An Actual Conversation.

That took place between two prominent Oregon City ladies at an afternoon tea. Names not mentioned.

Mrs. X. (the guest)—My! What lovely table linen. Mrs. K. (the hostess)—Yes, it is lovely. Mamma gave me two cloths and a dozen napkins when I was married—ten years ago. Mrs. X.—Where did she get them? Mrs. K.—At McAllen & McDonnell's. Mrs. X.—Well! I was never in there. I don't know why. Mrs. K.—Mamma says she can do better there than anywhere. You know they only keep dry goods, and they do understand. Next day I go shopping I will take you along. And they came.

Albert Riggs is building a new house on Clackamas Heights.

Philip Roos is confined to his room this week on account of illness.

It is reported that fully 1000 cords of wood were destroyed by the flames on the West Side last week.

Reliable word comes from across the river that the Crown Paper Co. has lost 700 cords of fine wood.

Decided improvements are being made along the street by the Woolen Mill in the shape of a fine side walk.

On the place of Charles Holmstrom, on the Holcomb road, several hundred cords of wood, belonging to the Crown mill, were burned.

Dr. Roberts, of Jackknife, was in the city on Tuesday. About three months ago he returned from a sojourn of several years in Coos county and other localities.

Sheriff Shaver went to Pleasant Home Saturday to serve a divorce summons and complaint on Mrs. Margaret Woolfalk. Her husband, C. A. Woolfalk, resides in Josephine county.

Mayor Dimick performed a marriage ceremony Sunday morning in the county clerk's office, the contracting parties being Miss Bell Montague and O. R. Curtis, both of Clackamas county.

Hop picking in many places is about over and the general report seems to be that hops and picking were very good. At most places the picking price was 40 cents, though in some yards the pickers received 50 cents.

In the conflagration, last week, Daniels' barn with grain, was burned; also Mrs. Samson's barn; Mr. Muckenthorner lost 300 cords of wood and several other families lost severely by fire on the Mount Scott road.

Chris Bittner started for his home in the foothills, near Elwood, at dark on Monday evening, to learn the danger of its destruction by fire. All around his place the country had been burned over and homes laid in ashes.

It is reported that a movement is on foot to build elevators in the city to carry the weary populace up the hills. If this labor-saving contrivance can be procured, much of the wear and tear of men's lives will be lightened.

D. H. Mosher's horse ran away with a new buggy Monday at Stafford. The horse was left standing tied to a post and became frightened and broke loose. It ran a mile with the vehicle, which was considerably smashed up.

Active work at the government fish works, near Parkolace, will begin in a few days. The Himler boys have been employed to take eggs for spawn and they will be thus engaged for some time. The work will begin about the 25th of this month.

Conductor Garrison, who was arrested last week on the charge of assault and battery, appeared before Justice Stipp Saturday morning and entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $15, which he paid, and then returned to his car to resume his duties.

Again the boats are laden to overflowing with people. This time it's the fire men, women and children returning from the busy scenes of the hop yard. At every landing the boats are obliged to refuse passage to many people owing to the low stage of the water.

W. Burk, who was in jail last week on the charge of stealing a gold watch at the "New England Home," was given a hearing Saturday afternoon before Judge Stipp and was released, as the prosecuting witness was not able to produce sufficient evidence to justify holding him.

Sheriff Shaver, in company with his trusty deputy, made a trip up the Abernethy Friday of last week in quest of a crazy man, who was said to be roaming in the woods and frightening the inhabitants. Mr. Shaver made a careful investigation but failed to discover the man.

That splendid old order, the O. A. Fellows, always so watchful for the wants of the needy of humanity, is now busily engaged gathering clothes and food for the needy people in the burned sections throughout the county. The true test of a friend is in his willingness to help when needed.

Another serious accident was narrowly averted Monday morning at 12:30, on the O. W. P. & P. Co.'s line. Two cars headed in opposite direction collided in the narrow cut near Milwaukie Heights, and, but for the cool thoughtfulness of both motormen, a fearful smashup must have happened; it was the passengers were simply frightened and badly shaken up.

Company A. O. N. G., went out to hold their usual Sunday morning practice last Sunday but they soon discovered that the heavy smoke and fog that encircled their range rendered it impossible to discern the target, so the drill for that day was postponed. This work, however, is to be continued all through the fall and will be resumed next Sunday morning.

Marcus Sugarman, a bright young man who is a student of the Oregon City Academy, attended the reception given to Ralph C. Clyde in Portland Sunday night. The reception was given Mr. Clyde, who recently returned from the East, by his friends of the Order of Washington, and it became Mr. Sugarman's pleasant duty to officiate as toastmaster.

Constable Moody made a trip into the Highland country Tuesday and arrested one Krohn for beating the woman who was once his wife, but now divorced from him. The man is addicted to an undue indulgence in liquor, and when in this condition he goes to this woman's house, and on sundry occasions has been seen to strike her with his fists. If this is true, he ought to be severely punished.

