

Removal

Adams Bros. desire to announce the removal of the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR to the new Woodmen of the World Building, where the entire first floor will be occupied.

The same methods under which this business has grown from a modest beginning will be continued in the new store, namely, fair and generous treatment of patrons, and the best goods always at the lowest prices.

This opportunity is taken of thanking the public for the courtesies and patronage extended the firm, which it is hoped will be continued in the new store.

Beware of the Subscription Agency Sharks

Every day we hear of a city being worked by some smooth subscription agent taking cut-rate subscription for well-known magazines. Don't give your money to strangers. Don't risk sending it away. At Huntley's Book Store they will meet every honest cut-rate price for subscriptions for any paper or magazine published. Take with you any printed offer you may have and Mr. Huntley will meet it and save you all risk and expense. The Courier-Herald turned in many subscriptions to Huntley's Book Store at a saving to itself and heartily recommends their methods.

Arrangements have been made whereby Mrs. Staff Captain McAbee, of the Salvation Army, will conduct a meeting in the Congregational church in the near future. The exact date will be announced in these columns next week. Mrs. McAbee is one of the most talented women in the Salvation Army, and is one of the few women who have been granted the rare privilege of occupying the pulpits of some of the largest Presbyterian churches of this country on Sabbath morning. Her theme will be "The Man in the Ditch, or Salvation Army Work in the Great Cities."

Adams' Bros., who, less than two years ago, embarked in the mercantile business in Oregon City have evidently taken as their motto the name by which their store is known, the "Golden Rule Bazaar," at any rate that is undoubtedly the way they have used the public or else their business would not have assumed such proportions that they have twice found it necessary to remove to larger quarters. They are now located in the new Woodmen of the World building, where they have one of the most commodious and well arranged stores in the city, and in which they expect to continue along the same lines as in the past—giving their customers the benefit of the advantages they derive by buying and selling for cash.

William Stevens, of Dawson, Alaska, who stopped at a prominent hotel in this city with his wife last week, says that he has $40,000 on the dump at his mine and will return presently, going in over the ice. That Mr. Stevens' claim is good is partly evidenced by the jewelry his wife wears. He is well acquainted with people in this city and state and says that his father lives near Canby, in Clackamas county. He also claims to have been one of the guards at the penitentiary at the time of the outbreak, about 17 years ago, and stood between the minekeepers and Warden Collins, saving the latter's life and checking the mania. Mr. Stevens' $40,000 is not available at present, and he is obliged to see personal friends to tide him over, until such time as he can get action on the claim. In the meantime, Mr. Stevens dined sumptuously and invited prominent people to sup with him and his estimable wife until a few days ago, when he suddenly disappeared. Let echo answer the multitude of inquiries now being made.—Portland Sunday Mercury.

Mrs. Dr. C. S. Seamann has received a letter from her father, Prof. O. H. Byland, who is now principal of the school in Vale, Malheur county. He has great faith in the future possibilities of that place. The principal public buildings, such as the court house, banks, stores and hotel are all built of stone. The school building is an elegant structure, also built of stone. Mr. Byland has secured 120 acres of land in the oil belt, where they will soon begin sinking oil. There are seven or eight spouting wells or springs in the vicinity.

Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., field secretary of the foreign mission board of the Presbyterian church, gave a lecture on the work to a good audience Wednesday night in the First Presbyterian church. He is an interesting speaker, and give due credit for the work of other denominations. Dr. Marshall gave figures showing all the money expended by this board since its organization, year by year for the past 70 years. The expenditures last year were $1,047,870.22, and it cost 5 per cent to carry it to foreign fields. The number of Americans employed by the board as doctors, preachers, teachers, etc., is 1300, and the native helpers under pay of the board, is more than three times as many. The board has 74 hospitals under its control. These are situated in Central America, Mexico, Asia, Africa, Europe and the sea, and are maintained by the donations of the church.

The present local correspondence of the Oregonian beats the record for unreliable news. Recently an item appeared to the effect that the electric arc light, near Councilman Huntley's place had been ordered removed to Green Point. There was not a word of truth in the report. Another report was that Sheriff Cooke only had two sureties on his bond, a deputy and an attorney. The latter part of last week a lot of old news was sent in that had previously appeared in the local papers. Tuesday's Oregonian stated that every mayor chosen in Oregon City during the past 12 years, had been elected to succeed himself. The fact is, in 1893, T. W. Sullivan beat Judge Ryan by 11 votes, when the latter ran for a second term. Sullivan served only one term. Straight and Caufield were elected to succeed themselves by hard struggles.

Mrs. Mary Boeckmann, and Claus Peters were married at Frog Pond last Saturday.

John Bohlander, of Portland, formerly of Beaver Creek, will be married to Miss Arena Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richter, of New Era, December 4th. Both are popular young people.

Decrees were granted in the following divorce suits during the week: Bertha E. vs H. S. Gibson, Emma vs John Thomas, Amelia vs Adam Otto, Eli Grace vs Columbus Hinton, J. E. vs Helen J. Ebbert.

The citizens city convention will be held at Willamette hall Saturday night. It is likely that Mayor Dimick will be renominated at this convention. The non-partisans will hold their convention Monday, and it is expected that J. E. Hedges will be nominated for mayor at this gathering. Fred J. Meyer and John Y. Humphreys are candidates for city treasurer. The terms of Councilmen Sheehan, Zamwalt and Story expire.
