The Fischer-VanOleve Company of players is playing a return engagement at City Hall this week. This is the strongest play the company has yet put on, and the heavy sale of seats in advance indicates that the hall will be crowded this evening.

Mr. Hendricks is universally recognized as the best exponent of Swedish character on the American stage, a fact that is amply proven by the attempts of every manager of Swedish plays to secure his services. He rightfully considers however that in "Ole Olson" this particular nationality is most truthfully drawn and presented, and that it gives the best opportunity of presenting the wholesome, honest and incorruptible Swedish type as he really exists. Several changes have been made in the dramatic story and these have tended to strengthen the play. A number of special features add to its enjoyable qualities too—notably the original Swedish Ladies Quartette.

The coming of Ben Hendricks and his "Ole Olson" company to the opera house, Friday night, December 20, will introduce old friends to local theatre goers and some one has said that old friends, like old wine and old books, are the best. At any rate Ole and Ben Hendricks have never failed to please and entertain their friends in the past and will not fail this time. The play has been brightened and burnished and has had a number of new specialties introduced at various points. Mr. Hendricks is easily the best of Swedish dialect actors and his impersonation of the good natured "Ole" is as clever in its way as any similar bit of stage work ever shown. An excellent company including the Swedish Ladies Quartette will add in making Ole's visit a thoroughly enjoyable one.

The perennial "Ole Olson" will again amuse and delight lovers of wholesome comedy and fun at the opera house Friday night, December 20. Mr. Ben Hendricks, the comedian whose name is so closely identified with the success of this play will be seen again in the title role, a part that he has made peculiarly his own. In fact Mr. Hendricks enjoys a unique distinction in stage work in that he is absolutely without a rival in his line. He has been a close student of Swedish character and possesses a quick discernment and a happy facility in acquiring and presenting the salient characteristics of the Swedish type. Added to this he is an accomplished actor, thoroughly schooled in the technique of the stage and earnest in his work. "Ole Olson" is offered on the honest basis of furnishing an evening of wholesome fun and laughter. It has enough of serious interest to carry attention but presents no "problem" of doubtful morals or questionable suggestion. It lays no claim to spectacular effect, but presents a simple story of honest purpose and integrity in a homely, heart-appealing manner that commands the respect of the great mass of right-minded people. In this way it deserves and receives appreciation. An excellent company is promised in support of Mr. Hendricks and as a special feature of the Swedish Ladies Quartette will appear, garbed in national costumes, in several vocal selections.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Several Interesting Functions During the Week.

THE CATHOLIC FAIR.

The fair held at the armory on last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings under the auspices of the women of St. John's Catholic church, was by far the most successful affair of the kind ever held in Oregon City. Many of the articles were valuable for permanent household use, and were sold at reasonable prices. The display of fancy needle work and other hand-made articles would have made a creditable display at a state fair or industrial exposition. The musical numbers by the Dominican Fathers and other programs were very entertaining. The decorations were artistically arranged, and the fair was a popular place to while away time socially, the music being of a high order. The receipts of the fair far exceeded expectations. It was intended to give the names of those having charge of special departments, but were informed that it would be impossible to do the matter justice by this method, as everyone took an active part in making the event a success, each one working wherever they could do the most good.

WOODMEN HALL DEDICATION.

The dedication of the new hall of Willamette Falls Camp, Woodmen of the World, Tuesday night was a great event. The hall was crowded to its full capacity, and the banquet menu was complete in every detail. Rev. E. S. Bollinger conducted the very impressive ceremonies. Professor T. J. Gary also gave an address. The Woodmen band played a number of appropriate selections, and were enthusiastically applauded. There were excellent recitations by Miss Florence Patty, Miss Seely and Little Neita Dixon. Miss Maud Warner and the Misses Jackson, Robert Warner gave an exhibition of fancy club swinging. The Woodmen have just cause to be proud of the finest hall in the city.

GOVERNOR GEER AT THE MENS' CLUB.

There were nearly a hundred people at the meeting of the Mens' Club held in the parlors of the Congregational church Monday evening, including the members and their wives and invited guests. The supper served by the Womens' Aid Society was up to the usual standard of excellence, and the musical program was entertaining. It consisted of an organ voluntary by Mrs. L. L. Porter, a quartet consisting of Rev. E. S. Bollinger, J. Woodward, H. D. Wilcox and Professor Merrill; also a solo by Miss Mary Conyers. Short addresses were made by President Robert A. Miller, Hon. Charles B. Moores and A. S. Dresher. The event of the evening, however, was the address of Governor Geer, delivered in his original unique style interspersed with dry humor. His topics bordered on the history of government, especially that of Oregon. After the oration, a social session followed, and Governor Geer and wife were presented to those present.

At the January meeting, Rabbi Wise will be orator of the evening. Invitations are in great demand for the monthly social meetings of the Mens' Club.

Miss Latta Owenby and Isaac Parsifal won the prizes at the hard times ball, last week.
