THE FATHER'S CHILDREN ARE EVER AT HOME.

Discourse at the Burial of Ross Parker.

(The deceased was a member of Clackamas Grange, No. 298, in which he held the office of Steward. One of nature's noblemen, he was esteemed and loved by his fellowmen.)

It becomes us, on every occasion, to honor the departed, and as every human being is a child of the Infinite Father, each is entitled to our tenderest considerations.

Our Brother Patron Ross Parker, who laid his mortal down August 4th at 5 p. m., having just entered the 23d year of his age, deserves for the time being, attention above the ordinary; and like every other human being that ever lived, or ever will live, he possessed at birth those innate and divine qualities which go to make up the truest manhood of earth, and being brought up by an exemplary and indulgent mother, those qualities were trained from infancy in the paths of goodness and activity. As the years were passing over his head those same powers increased in strength and Ross became a boy admired by all who knew him; and as his age to manhood advanced he began to bear fruits of general kindness to all, specially kindness to the unfortunate. Dumb brutes under his charge received his tenderest care; even the worm in the path beneath his feet was passed by unharmed. Ever mindful of his mother's welfare, he sought to make her home pleasant in every way within his power. He sought the most refined society in which to move, and gathered around himself as companions those who, like him, aspired to better conditions of life.

Although his form now lies in the clay; Brother Ross Parker is gone, gone from mortal sight, from mortal recognition, yet

Who will undertake to say

He lives not in immortal day?

Perchance in yonder sky above

He lives in a home of peace and love.

Prophets of old have declared such existence to be the final abode of man, and on down to our own day our intuitions proclaim the same to be true. When we come to compile the evidences of life beyond the grave, we find one unbroken chain of facts from the most ancient history to the present day strongly supporting that claim.

But taking it for granted that such life does exist, what are our brother's relations there? Life, being continuous, is governed by the same law, whether in that world or in this; and when Brother Parker awoke on that celestial shore, it was like stepping from a lower to a higher room in the same house, like passing from a lower to a higher grade in the same school. All he has learned on earth will be his beginning there, with far greater facilities for learning all that is good, pure and noble in spirit throughout the eternal years.

It is the duty of earth-mothers to quicken, by intelligent teachings, and as fast as conditions will allow, all those latent powers of soul that are born with their babes. After the germ of the rose, through the nutrition of earthly elements, has burst its shell and become a plant, then nature with more refined elements carries the process of unfolding to greater perfection; so nature works through the mother's intellect, through the mother's love, for the unfolding of those innate powers of soul—the heritage of every man—that leads to noble manhood on earth, and to angelhood in heaven.

Then, if the theory of soul evolution is true, we need have no fear for the future welfare for our arisen brother, for what he lacked in useful knowledge on earth will be taught him there by gentle teachers.

The Patron's love of Justice and Fraternity that characterized Brother Ross, and which he was so active in trying to exemplify in his grange work, will be more than meted to him there. The home he was beautifying for his own and his mother's sake, will be duplicated for him over there, and with far greater beauties. And that young love of his just beginning to unfold, will still continue to unfold and cause him to be a worshiper at the shrine of all that is beautiful, good and true.

Farewell, young friend. We miss thy form.

No more to bear the shepherd's crook; Thy life had reached its early morn;

For length of days had fondly looked.

We sometimes fancy we can hear

Thy footsteps on the Patron's floor;

We quickly lend a listening ear,

But hear no sounds at the inner door.

And when to music the Patron's march,

And halt before the Master's chair;

And when the Master firmly asks,

"Who are those you are bringing here?"

We fail to hear, as in days gone by,

The pleadings of thy harvest hands;

But another stands with thee vie

In teaching how to seed the lands.

We miss thee in the Grange's work.

We sometimes whispered in thy ear

A certain word all must speak,

Ere they can hope to enter there.

When you had reached that far off shore,

Had you to speak some annual word?

Or did you pass that sapphire door

On your deeds of doing good?

So farewell now for a while.

We all must follow soon or late,

Our hands must needs till the soil,

Until we can pass that "Inner Gate."

City Drinking Fountain.

It is understood that Oregon City will soon have a drinking fountain as the result of the efforts of the city council and the humane society. This fountain has already been sent from the iron works at Pennsylvania and before long will be here. Nothing, it seems to us, reflects more credit on our people than the introduction of this necessary addition. The humane society, under the able management of Miss Anetta McCarver, has been unfailing in its efforts to procure this, and the city council has always favored it. We heartily commend the action in this particular for we heartily believe in any means that tend to alleviate the distress of either man or beast.