Mr. Bryant and Mr. Hargreaves of the Oregon Fire Relief Association, have already adjusted their fires Beaver Creek way and are now attending to those at Springwater. In answer to numerous enquiries as to the standing of the McMinnville Order, Mr. Hargreaves says: "It will take 100 average fires extra to make one additional call and 600 extra average fires would not entail on each member the cost of one year's insurance in the stock companies."

Matt Clemens, the prune grower at New Era, was in Oregon City Monday afternoon with a load of fine prunes. He reports that his crop of prunes this year will hardly exceed 8000 pounds which is barely one-third of a crop. He attributes the deficiency to the cold snap in March, which froze the blossoms before they had opened up. He declares that his crop is not the only one that has suffered from this exceedingly cold snap, for all the prunes in the valley have been injured.

Rev. Frank Mixsell, of Horicon, Wis., arrived in Oregon City Sunday and occupied the Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Mixsell is a graduate of McCormick Seminary, Chicago, since 1900, and he came to this city with high recommendations from friends in the East. He preached two excellent sermons while in this city, and the reputation which preceded him was well sustained. The Presbyterian church will be fortunate, indeed, if they procure this valuable man.

George Cunningham was in from the scene of the Springwater fire Saturday, and his tale is one of extreme pathos. His entire place, including house, barn, granary, fences, were totally destroyed, the result of 20 years of faithful sacrifice and toil. At the time of the fearful fire his wife was seriously ill, having been confined to her bed for a year. When the fire became hopelessly unmanageable he was obliged to transfer her to a wagon and take her over long, rough roads to Oregon City, where she now is, and will probably remain for some time.

A meeting of the board of directors of the humane society was held at the Oregon City Bank Monday evening. A full attendance was present and the principal matter of interest was the passing of resolutions of thanks to William Howell for his valuable donation of free will labor on the city's new fountain. The resolutions also contained an expression of thanks to Messrs. Johnson and Andrews for their timely contributions to the erection of the fountain. In October occurs the regular annual meeting of the humane society at which time election of officers for the ensuing year will be held.

Rev. Hatch, of Springwater, was in the city Monday. Mr. Hatch has been preaching in the Springwater Presbyterian church for some time, and he informs us that the church was burned to the ground by the recent fire. The report that his parsonage was also destroyed was a mistake, for he says by great exertion working almost night and day, he was able, with the assistance of many friends, to save the house. He says that the First Presbyterian church of Portland has already advanced $200 towards the building fund and from the present prospects another place of worship will soon be standing.

Athletic spirit begins to awaken, and now that the baseball season has about spent itself, the boys of this city are organizing a football team. A meeting was held this week to discuss the advisability of playing ball this winter, and it is decided to organize and play good ball. The three leading promoters are W. D. Holt, Ed Rapp and Peter Younger, all men of considerable experience in this exciting sport. It is to be hoped that a good team organizes and play ball with the true spirit. No reason is imaginable why a first-class team can not be put in the field. The boys' plan now is to play on Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and New Years.

John Baker, who lives near the old Wolf place on the Molalla road, came within an ace of being burned out Saturday last. The sparks came from the Harris mill, two miles northeast of his place and lighting in the stubs near his big timber ranch began to burn with an intensity seldom witnessed.

Mr. Baker was away at the time the fire started but reached its scene of devastation just in time to witness the assistance of his wife, daughter and friends in Ely, get the upper hand of the flames. Mr. Baker had many cords of excellent fir wood piled close to the scene of the fire, and had it not been checked at that moment all must certainly have gone up in smoke.

The recent fire so replete with its heart rendering scenes and pathetic circumstances was not without its humorous side as well. It is told by a gentleman whose adherence to truth is everywhere recognized, that while the fire was raging most virulently at Springwater, a woman whose house was in imminent danger of burning, was seen rushing around excitedly with a small object rapped up in a white table cloth. As her conduct was not productive of any specially good results and it appearing to be an unnecessary waste of energy, somebody asked her what she was doing with the table cloth, and why she didn't direct her attention to her house, which was almost burning? At every which was almost burning? "Oh! I can't let this poor little thing burn. I can't do it; it would be a pity." Her friends becoming curious to know what sacred treasure the woman had which she valued more than her house, undid the cloth, and lo, and behold there appeared to view a little black pig just entering the sixth week of his existence.

Morris Roberts an old resident of Clackamas county, returned a few days ago from a summer visit in Wales, his old home. He returns with the report that he likes Oregon pretty well, and is satisfied to stay awhile here.

Earl Shaver, son of Sheriff Shaver, was in this city Monday morning on his way to Portland, where he is going to attend the Portland High school. This is his second term at the school and this year will probably see him through. Fred S. Moehnke and William Moehnke returned to their homes in Shubel from Brooks Saturday in time to see their homes in ashes and the surrounding country in flames. On these places these boys were raised and have spent their lives.

Joe Knowland, the young tailor, returned this week from a pleasant outing in the hop fields up the river. From all that his friends can learn, Mr. Knowland went about picking hops for all the slow pickers, and especially those representing the gentler elements of human nature. He says he lost money by this venture, being something like $8 poorer than when he started out. However, he affirms that he intends to go again next year.

A Communication.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me. W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by G. A. Harding.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.
