Assessor Eli Williams states that he will have no field deputies this year, except one for Oregon City. Hugh Mimms has purchased the residence property of W. H. Godfrey on the hill, and the latter will erect two dwellings on adjoining lots. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harley L. Hall at Buena Vista a few days ago. Until recently, the Halls were residents of Oregon City. G. E. Hargreaves states that the McMinnville Oregon Fire & Relief Association are taking up the policies and paying the risks of the defunct Portland Mutual. It is reported that I. L. Clark has sold his farm near Clarks, to a new arrival from Wisconsin. There is a 12-acre hop yard and a 30-acre prune orchard on the place. A jar of tussels in the show window of the Oregon permanent exhibit on Washington street, Portland, has the following label: "Raised by G. B. Dimick, of Clackamas county." Postmaster O. Wissinger, of Milwaukie, has moved into his new store across the street from the former location. The upper story is occupied by Ash Camp, Woodmen of the World. Johnson & Lamb, the bicycle repairers and gunsmiths, have moved back to their former location in the Sladen building, and are occupying the room recently vacated by the Wisconsin Jewelers. Uncle Billy Wright, the horseradish man, was doing town last week. He was recently locked up in Oregon City for five days with smallpox in a light form. In speaking of it he said: "Oh, gosh! they have it everywhere; it's all up and down this country."—McMinnville Reporter. Gilbert L. Hedges was one of the judges at the intercollegiate contest held at Salem Friday night, and Erastus A. Smith represented McMinnville college as one of the contestants. The first place was awarded to William G. Hale, of Pacific university. Smith tied for fourth place with Wilkins, of Willamette university. Lawrence Mack, of Ely, is one of the contestants in a local contest at the college chapel in Corvallis. His topic is "What is the Cause." The contest is under directions of the state prohibition league, and the rules are the same that govern the usual college contest. The winner is to appear in a state contest to be held at Newberg April 11th, and the winner there goes East to represent the state in a national contest. According to the Woodburn Independent, steps were taken at a meeting held in this city Tuesday toward Woodburn entering the amateur baseball league, in which will also be represented Hillsboro, Oregon City, Vancouver and Portland. At this meeting the following officers of the Woodburn Baseball Club were elected: Manager, S. I. Guins; captain, E. W. Lavier; secretary and treasurer, W. M. Meehan. William J. Wilson is the new assistant chief engineer of the Oregon City fire department. At the firemen's election held on the first Monday in March Wilson and L. Ruconich, the two contesting candidates, each received 46 votes. As there was a vacancy in the office of assistant chief engineer by reason of that officer having been elected to the office of chief, nine members of the board of fire commissioners met Monday night and proceeded to elect Wilson receiving five out of the nine votes. Farmers living along Johnson creek in the vicinity of Mount Scott are anxious that the obstruction at Milwaukie, in the form of a dam, be removed so that fish may go up the stream as in early days. Years ago Johnson creek was an excellent fishing stream, but owing to obstructions placed near its mouth, it became emptied of fish. Only occasionally can fish be caught in the deep pools. It is thought by clearing away the obstructions, wherever they may be, it may be restored as a fishing stream. Milk Creek is only entitled to two delegates at the republican county convention, which convenes in Oregon City next Wednesday, but there is just as big a contest, as if there were a dozen. There are at least three factional tickets in the field according to the statement of a resident from that section. C. T. Howard and J. F. Nelson represent one element in the contest, and John Denison and R. H. Snodgrass another. Robert Schuebel, also is industriously pushing his candidacy to be a delegate to the republican county convention.
