RELIABILITY

The most important work in a drug store is the compounding of physicians' prescriptions.

Any ordinary druggist, or assistant, can throw the ingredients into a bottle, give it a shake and hand it out; no doubt a great deal of this work is being done, and you often hear your physician say, "This medicine don't have the desired effect."

This careless mixing often robs the physician of his power to relieve the suffering.

Every cook knows the ingredients of a good cake, and can mix the different articles—but how few can always make a good cake. This is more applicable to the druggist than cook.

When your prescription is filed by Howell & Jones it is just as good as pure fresh drugs and experienced men can make it.

Remember, we have the New Store opposite I. Selling's.
