Farnk Bush, "The House Furnisher," who needs no introduction to any householder of Clackamas county, suffered heavily by the fire in Springwater, where all the improvements on his farm, which were extensive, were swept away. This loss has put him in a pinch. He must raise hard cash to meet his liabilities. His misfortune will become a public benefit. To force sales he has made cuts never known in this city's trade in the prices of heating stoves, sewing machines and all other merchandise comprising his mammoth stock. Here is the best chance in the world to buy

A newly illustrated magazine, with the taking title of "The Reader," is to started in New York, next month. "The Reader" announces that it will provide the reading public of the United States with a literary magazine, at once entertaining, unprejudiced and authorative.
Further than this, it promises to be both good and popular, and not only will it contain such literary departments as reviews, bibliography, libraries and the drama but its contents will also include short stories, poems and several popu-lar literary articles of general interest of each month. It is to be a 25 cent mig-azine and conducted on a large scale. Last Saturday afternoon a merry crowd from Oregon City took the boat for Portland, and on their way back the steamer got stuck on the rapids, so the passengers asked the captain if he would not let them get off and walk, as it looked rather dubious for a supper and bed. The captain rather smiled, and twelve went ashore single file over rocks and through trush and sand. It seemed three miles, when all at once a barbed wire fence came in view and the ten ladies had to be lifted carefully over the gate by two good looking young men, whose names all promised not to mention. They beat the boat in ten

An excellent musical entertainment was given in the Y. M. C. A. pariors Monday night by the Brown sisters and Miss Virginia James of Portland. Owing to the fact that other things were going on in the city on that evening the at-tendance was rather small, but the musical productions and readings by Miss James were none less appreciated by those who were present. The Misses Brown are grand-aughters of that fa-mous old historic character, John Brown, and of course this fact adds much to their popularity. They are do-ing evangelical work and give these pleasing musicales as an aid toward defraying their expenses in traveling throughout the country.
