Out here we have come to the conclusion that the great ruler of the universe and the great ruler of Chickamao county are working in harmony. B F Boyles, our road supervisor, is very busy working the road-when he isn't running from the smallpox.

Our school teacher, Ray Marquis, concluded he had been exposed to the smallpox. So he closed his school and started for Southern Oregon, but before getting under way he became alarmed about his future welfare. He called on Elder Moore, who led him to a small pond near G W Wigham's house, and there, in the presence of Elder Moore and Ray Marquis, he straightway baptized him and sent him on his way rejoicing.

Scott Carter and Henry Daugherty, while engaged in making some boat a few days ago, near Rock Creek, heard a great splashing noise in the creek near by. On looking in that direction they saw some kind of an animal coming in their direction. The became alarmed and ran to the house. They knew it was some kind of water animal. Scott thought it looked like a hippo or seal, while Henry thought it was a two-headed rhinoceros. They got all their dogs, some ropes, pitchforks and a sack and went back and succeeded in capturing the animal, which proved to be about the size of a man's arm 12 or 14 inches long and about the complexion of a water dog. Someone, please name it.

James Atkins, president of the Cascade Mining Company, passed through our burg a few days ago on his way home from his mines. He reports favorable prospects. O S Boyles and Fred Rosenkrantz have gone to the Ogle Creek mines to bring out some ore. A Hardy and son are clearing up some new land. SCOTT.

RIPANS. For years I had been a sufferer with chronic stomach troubles, pressure of gas and distress of my bowels. I contracted what the doctors pronounced a low type of malaria.
