Miss Jennie Rowan, of Tacoma, was here this week to attend the golden wedding anniversary of her parents. She returned to Tacoma yesterday. H. Thiesen was up from his Milwaukie precinct farm Friday, and attended the meeting of Willamette Falls Camp, Woodmen of the World, in the evening. D. E. Hornshuh and Ap Jones, of Carna, were in town Wednesday. Mr. Hornshuh sold 18 sacks of potatoes to Fairclough Brothers, which brought him in $24 50. J. C. Taylor, the well known Kentucky pioneer, is slowly recovering from his recent illness. He is 88 years old, and for a time it was feared that he would not recover. Miss Fannie G. Porter, of Oregon City, one of the best teachers in the Portland schools, has been promoted from the North Central to a position in the Failing school. Edward Everett Brodie went to Albany Tuesday, to look after his recently acquired half interest in a job printing office. Claude B. Simpson is filing his place on the Enterprise. James Jones, who is with his brother, ex-City Treasurer Linn Jones in New Whatcom, was in the city visiting friends during the week. The former is at present stopping in Portland. Eli Maddock went to Canby yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Miss Sarah Beals, near Union Hall. The deceased was the daughter of Dorum Beals, who formerly lived in Oregon City. H. W. Gard, of Clarks, was in Oregon City Friday. He intends to leave for his ranch on "agency plains" in Eastern Oregon next summer. His father expects to leave for that section in the spring. Miss Myrtle Williams returned last evening from Oregon City where she has been at the bedside of her sister, Miss Esther, who has been quite ill, but at present is recovering.—Tuesday's Daily Salem Statesman. Harvey Gibson, of Eagle Creek, was in the city yesterday with several head of beef cattle, and reported that there was considerable excitement over a motor line or railroad to that section, as the surveyors were advancing in that direction. Stephen Hutchinson, of Highland, was in the city Friday, and stated that Frank Reece had leased his farm to Dr. W. F. Pruden, of Springwater. He also stated that Fred Heft and C. Moehnk jr, were building a shingle mill on the Abernethy at the site of Fred Moehnk's old sawmill. O. W. Robbins, a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College in the class of 1886, has been in Corvallis for the past few days, after an absence of more than five years. Mr. Robbins is now a builder and contractor at Molalla, but has visit here with a view of making this city his home.—Corvallis Gazette. E. L. Sturges, of Molalla, was in the city Wednesday on his way to Portland, where he will probably purchase machinery for a new sawmill. The Sturges sawmill burned down last summer, and it is now the intention to replace it with a new structure and better improved machinery.

T. P. Noyer, a former well known resident of Clackamas county, writes from Pataha City, Wash., to change the address of his Courier-Herald to Vicia, Idaho. Mr. Noyer was a resident of the Molalla country for a number of years, and was a member of the Oregon legislature when Pennoyer was first inaugurated governor.

Jon. Charles B. Moores, register of the Oregon City land office, spent Sunday in Corvallis. He came Saturday to visit his son, Merrill, who is a student in the college. Mr. Moores was several times chief clerk of the Oregon senate, and was speaker of the house of representatives at the legislative session of 1895.—Corvallis Times.

Mike Bohlman, M. Huerth and Max Bauman, of New Era precinct, were visitors in Oregon City Friday. Mr. Bohlman is hewing the timbers by hand for a new barn for L. Deeth. Mr. Bohlman has hewed the timbers for all the barns he has built in the vicinity of New Era by hand. Long hewed timbers are much stronger, and less liable to split than a long sawed timber, as the latter are often cut out of not straight trees and have faulty cross-grain portions.

B. F. and J. G. Forrester, of Eagle Creek, are confident that an electric line will be built through that section at an early date, and as a result, real estate transfers are lively. J. Schramm, of Oregon City, has sold his 100-acre tract in that section to A. D. Burnett for $1000, and Isaac Golden has sold his place to Halley Gibson. What encourages people in the belief that a motor line will be built into that section, is the fact that surveyors are in the field in the vicinity of Sycamore and Damascus.

Willard White, who taking a course of illustrating in a prominent art technical school in San Francisco, writes home that he is well pleased with the work. The class contains about 30, male and female, and they take turns posing. The pupils receive $1 per hour for posing, and Mr. White had just returned through his first experience as a model, and pronounces it exceeding hard work to pose for an hour. Mr. White has considerable talent with the pencil, and will no doubt distinguish himself in the art line.

From The St. Helens Mist.

