed up in all her magnificence a sight to the guests.

On Thursday morning all bade adieu to Hood View with good wishes for its future prosperity.

Miss Mary Murray is home for the summer.

Miss Winifred Marsh, of Forest Grove, was a guest at Hood View this week.

Mrs. L. R. Clark, of Salem, and her sister, N. C. Goodrich, of Illinois, were guests of Mrs. Brobst and Mrs. Fred Stahlbicker for the past two weeks.

Rev. and Mrs. Jerome Barber and Mrs. Carrie Hurlbert have gone to Eastern Oregon as delegates to the conference meeting held there.

George H. Himes, of Portland, was in our midst for a few days this week.

The unveiling of a monument at Champeog on May 2nd, in honor of the 88th anniversary of the birth of civil government west of the Rocky mountains, will be a great event to our state, and all who can should attend. All pioneers, old soldiers, Native Sons and Daughters are cordially invited to attend.

The fifth annual meeting of the West Willamette Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches was held here April 16th and 17th, and was largely attended. Among the guests were: Rev. H. L. Bate, Rev. R. A. Rawley, Rev. Daniel Staver, Rev. A. W. Ackerman, Rev. D. B. Gray, Rev. E. P. Hughes, Rev. M. D. Dunning, Rev. B. S. Winchester, Rev. C. F. Clapp and wife, Mrs. F. Eggert, Mrs. E. M. Thorne, Miss Winifred Marsh, E. X. Harding and wife, Ben Schroeder and Jessie George.

Gus Yeage is building a new shed on his farm.

C. T. Toole, E. G. Jones, Ed and Al-fice Baker, F. F. Seely and Herman Krause are improving their farms with new board fences.

The dance at Wilsonville Saturday evening was largely attended.

S. Calkins of Pleasant Hill, who has been quite ill for some time, is reported to be no better. Mrs. Calkins is also on the sick list.

A great deal of work has been done in our cemetery.

AIR AND EXERCISE.

Proper Care of Milk Cows During the Winter.

In order to secure the most milk possible during the winter months a great many dairymen keep their cows housed from early fall until late spring, giving them but little if any outdoor air and exercise, says G. Jeffrey in The American Agriculturist. Now these changed conditions are all right if the change gives the cows greater comfort and health. But in a good many stables the ventilation is decidedly bad and the animal is day after day laying in a stock of disease germs, for, whatever you may do to your stables and however well you may treat your cows as to feed and care, if ventilation has been imperfect or neglected it is sure to result in some form of disease. Circulation and ventilation are inseparable and indispensable to perfect health. No ventilation is good that does not carry the foul air out of the stable and supply fresh and wholesome air in its stead. The air of the stable should never be exhausted or vitiated. If the ventilators do not communicate with the outside air, they are of but little use, as the hay, grain and straw readily absorb the foul air, which is returned to the system again in the form of feed to continue its deadly work. The ventilators should go from the stable up through the roof, and a circulation should be brought about by taking air through the walls to produce a direct supply of fresh air. By arranging these ventilators at each corner of the building a perfect circulation may be effected. I know of no cases of tuberculosis where the stables have a good circulation of good wholesome air and have no knowledge of any animals that are kept in open sheds ever being afflicted with this disease. Warmth is not the greatest essential to comfort and health. Exercise in the sun with a bracing atmosphere is productive of real health and comfort. The dairy cow must have it and plenty of it or she will not do her best as a healthy milk producer.

This is a subject which must be considered vital to every milk producer, as no milk can be a healthful food that comes from a diseased cow. All animals are affected to a greater or less extent if they are not furnished with pure air and proper exercise. The strong and robust do not become so by idleness. Carry out nature's plans. Give plenty of sunlight and air, pure and bracing, with moderate exercise to bring the various functions into active play, and you will kill the disease you have been nursing.

Improving Herds. There are two ways of improving a dairy herd or a beef herd, says The American Cultivator. One is for the man who has but a few cows to purchase one pure bred heifer calf and breed it to the best pure bred bull of the same breed that he can get. The better it is the more profit he will get from paying a high service fee. Then from that raise all his calves, exchange the males for heifers of the same breed and stick by that breed and the rule of breeding only from and to the best obtainable. Do not breed more than once as a rule and avoid breeding of brother and sister.

The other way is for the man who has a larger herd—say of 20 to 30 cows or more—or several who together can have that number, to unite in buying as good a male as they can get, raising males for beef or veal, and observing the same rules in breeding. The first is the slower method, but should result in a good pure bred herd in time. The other makes a quicker increase and a herd likely to prove profitable in dairy or the fattening yard if followed up. It would be apt to yield a profit before the other method gave very great returns. The first might be more profitable in the end if one was always successful in his mating and could refuse tempting offers for his best animals until he had more than he wanted to retain. We would take our chances with the grade herd, but others might have more confidence in the pure breeds.
