Even a Stoic Groans under the torment of neuralgia, when every nerve in face or limb throbs and jumps. Philosophy cannot endure this agony, but Perry Davis' Painkiller relieves it. Bathe the affected parts freely, and do not expose yourself to cold and dampness. Medical science marches right along, but it has not found the equal of Painkiller in the treatment of neuralgia.

With this issue it becomes my duty to say adieu to the many friends and patrons of the Rustler, having disposed of all of my interests in both plant and business to Chas. A. Fitch and W. J. Moore, who now become sole proprietors and publishers.—Lake County Rustler.

Messrs. L. Stipp, T. Osmund, Elgin Soules and Harry Draper made a trip up the Clackamas a few days ago and returned laden with more fish than they could carry. None of the fish which these gentlemen caught measured less than three feet in length, and the catch was so heavy that they could not estimate the number.

At 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning a most marvelous thing took place at the railroad depot. A string of several box cars were standing on the side track, extending 100 feet southward from the freight platform. The last car snored—snored like a tramp asleep with his mouth open, but not loud enough for the ears of Col. Fields in the office.

The Spiritualist camp meeting which has been running at New Era for two weeks closed a successful season last Sunday. Many people find in this organization considerable entertainment every year, and it is always an enjoyable place to spend a day when the oppressive heat of summer overtakes us. It is estimated that fully 75 men and women were on the grounds last Sunday from Oregon City.

Through the efforts of Tom Cowing there is soon to be erected a town clock in the city, near the post office. This is certainly an advance movement in the right direction, and is in keeping with the enterprising spirit of the town. Another much needed addition to the city is a public watering fountain, where man and beast can quench their thirst. It is earnestly hoped that this important addition will be at once established.

Captain Longley, of Clackamas, on Friday lost his fine Black Hawk mare by a very unfortunate accident. He had just watered the animal and had left her alone for a moment, when she became frightened at something and attempted to jump a high picket fence. The fence was too high for her to clear and the sharp pickets pierced her abdomen, resulting in a death too terrible to admit of any description. The horse was valued at $150, and is a serious loss to Captain Longley, and what is more Mr. and Mrs. Longley had become so attached to the beautiful black mare that to lose her is quite like the losing a member of the family.

J. E. Hedges, administrator of the estate of John Myers, deceased, petitioned the county court at Portland for leave to pay 7.56 per cent, on claims amounting to $3250 owed by the Commercial & Savings Bank. Myers was one of the principals interested in the bank, and was responsible for its indebtedness. The bank failed, but was in fairly good condition, paying 92.44 per cent. to its creditors. The administrator of John Myers' estate desires to pay the balance due, 7.56 per cent., and this makes those who hold claims against the bank whole.

A large number of Maccabees attended the Maccabee picnic at Macksburg last Saturday. The day was an ideal one and every event on the long and interesting programme was of a highly interesting order. Part of the day's proceedings consisted of speaking, singing and instrumental music. Fred Meindl delivered the principal address, which received a respectful and appreciative hearing from the large audience. In the afternoon a ball game was played between the Macksburg teams, followed by horse racing and foot racing. After the sports were over, Mr. Harvey Jackson, of Oregon City, took a number of ladies and gentlemen several times around the quarter mile track in his automobile. The Maccabees may hold another picnic in the near future, and if they do decide so to do, they are assured a large attendance, as their gatherings are always of interest to the public.

Saturday, August 23, there will be a special effort made by the people of Bethel, Redland, Viola, Springwater and Highland to hold a grand Sunday school picnic at Clear creek bridge, 1 1/2 miles from Viola. From present indications there will be a large concourse of people assembled there, comprising the young as well as old. Refreshments are to be had on the ground and various athletic amusements will compose part of the program, besides there will be good music and an enjoyable literary program rendered. Rev. Mr. Hatch, pastor of the Springwater Presbyterian church, is to be present and will deliver an address, to be followed by a few remarks from Howard M. Brownell, of Oregon City.
