

BROWN & WELSH

BROWN & WELSH.

The meat market of Brown & Welsh is a model of neatness, and is well equipped with refrigerators and is always supplied with the choicest meats of all kinds, both fresh and cured. Their patrons can always depend upon getting the very best at all times, and the prices of this popular market are always reasonable. Both members of the firm are courteous and obliging and have had years of experience and thoroughly understand the butcher business. Before entering into a partnership with Mr. Welsh, Mr. Brown conducted a meat market in this city for about four years. Experience has taught the firm to purchase no poor stock, hence the best the county affords can always be found in this market.

A. ROBERTSON

A. ROBERTSON

Is proprietor of the largest exclusive grocery concern on the hill, his store being known as the Seventh-Street Grocery. The original firm, Marr & Robertson, began business in Oregon City in 1892, and in 1894 moved to the present quarters in the A. O. U. W. block, and two years later Mr. Robertson became sole owner. Business has constantly increased and more room has been added to his building. He has purchased the entire stock of two stores, the Staub grocery of this city, and the Dunbar grocery of Portland, which he added to his already complete stock. Mr. Robertson's wagon is kept busy from morning till night, delivering goods promptly and with care to his many customers, many of whom have been his patrons since the establishment of the business. Before coming to Oregon City he was connected with several of the largest grocery houses in Portland, and has had over 20 years' experience in the business, giving him an advantage in buying to supply the wants and whims of his customers.

ty and has introduced new features and otherwise improved the facilities for turning out first-class work. Misses Ethel and Edith Cheney are still connected with the new management. The business of the gallery consists of portraits in water-color, crayon and pastel. The best of carbon finish, always using the latest style of mounting. Everything in that line up to date. They are making stamp photos by the thousand. The only first-class photograph gallery in Oregon City.

Mrs. JULIA A. COLE

Mrs. Julia A. Cole, the subject of this sketch, was born in Rhode Island, August 2nd, 1837. Mrs. Cole has been twice married, but has remained a widow 19 years since HEINZ & CO.

The grocery and bakery firm of Heinz & Co., composed of G. A. Heinz and Miss E. C. Adair, began business in this city in 1897.

The original business was established over 20 years ago, and is the pioneer bakery of this city. The proprietors of this successful grocery and bakery keep their stock in good shape, offer their patrons a polite and accommodating service and high-grade goods. This store is situated on Main street, opposite the postoffice, and is well stocked with staple and fancy groceries, teas, coffees, spices, canned and bottled goods, which are always sold at lowest prices. They also handle flour and provisions and make the best bread and pastry in the city. This is a progressive firm and deserves and receives a good share of the patronage of the city and country.

CHENEY'S ART GALLERY.

One of the finest photographic studios on the Pacific Coast, was founded by E. S. Cheney, a skillful artist, in 1894, having since developed in art and science to a first-class institution, turning out the best in every particular. The purpose of the founder has been to do nothing but good, acceptable work, meanwhile using nothing but first-class material, believing that, by so doing, the patrons of the gallery would not only appreciate endeavor, but be fully satisfied and persuaded to place their orders. The gallery has done a large amount of business, which is undiminished at this time. The present proprietor, James T. Rait, purchased the business during the past year and has moved the building across the street to his own proper-the death of her last husband. She has visited nearly every state in the Union, having spent two winters in Florida, five years in Dakota, three years in Texas and the last