The latest issue of the St. Helens Mist, of Columbia county, has the following items about Clackamas county people, and others well known here:

Dell Fowler and family, of Carrico valley, expect to go to Clackamas county in a few days, where they will make their home for a couple of years, at least, and perhaps permanently. Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. J. H. Collins, assisted by Miss Lulu George, entertained a number of her pupils, there being five tables of progressive authors played, and the children spent a most pleasant afternoon.

E. Ridgeway, who recently sold his farm, near Vernonia, left this week for Vernonia, Clackamas county, where he and Mrs. Ridgeway expect to make their future home. They visited for several days at this place with their daughter, Mrs. L. W. VanDyke.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought

The Rev. W. E. Hicks' Almanac. This splendid book of 200 pages is not only a work of art of the highest order, but it is the most complete and valuable book on astronomy and meteorology for 1902 to be found in the world. No wonder the first edition of one hundred thousand was about exhausted by the end of January. The bible, excepted, no other book can be found in so many American homes. The millions have proven its value and will not be without it. The publishers will supply this book for a month or two for the regular price, with the increased postage added. Send 30 cents to Word and Works Publishing Company, 2501 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo., and this splendid book will be mailed to you prepaid. Do not pass the year without it in your office or home.

A Wretched Millionaire.

The story is told by the owner of several railroads who was unable to buy relief from the nerve-twisting agony of neuralgia. It is an unlikely tale. The sick man must have known that Perry Davis' Painkiller would help him at once, as it has helped so many thousands of sufferers in the past 80 years. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

The New Era flouring mill has begun operation, and is now ready to grind the farmers' wheat. Flour and feed exchanged for wheat. Satisfaction guaranteed. New Era millers.

Mildred, the five-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sladen, suffered the amputation of one foot Wednesday on account of injuries received by being run over by an electric car on the previous afternoon. Mr. Sladen had started for Gladstone, accompanied by his little son, and intended to board the car at the corner of Main and Sixth streets. In some way the little girl ran in front of the car, and before it could be stopped one wheel ran over the foot of the unfortunate girl. Drs. Carl and Seaman amputated the injured foot.

Albert, the 16-year old son of D. M. Klemson, sustained a severe scalp wound and other bruises on account of a runaway team Tuesday morning. He is driver of the Electric grocery delivery wagon and was loading on flour at the flouring mills, when the horses took fright and ran away. He caught hold of the bridle of one of the horses, and was making an effort to stop them on foot. When the curb in front of the Phoenix was reached, the boy's feet slipped, and he was thrown under the horse. A couple of stitches were taken in the scalp wound, and the boy will soon recover.

County Clerk Cooper completed the extension of the tax-roll Wednesday night, which is several weeks earlier than usual. There were six books to write instead of three as formerly, thus entailing extra work. Mr. Cooper has kept four persons at work on the roll day and night in order to complete it early, so that taxpayers would have abundant opportunity to pay their taxes in time to secure the 3 per cent discount. The total tax to be collected by the sheriff this year amounts to $168,162 36, over $20,000 more than the previous year. It is subdivided as follows: Polls, $1,132; county, $53,714 25; special school, $17,363 78; state, $31,333 31; road, $35,809 48; school, $22,380 93; Oregon City, $4,428 61. The large number of school districts making levies adds materially to the total tax to be collected.

The reader may make up his mind to be pleasantly overwhelmed by the opulence and vivacity of "Around the Pan," published by the Nutshell Publishing Company, 1059 Third Avenue, New York. The wonders begin with the frontispiece picture of President McKinley, drawn in a single line beginning at a point on the cheek bone and going round and round in a constantly widening circle, with waverings and down-bearings of the pen in the proper places to secure detachment and shading. We are told that this portrait "is considered the most unique work of its kind in the world," and if there are degrees of uniqueness we are willing to believe that this is most the thing of which there are no duplicates. Of course there is text in addition to the picture, and we should be surprised indeed to hear from any purchaser the opinion that had not got his money's worth ($2).

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. H. Fletcher

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Company the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland, one traverses the whole length of the Willamette valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The beautiful valleys of the Umpqua and Rogue Rivers, with their orchards of peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful turnings, twistings and doublings of the railroad bring into view a grand array of towering mountains and profound gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a day's enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canyon of the Sacramento valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco. R. B. Miller, G. P. A., S. P. Co., Portland, Or.

You will make no mistake in buying a United States cream separator of the T. S. Townsend Creamery Company at 44-Second Street, Portland. They give easy terms, and will take cream in exchange.

A Night Alarm.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life!" Refuse substitutes. Charman & Co.
