If you don't read the Courier-Herald you don't get the news.

Well, children I promised last week to tell you if Santa Claus came down the improvised chimney in Columbia hall, Xmas Eve. Well, he did for I saw him myself, and he didn't find any of the Barlow children asleep either. They were the wisest awake lot of little chaps he ever saw, and he found not one, but two of the fullest, loaded down Xmas trees. (You ought to have been here and seen for yourself. Grandpa Barlow was there, and he was about the "biggest" boy of the lot, and he received many gifts off the tree too. Everyone received something. It best all the Christmas entertainments ever given. Miss Ora Bratton, who is only 12 years of age, played on the organ "America," and our school teacher, Miss Mollie Barlow, and the pupils joined in singing it splendidly. Arthur May rendered two selections on the violin. Arthur is one of the most polite little boys in our town, and I have never heard him say to any old man "Hello! Dad." Shepard & Co. had a drawing for the largest and nicest doll. Hazel Hilton drew the lucky number out of the box, and who do you think got it? Tommy Achey, a nice little, old bachelor. He stood upon the platform and took the big doll in his arms, and how he did blush. While all this was going on Santa Claus slipped away.

Happy New Year to all.

Hello! Jeppa Smith, did you see Santa Claus, and what did you get?

North Dakota is in darkness. Rockefeller Standard Oil is frozen hard. Great is the oil trust. Vote for the trust party some more.

We wish to make a correction. Last week we said that the net proceeds of the dance, $5, was turned over to the school house paint fund. It was the net proceeds of the oyster supper given by the ladies of Barlow in connection with the dance. I beg your pardon, ladies, I would like to mention the good work done by the committee on Xmas tree, but lack of space forbids.

Hair Falls

"I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor to stop my hair from falling. One-half a bottle cured me."
J. C. Baxter, Braidwood, Ill.

Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly the most economical preparation of its kind on the market. A little of it goes a long way. It doesn't take much of it to stop falling of the hair, make the hair grow, and restore color to gray hair.

Beaver Creek Christmas Celebration.

Members and Sunday school children of the Welsh Congregational church turned out en masse on Christmas Day to participate in celebrating the occasion by having a feast for the body as well as the mind. The meeting was called to order by J. R. Lewis and J. L. Jones, officers of the day. The meeting was opened by singing, "I Love to Tell the Story of Jesus and his Love," by the congregation, and a prayer by William H. Rees, in absence of our beloved minister, Rev. J. Morlais Richards, B. D., who was unable to attend on account of sickness, to our great disappointment. The meeting proceeded with the following program:

Welcome speech, Earnest Jones. Recitation, Laura Parry, Winfield Parry and Celene Jones.

Solo, Lizzie Lewis. Recitation, Mary Parry, Willie Edwards and Sarah Parry.

Solo, John Thremsaine. Recitation, Richard Davis, Blodwen Thomas and Blodwen Parry.

Solo, Edward Owens. Recitation, Joseph Jones, Lizzie Lewis and Humphrey Parry.

Song, congregation. Recitation, J R Lewis, Thomas M Thomas and John Loyd Jones.

Speech, J M Jones. The meeting closed by singing the national song of Wales, "The Land of My Fathers," by William H. Jones, the congregation joining in to their hearty content. Then came the Christmas tree, which was beautifully decorated by the Misses Kate, Sarah and Celene Jones and Maggie Lewis, and were assisted by Hugh Jones, Abel Thomas and Richard Davis. After the tree was unloaded of its many presents and beauty the children came in for their share of candies, nuts and oranges, then all departed to their respective homes well pleased with the day's doings.

The ladies of the church collected a purse as a small token of respect for the minister, who is highly esteemed by one and all, deeply regretting his absence and trusting he will be able to be with us soon. The Sunday school children deserve a special mention as they have been very faithful the last year tasking their little memories with verses, psalms, etc, which they recite regularly and promptly to our minister.

Mrs Humphrey Jones has returned from an extended visit from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Dakota. She is looking splendidly, and her family is delighted over her return.

THE CAREFUL CAPON.

Will Mother Young Chickens, Brood Them, Scratch For and Feed Them. Besides furnishing an abundance of excellent food capons are very useful in taking care of broods of young chickens. They take them without any trouble and care for them just as well, and we think better, than a hen. We have now three capons with broods of 20 chickens each.

They are always glad to take the chicks. They will scratch for them and feed them in the daytime and cover them at night and take as good care of them as a hen and will carry them as long as the chickens will stay with them.

As soon as the chickens are large enough they can be taken away and another brood given to the capon. Capons never molt as do other fowls, and their plumage becomes very long. Owing to their large size and long plumage they can carry a much larger brood than a hen. They are especially valuable for taking care of chickens hatched by artificial means. The great trouble connected with artificial incubation has been in raising the chickens after they are hatched. It is not only a great deal less trouble to have capons carry the chick, but a much larger per cent can be raised.

We avoid the crowding that we have in brooders, and the heat, being natural, is of course just what we need. If you do not use an incubator they are very serviceable in taking the first chicks hatched in the spring. You can give the chicks to a capon and either reset the hen or put her to laying again.

When meat alone is desired, the large breeds, as Brahma, Cochon, Langshan, etc., are best, but for carrying chicks we would advise the use of the smaller and more industrious breeds, as Leghorn, Game, etc. The Plymouth Rock, Dorking and Wyandotte fill the middle ground and are useful for either purpose.—O. M. Watson, South Carolina.

Hydrocyanic Acid Gas Fumigation.

"Stored grains and other seeds may be fumigated with hydrocyanic acid gas of required strength and for sufficient time to insure the destruction of insect pests without injury to the germinating quality of the seeds and without rendering them injurious as foods." This is the opinion of Professor Townsend of Maryland, who has thoroughly investigated the matter.

News and Notes.

Big crops of wheat, oats and barley are reported for the Canadian northwest.

"All signs," says the British consul general, "point to a tremendous development of the sugar industry in Cuba." The almost total failure of the Siberian grain crop is reported.

Plowing for macaroni wheat should be done very early, the preceding summer in case of spring sowing.

In a Baltimore public park they have in the playground section a "kindergarten farm" for giving children some ideas about farming and gardening.

Farming on a large scale as an investment for capital, a strictly business enterprise which offers better profits at less risk than most industries, is a topic of the present.

A commercial wool show will be held at the Pan-American exposition in October.

Limited Numerical System.

The natives of Murray Island, Torres Strait, have a numerical system which is based on two numbers, netat, one, and neis, two. Above two they compute by composition—neis-netat means three, neis 1 neis (two and two), four. When they get above this figure, they have recourse to different parts of the body, beginning with the little and other fingers of the left hand and going from there to the wrist, elbow, armpit, shoulder, etc., on the left side, and thence down the right side to twenty-one, the toes giving ten numbers more, to thirty-one. Beyond this they are satisfied with "many."

All His Fortune.

One day before his marriage the Rev. Sydney Smith ran into the room where his fiancée was, flung into her lap six small teaspoons which "from much wear had become the ghosts of their former selves" and said, "There, Kate, you lucky girl, I give you all my fortune." He gave her, however, what he did not mention, his fine character and great talent and in every way proved himself an excellent husband.
