The building committee of Lone Star Odd-Fellows lodge of Clackamas Station, has let the contract of building their new hall to E. C. Chapman and Mr. Roadarmel for $800. This does not include the inside finish in the lower room, and the lodge reserves a little of the work on the upper floor. The building will be 50x30 feet and a kitchen addition at the rear. The upper floor will be used as a lodge room, and the lower part as a public hall. Mr. Chapman was in Portland Friday with a view of purchasing lumber for the new structure. The new hall will be a credit to the town of Clackamas, and was let to the lowest competitive bidders.
The Oregon City Manufacturing Company is getting everything in readiness to embark in the manufacture of ready-made underclothing. A large room on the second floor heretofore used for filling purposes, will be devoted to the new feature of home production. Secretary Max Bollaek states the Company will at first begin making underclothing on a small scale, employing probably a dozen hands in this department. If the demand for the goods justify mere sewing machines will be installed, and the number of operators increased to keep pace with the demand. This is a new and important enterprise for Oregon City, but the Company formerly made up a portion of its goods at the branch houses then conducted in Portland and San Francisco.

H. L. Kelly and wife, of Oregon City, were in town this week visiting their niece, Mrs. Rhoadrer and their son and daughter, who are attending the University of Oregon. Mr. Kelly made this office a very pleasant call. In speaking of the advantage of quick transportation from one town to another, he spoke of an incident of '63, when he was a young man. He and his wife took passage on the boat Enterprise which ran between Eugene and northern points. George Pope was captain and everything went well for three or four miles when a grating sound was heard and the boat came to a standstill. The propeller was broken and the vessel had to be towed back to Eugene and mended. By the time everything was ship shape, the water had fallen and they had to wait until the river rose. They reached Salem eight days late, the trip usually being made in four days. In 1902 it takes less than four hours.—Eugene State Journal.
