An Actual Conversation.

That took place between two prominent Oregon City ladies at an afternoon tea. Names not mentioned.

Mrs. X. (the guest)—My! What lovely table linen. Mrs. K. (the hostess)—Yes, it is lovely. Mamma gave me two cloths and a dozen napkins when I was married—ten years ago. Mrs. X.—Where did she get them? Mrs. K.—At McAllen & McDonnell's. Mrs. X.—Well! I was never there. I don't know why. Mrs. K.—Mamma says she can do better there than anywhere. You know they only keep dry goods, and they do understand. Next day I go shopping I will take you along. And they came.

The Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association held a business meeting Tuesday evening at the court house to make plans for next year's assembly.

Deer in the mountains are scarce now owing to the fact that the heat drives them into the thickets where they find protection. When the fall rain commences and the oppressive heat lessens, they will come out from their hiding place.

An eccentric rod on the steamer Leona broke one day last week while landing at Morey's. The accident delayed her several hours and many of the passengers were obliged to take the electric car and others were transferred to the steamer Modoc.

The Butte Creek Agricultural Fair will be held at Marquam on September 28th and 29th. Sheriff Shayer, the president of this association, declares this season's exhibits will surpass anything of former times. This fair is held at Marquam annually, this being its 16th year.

The many friends of H. L. Cox, who often comes to Oregon City in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. work, will be pleased to know that he has been given the secretaryship of the Salt Lake City Y. M. C. A. He will leave soon to assume its duties.

Work on the Huttley Bros.' store rooms is being rapidly pushed. The partition between the bookstore and drug store will be removed, and the window room enlarged while these valuable changes are under way, the book store is now occupying the room next door on the north.

David Matthews, of Currinsville, who has been assisting in the assessor's office, leaves this week for his home, where he will remain for a few days, and will then leave for Monmouth, where he will complete a course of study. Mr. Matthews intends to teach and is almost through with his preparatory work.

The steamer Leona struck a rocky ledge Sunday while enroute to Portland and smashed the wheel almost to atoms. The boat was steaming down the rapids when the swift current drove the stern into the bank which caused the damage. It was under repairs one day, and is now running as good as ever.

The monotony of life was for a moment relieved Monday evening when another runaway dashed down the street with a wagon heavily laden with bed straw. The horses were heavy and slow on their feet and didn't attain to the usual speed. The wagon struck the post near the Baptist church, and separated from the front wheels and the horses pulling the front wheels with them, was finally stopped in the lower end of town. The driver abandoned the team at the outset of their run.

A party of 12 hoppers passed through Oregon City Monday from St. Paul, where they quit picking hops because the growers "wanted too much for a penny." They said that their employer was unfair in requiring them to heap the baskets too full, and if they had a leaf or two in their basket he would not take any account of their work.

The many friends of Miss Claudia Hart will be pleased to learn that she underwent a successful operation for appendicitis Wednesday morning at St. Vincent's hospital. Miss Hart's condition was the result of over work; she is an increasing worker and as a result contracted the most undesirable of maladies. She is improving rapidly and in a few days will be at home to her friends.

The petition for the revision of the old mortgage index records, which Tom P. Randal has been circulating among the professional men, was presented to the board of county commissioners last week and rejected on the grounds that it was an unnecessary expense. Many of the business men were anxious to gain this innovation as they pronounce the present records very incomplete.

In his desire to make his item readable and attractive to the readers, the local editor of this paper last week in writing about "the little engine" said that Mr. Tree, the inventor of the same, owned a part interest in the Oregon City machine shop. This is a mistake, as he afterwards learned that Mr. Tree does not own any part of the plant but only makes the drawings and specifications.

Morris Reilly, of Mount Pleasant, spent most of Monday night fighting the fire around his neighborhood. He, with 15 other men, worked almost all night, and many others who own a great deal of cordwood were occupied also hauling it out of the burning timber. V. Lee's fine barn full of many tons of new hay was threatened and only by unceasing watchfulness they were able to save it from total destruction.

John W. Draper left Saturday morning for Roaring river, and on Sunday morning near Lockaby's place, he had the good luck to encounter a bear, and with a well directed shot laid him out cold. The bear was a big brown fellow and quite fierce. Had Mr. Draper not killed him but only had wounded him the pursuers would had a hard battle. The weight of the animal was 700 pounds and it was sold in the market.

Mr. Josie has moved his 70 cows out on the old John Myers place east of Ely where he recently erected a fine dairy barn 140 by 30 feet. He was burned out two years ago on Mt Pleasant and now has practically to begin anew Monday the fire surrounded his new barn caused him great apprehension as the structure has no insurance as yet. He has 170 acres of good land on the place and will probably buy it soon.

The militiamen held their first practice on their new range Sunday morning and Lieutenant Humphrey's reports that his men showed up exceedingly well for the first time. The boys begin to shoot about 200 yards from the target and as they advanced in the exallency of their marksmanship, the distance of the shot is increased until the whole range of 600 yards can be attained. This company has some good shots, and it is safe to say they will do some good work before the season closes.

The Star Milling Company has enteled suit against E. Parker, Sarah Parker and J. H. Dickson to recover on a judgment given to them some time ago in the justic court for $136.50. The complaint states that the defendant has assigned the only attachable property they have to Sarah E. Parker wife of E. Parker, for the express purpose of fraudulently cheating justice, and they pray that the entire proceeding be so adjudged and that the property so transferred be attached for the payment of the amount.

Secretary Leavens, who is general manager of the Y. M. C. A., reports that every thing indicates a great year for the association this season. The time schedule for classes has been arranged as follows: Gymnasium classes begin September 22nd. Educational classes September 29th. Sunday Afternoon services September 28th. The membership of the association is now 150 and it is the intention of the friends interested in its welfare to raise it to standing to 200 by the middle of winter. Already the members are coming in and a new spirit is awakening.

Cris Hartman is undoubtedly the most vigilant and painstaking fireman in the city. He is always the first man on the scene of a fire and the last man to leave. Monday afternoon hearing that the Highland country was on fire he left his work, and mounting his horse, rode to Highland and made a personal survey of the country through which the fire was passing. No other man in the city would do a thing of this kind, and we heartily commend his conduct. Mr. Hartman says that it is the worst blase he has seen for a long time and he also says that, had there been a east wind Monday the whole city would have been burned possibly to the ground.

Wednesday evening at the residence of R. B. Montague, in the city of Albany, occurred a very pretty wedding in which John W. Loder was united in marriage to Miss Grace E. Riley, of Albany. Mr. Loder is one of the growing young men of Clackamas county and his many friends anticipate for him and his happy and prosperous career, and it goes without saying that Miss Riley is one of the highly respected young ladies of Albany, whose many friends will watch with an ever increasing interest of her future. Mr. and Mrs. Loder returned to this city Thursday. Leaving the same day for a two weeks visit with friends in all parts of the state. After the first of October they will be at home to their friends in the little Bradley cottage on 6th and Monroe St.

Monday and Tuesday fire threaten ed to destroy Wm. Dixon's property on the Molalla road a mile and half south of Ely. The cause of this fire is supposed to have arisen from some burnt slashng near Maple Lane. It has been burning fiercely for several days in that locality but fortunately did no serious damage to habitations until Monday afternoon, when it spread with great rapidity into the heavy timber close by Mr. Dixon's place. All day six men fought the flames and watched the progress of the fire with an unflinching constancy but not withstanding their vigilance, it burned up the Dixon granary with 20 bushels of fine grain. Most all of the fences, besides, were destroyed and from here it passed across the road faster than a man can walk, and burnt considerable timber.