Grangers' Attention.

Maple Lane Grange has changed its date of meeting from the last Saturday of each month to the first Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m. All visiting patrons are welcome.

W. F. BRAYTON, Sec.

It Pays to Paint.

There is nothing that adds to the selling value or the renting value of a house like good paint—there is nothing that makes home more home-like than good paint.

It pays to paint. The better the paint, the better it pays.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

pays in the beginning because it goes so far—pays in the end because it lasts so long, and looks so well, as long as it lasts. There is no paint like it for beauty and durability, for economy and satisfaction.

Ours is a complete Paint Store. We want to bid on the materials for your Painting, whether it be a gallon of Mixed Paint or a Barrel of Oil and a hundred pounds of Lead. We can save you money, and you know nothing goes from this store that is not first quality. Glad to give you color cards.

The Canal, Locks and Water Power.

While the theoretical power of the falls has been figured at about 56,000 horsepower, engineers have found that scarcely more than 25,000 horsepower is practically available at the lowest stage of the water. Of this total capacity about 15,000 horsepower is now used for manufacturing. The P. G. E. Company consumes about 9000 horsepower for its electric station, about 1000 horsepower is used by the paper mills and about 5000 horsepower goes to the flouring mills, woolen mill and pulp mills. This leaves about two-fifths of the total capacity of the water power still to waste down over the cataract. Engineer Sullivan estimates the amount of water required to operate the canal and locks at not more than 100 horsepower. It is said that the P. G. E. Co. contemplates the building of a wall from the headgates of the canal down about 1000 feet along its course, in order to separate the navigation channel from the leadway to the mills. A board of officers, appointed by the secretary of war, will examine and report upon the canal and locks and the use of waterpower by the manufacturing enterprises.

Crowds Going to the Circus.

An unusual degree of local interest has been aroused by the announcement that Ringling Bros.' famous big circus is to exhibit in Portland Monday and Tuesday, August 18 and 19. Several big excursions will go from this vicinity, and local people will be well represented at the big show. Those who go from here should make every effort to arrive in time to see the magnificent new free street parade, which takes place in the morning preceding the opening performance. The procession is divided into thirty enormous sections, each of which is a complete parade, and presents in its entirety a bewilderingly magnificent two-mile carnival of pagantry such as the world has never seen. In this gorgeous display are shown over 100 beautiful dens and cages of wild animals—500 horses, 30 elephants and nearly a thousand people, and the costumes throughout are of the finest silks, satins and cloth of gold. The performance that follows is the most magnificent arene display ever presented by any circus in America. It is entirely new this year, and its novelty and magnitude have created a sensation wherever the show has exhibited.

Lively Runaway.

Tom Armstrong's team was standing in front of Busch's store Monday evening while the owner was in the store. The horses, hitched to a wagon, became frightened and ran away. They ran down Eighth street and back up Main street, and were about to run out of town when caught. The wagon lost a wheel and suffered considerable damage. Mr. Armstrong had a load of groceries in the wagon when the frightened horses started but when they ceased running, the vehicle contained but few of the articles which Mr. Armstrong had purchased, many of them being scattered near the boat landing, up Water street and along Main street.

When Sickness Comes to the head of the family—the bread winner, the omniscient thought is "Have I safely provided for the wife and little ones?"

Nine times out of ten, "No" is the answer. It is then too late, however, to do anything. The essential thing to do is to prepare now for what may occur at any time. An investigation of the Massachusetts Mutual's new policies and bonds, will, without a doubt, bring to your notice a contract that will exactly suit your case.

If interested, send a postal, giving your name, address, occupation and date of birth, when an illustration will be sent you, showing EXACTLY what the company will do for you. No guess work about it, as the dividends are paid ANNUALLY and NOT withheld for twenty years or so, and then not paid unless the contract is in force at THAT TIME.

H. G. COLTON, Manager Pacific Coast Dept., Chamber of Commerce, Portland, Or.

New Sprinkling Rules.

To accommodate the merchants with more convenient hours for sprinkling streets and sidewalks so as to lay the dust, the Board of Water Commissioners have amended the rules to permit the use of water between the hours of seven to nine, a. m., and two to four, p. m. Lawn and garden sprinkling, or irrigation, can be done only during the hours as previously published, six to eight, a. m., and six to eight, p. m.

Look Pleasant, Please.

Photographer C. C. Harlan, of Eaton, O., can do so now, though for years he couldn't, because he suffered untold agony from the worst form of indigestion. All physicians and medicines failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Unrivalled for diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, they build up and give new life to the whole system. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by G. A. Harding, druggist.
