Mr. Hatch and his late wife, and that extreme poor health caused the act.

The Retail Merchants Association of Oregon, is the title of a permanent organization effected in the county court room by local business men Tuesday night. The constitution submitted by a special committee previously appointed, was adopted. The object of the organization as announced is to advance the commercial interests of Oregon City, improve roads and market facilities, foster a social spirit among local business men and advance mutual interests. The meetings will be held at regular intervals monthly. The following officers were elected: President, Charles O. Albright; vice-president, Frank Busch; secretary, O. Schabel; treasurer, Frank T. Barlow. The board of directors will be elected at a meeting to be held next Tuesday night.

When the Cosmopolitan, in its April number, published an essay, at once clever and philosophic, on "The Ideal Wife," a demand was created for a paper on "The Ideal Husband" by the same author—Lavina Hart. The August Cosmopolitan contains an essay on this subject—on which few people agree—which is certain not only to prove widely interesting, but to cause lively discussion. In the same number Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger (Julien Gordon) tells the story of the life of the French wife with all its tragic commonplace narrowness. "The woman of small capacity puts up with, and perhaps, does much toward maintaining present conditions," says the author, "but there are women of brains who die at an early age of no disease known to doctors, but simply from utter weariness."

Mention was made in this paper last week that an Eastern Oregon horse man, was arrested at Damascus, and taken to The Dalles on a charge of horse stealing. The Dalles Times-Mountaineer makes the following explanation of the case: "Hasty action on the part of people who imagine they have been wronged often causes unnecessary inconvenience. A short time ago David A. McKelvey, of Antelope, took 31 head of horses to Damascus, Clackamas county, for sale. C. W. Haight imagined that among the lot was a colt belonging to him, and had a warrant issued for McKelvey's arrest and placed in Constable Jackson's hands for service. Mr. McKelvey was brought here Tuesday and given a hearing before Recorder Doherty Wednesday, but there was no evidence whatever that he stole the colt; in fact, there was no colt in his hand that resembled the one Mr. Haight had lost, and he was discharged. Mr. Jackson made a thorough examination of the horses Mr. McKelvey took away, and was satisfied that none of Mr. Haight's were in the band."

Malaria?

Now is the time to take something to ward off malaria and that tired feeling. Those of us who cannot go to the seaside or the mountains are sure to have an occasional symptom of malaria. Don't let these symptoms grow but ward them off by generous doses of Quina Tonic. We have been making this Tonic for the past 10 years and without advertising or special pushing, the sale has steadily grown until we are convinced there is no better remedy made for general debility, loss of appetite or any of the summer ills resulting from lack of change of air or to close application to business.

Everyone knows the advantages of Quinine in malarial conditions and nearly every one knows too how it often disturbs the stomach and otherwise causes unpleasant symptoms; this is all eliminated by using Quina Tonic. The extract of the 3 Cinchona Barks are held in solution in the finest imported wines, which makes an idea anti-malarial tonic. Get a bottle today. 50 cents and $1.00.
