

Epilepsy

weakens the body and degrades the mind. It saps the nervous strength that is the source of all health, and perverts the functions of every organ. Because of its stubborn nature, it is often called incurable. This is not true. There is one medicine that never fails to check the nervous spasms and give new strength to the entire system.

"My little girl had epilepsy so bad that in one day she suffered seventy-one fits. The doctors gave her up to die, but I began giving her Dr. Miles' Nervine and now she is perfectly well. It took five bottles to effect a cure."

Kind Words.

The following notice from the pen of a former resident of this section appeared in his paper, the Williamstown, (Ky.) Courier:

We beg to acknowledge the receipt of the New Year number of the Oregon City Courier-Herald, published in that beautiful city of that name at the falls of the Willamette river, in the state of Oregon. It is a beautiful souvenir edition, rich in illustration and description of the wealth and resources of Clackamas county, and comes to us from our old school boy, Grant B. Dimick, now mayor of the city. It seems, when looking backward, but a few short years since the editor of the Courier taught school in this lovely valley of the Willamette river, a few miles south of Oregon City, and Grant B. Dimick and his three brothers were among the crowd of children who were under our tutelage. It has in fact been seventeen years ago this very winter since we taught this school in the village of Hubbard almost under the shadow of Mt. Hood; long enough, indeed, for the scene to change in the life of any man. It is very gratifying to know that one who only for a brief time was under your control as teacher has been as successful in life as young Dimick and has worthily succeeded in all his undertakings. We have kept track of him for years, as a young lawyer assistant district attorney, and now twice elected mayor of his city of 10,000 people with much in store for the future. There is no richer spot of earth in all this land of ours than the Willamette valley and Oregon City is the jewel in her crown.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup. I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Mich. For sale by G. A. Harding Kidney complaint kills more people than any other disease. This is due to the disease being so insidious that it gets a good hold on the system before it is recognized. Foley's Kidney Cure will prevent the development of fatal disease if taken in time. Charman & Co.

STOPS PAIN

Athens, Tenn., Jan. 27, 1901. Ever since the first appearance of my menses they were very irregular and I suffered with great pain in my hips, back, stomach and legs, with terrible bearing down pains in the abdomen. During the past month I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, and I passed the monthly period without pain for the first time in years.

FARM GARDEN

BEAN DISEASES.

Fungous Troubles and Remedies. Points of Bean Growing. Even the humble garden beans are not exempt from fungous enemies which have so asserted themselves as to become troublesome to the growers of this useful vegetable. Since 1894 the New Jersey station has been studying diseases of truck crops, and beans have received a full share of attention. In bulletin 151 seven fungous diseases of beans are considered, namely:

1. The anthracnose or pod spot. 2. The bean bacteriosis. 3. The lima bean mildew. 4. The lima bean pod blight. 5. The bean rust. 6. The bean leaf spot. 7. The bean leaf blotch.

All of these were met with in the field studies of the diseases, but the first three, being the most common and serious enemies, have been the subjects for special treatment.

The bean seed is often infested with the anthracnose and becomes thereby a prominent, if not the chief, means of tiding over the inactive or winter season. The same is doubtless true with bacteriosis.

It has been shown that soaking the seed in fungicides, while destructive to the fungus, is not always without ill effect upon the seed itself. Experiments differ upon this point, and further investigations are here needed.

There is only one opinion as to the desirability of discarding all diseased seed before planting and using only that which is nature and healthy. This is strongly urged.

It has been demonstrated through seven consecutive years of beans upon the same land, two crops each season, that the anthracnose is checked by fungicides. The bordeaux mixture has proved of substantial value as a remedy for bean mildew.

While the experimental sprayings have been at intervals of ten days, it is not recommended that they be more than three in number for the ordinary wax sorts. For pole varieties or any that require the whole season sprayings once in three weeks would perhaps be most profitable, and yet the distribution of the drenching rains should determine the times of the applications.

It was shown that old spotted pods when used as much greatly increased the disease upon the area thus covered. All such refuse, whether of pods or stems and leaves, should be burned.

A rotation of crops is desirable from the standpoint of freedom from disease, but it has been demonstrated that with frequent spraying beans may be grown with profit indefinitely upon the same land.

The leading points in bean growing are: First, to have strong, healthy seed of the least susceptible growing; second, planted not too close or deep; third, in rich, well drained soil, and fourth, spray with bordeaux or its equal, soda bordeaux, at three week intervals. To this is added the not less important point of burning all the refuse of the field as soon as possible after the crop is harvested. These experiments indicated that no distance is superior to six inches in the row for bush beans of the golden wax sorts when the rows are 20 inches apart, but it should be stated that less space is required in the second than in the first planting of any season.

The Bullet

Of the assassin may be more sudden, but it is not more sure than the dire punishment meted out to the man who abuses his stomach. No man is stronger than his stomach. When the stomach is diseased the whole body is weakened.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of other organs when it cures the disease of the stomach, on which the several organs depend for nutrition and vitality.

"I would say in regard to your medicines that I have been greatly benefited by them," writes Mr. J. S. Bell, of Leando, Van Buren Co., Ia. "I was at one time as I thought almost at death's door. I had taken gallons of medicine, but it only led to my bed. I had taken Golden Medical Discovery, but I must say that Golden Medical Discovery has cured me, and today I am stouter than I have been for twenty years. I am now forty-three years old. Have taken in all twenty-nine bottles of Golden Medical Discovery, besides two or three dozen vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, but now I take no medicine."
