San Francisco has 3000 saloons, and the license is $84 per annum. Oakland is not so well disposed to the "likker trade:" Her 225 saloons must pay $400 per annum. Chico's 13 saloons must pay $600 each.

HELEN STONE says the prayers did contributed. Helen should have spoken which this subject has put into practice. sooner. The people could have prayed and kept their cash, and possibly Helen would still be with the brigands, suggests an irreverant exchange.

THE Oregonian Publishing Company yesterday paid off the $200,000 mortgage which has been causing the proprietors a great deal of worry for the past ten years. It is a sure sign that the big daily is on a paying basis.-Welome. All the republican paper seem to be doing well this year.

With school teachers being killed from ambush almost within sight of regimental quarters on Cebu, with American soldiers being hacked to pieces by elusive Moros on Minadano, and with the constabulary engaged in wholesale raid of alleged ladrones all over Luzon, the pacification of the Philippine islands is undoubtedly complete.

He got some moneyed men interested enough in him to get him pardoned and now he has quit the burglar business and is at the head of a a company organized for the manufacture of the machine.

WHAT would people think if a good Christian brother who would get up in class meeting and say something like this: "I'm still strong in the faith. I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that religion is the salvation of the would be on a par with the republican state platform, says the lowa City Republican.

The keynote of the congress of negro societies of Atlanta was furnished in the opening address of Bishop Gaines, who presided over the meeting. In the course of his address he said; "I have recently visited England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France, and I give it as my deliberate judgment after careful survey of those countries that the American negro is confronted by far more favorable industrial conditions than the white laborers of those European nations."

THE Retail Butchers and Meat Dealers' National Association, whose membership covers the whole United States, at its annual convention, held in Washington, recently adopted a resolution instructing all the local bodies from the Atlantic to the Pacific to interrogate candidates for congress on the subject of their attitude respecting the proposal to repeal the tariff duties and meat products, and to support only such candidates as are known to be opposed to the food trust.

MINING experts estimate that within the next twenty-five years there will be obtained from the Transvaal reefs gold to the value of $3,000,000,000. Thus the danger of the gold standard looms up, a huge yellow spectre in the dim distance, threatening to engulf the dear "grand ruin it will bring upon us. For overmuch gold must certainly be as calamitous as over-much 16-to-1 silver. Oh, mamma ! What a fall there will be of price and business house and politicians when we have three billions in gold more to put J Lind to M Green, 35 as in sec 8, t in our jeans.

Oregon City Courier-Herald year ago, has adopted an expensive method of revenge. Mr. Lawson, not being at all pleased with the way he has been treated by the millionaires of the club, seeks to tell his side of the story in a book, the publishing cost of which is $90,000. Having no further use for his yacht after she had been rejected by the magnates, he broke up his vessel, putting the bronze plates on the scrappile. Each volume of an edition of 3000 represents $30. Mr. Lawson literally 'blows himself."

This money-king, wasting money, or rather the product of labor, with a layish hand, has been made rich by the labor of others and ought to gratify a whim to turn the $500,000 (wasted keeping his rejected yacht in commission during the summer of 1901,) with the $90,000, back to the workmen who helped him to accumulate this vast fortune. If he will, Mr. Lawson can find a more useful way to help his fellowman, other than the satisfying of a personal grudge. There are incidents in every day suggesting how the money of men having more than they need can be distributed more for her release than all the cash to a better advantage than the way

> For president in 1904, Edward M. Shepard is the nomination made in conversation with democrats at the Hoffman House, New York, by James M. Griggs, chairman of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, who is conducting an energetic campaign by which democrats hope to capture the next congress. This announcement, coming from a democrat who has been a stanch adherent of Mr. Bryan, and one occupying the position held by Chairman Griggs, is regarded as possessing considerable significance. It may be regarded as the launching of what has already assumed the proportions of a boom for Mr. Shepard for the dem .cratic nomination two years hence.;
