ditional representatives from Clackamas county, not mentioned in another part of this paper. Clackamas county, also, is well represented on the committees. B. G. Leely was re-elected president, and Mary S. Howard was re-elected secretary, and Oscar Eaton re-elected chaplain.

Oregon City is to have large sawmill of 25,000 or 30,000 feet capacity. The promoters have been keeping their counsel to themselves, but Frank J. Miller, of the Albany Iron Works, informed a Courier Herald reporter, last Friday night, that he had closed a contract to furnish the machinery for the new mill. The promoters of the new enterprise are Carl A. Patzlaff, a prominent mill man, recently from Prairie du Chien, Wis., and C. Moehne, of the West Side sawmill, above the falls. The new mill will take the place of the old one, and an edger attachment will be added. Mr. Miller said that Mr. Patzlaff was paying cash as he went along, and had purchased two good teams recently. His attention was first attracted to this section by the New Year edition of the Courier-Herald.

Now that the snow is melting in the Cascade mountains, Clackamas county mines are beginning to receive attention. United States Deputy Mineral Surveyor Alonzo Gesner, of Salem, has completed the survey of the quartz claims, now being developed in the Sheney creek district on the upper Sandy. Henry Russell, O. S. Boyles and Mr. Damb, of Molalla, have gone to the Ogle creek mines to begin operations on their placer claims. Neil Jackson, of Molalla, accompanied by J. Kinser, has gone to Henry creek to build an arastra for the purpose of making a working test of his quartz mine. They also will engage in placer mining. There promises to be some important developments in the mines of Clackamas county during the coming season. "Did Columbus Discover America?" is the pertinent title of an article in the June Everybody's. It is based on the investigations of Henry Vignaud, secretary of the U. S. Legation in Paris, who in a recent work devoted to the subject declares Columbus to have been an impostor and a forger. Vignaud's researches extend over a long period of years and certainly disclose evidence tending to unsettle Columbus' claim as a great navigator and discoverer.

Close Buying

I recently saw an eastern druggist's ad. which explains the point regarding large buying and cash payment so much better than I ever have been able to do that I give the ad here exactly as it appeared: "A certain patent medicine which is quoted at $8.75 per dozen can be bought in 3 dozen lots at wholesale for $7.50 per dozen. One gross (12 dozen) costs at wholesale $6.75 per dozen. Then if spot cash is paid an additional 5 per cent. discount is allowed which brings the cost down in gross lots to $6.41 per dozen. Small stores which buy in one-fourth and one-half dozen lots pay at wholesale $8.75. We pay in gross lots $6.41. Hence you see that we can sell at a profit for the price that the ordinary druggist has to pay his wholesaler for the goods." This covers the situation so thoroughly that comment is unnecessary. However, I promise you if you come to me for all you drug store goods that at the end of the year you will find you have saved many dollars by trading at the store where things are bought by the gross instead of by the dozen.
