survey for the W. P. & P. Co. near Astoria.

William Shindler, the cheese maker of Milwaukee, was in the city Saturday in the interest of the corporation of Milwaukee.

James Phlegley, an old resident of Canby and an old soldier, was attending to business in Oregon City the first of the week.

John W. Draper, the land office attorney, has been very busy this week trying contest cases in the United States Land office.

Nathan Moody and family passed through the city Saturday for Liberal where they expect to spend a few days on their farm.

Miss Emma Arehoff, of Marmot, who is attending school here, was in Portland last week visiting her brother, who works for Meier & Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Califf and family, who have been living at Molalla for several years, left last week for Phoenix, Arizona, for Mrs. Califf's health which has been poorly for some time.

George and H. Rogers were in the city Monday from Highland. George Rogers brought his daughter to the city on her way to Portland, where Dr. Sommer performed an operation on her for abscess Tuesday morning.

Seaward Nelson, the bustling young local editor, who edits the Aurora Borealis at Aurora, was in Oregon City Monday. Mr. Nelson sets up the type, prints and edits his little sheet, entirely alone. This is the kind of a man who is sure to win in whatever he undertakes, and we wish him success.

H. W. Jackson, the machinist, was in Oregon City Sunday from his new residence at Portland. He came up for the purpose of getting his automobile. He returned the same day. Mr. Jackson's place of business is between Front and First street on Madison, and he will be pleased to meet his friends at any time.

Frank Perry and William Corbit, of New Era, passed through the city Saturday from Oswego.

W. T. Whitlock, an old time resident of Oregon City, was in Oregon City on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Victor Erickson and Miss Maggie Gnyer, of Carus, were trading in Oregon City Saturday.

Mrs. A. S. Dresser is pending a few days this week in Portland visiting her mother, Mrs. Baird.

Henry Hornshuh and Thomas Jones, of Beaver Creek, were among Oregon City visitors Saturday.

Eph Ferguson has returned from a week's visit in Albany. He does not like that section a little bit.

Bert Holcomb, who has spent most of the summer at the Salmon river hatchery, was in the city Saturday.

Mrs. Stratton and son, of Portland, came up to Oregon City Sunday to attend the funeral of J. G. Porter.

Mrs. Jesse Kingsbury, accompanied by her son and daughter, of Damascus, were visiting in the city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nudd, of Centuria, Wash., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cheney Saturday and Sunday.

William Vaughan, a resident of Molalla, who owns a large farm, was visiting his many friends here Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Muir will leave about November 11th for Neola, Iowa, to join her husband, who is now located there.

Dr. and Mrs. Wallens, of Springwater, were on the streets Saturday. Dr. Wallens is a dentist and has a good practice.

Ernest Randa, ex-county surveyor, returned Saturday from a three weeks' stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simmons on the north side of town, met with a painful accident a few days ago by falling and dislocating his hip. Mrs. Brown is a very old lady and it was only a few months ago that she broke her limb, which has not as yet entirely healed. The last injury will oblige her to remain in bed for some time to come.

John Bradley returned on Monday from the Bitter Root mountains in Idaho, where he spent the summer with a surveying party. His most remarkable experiences were not hair-breadth escapes from varmints but in the eating line. For supper, for example, the party of 14—not large men, either—would consume 125 good-sized biscuits, a three gallon pot of beans, three gallons of tea, and pounds upon pounds of pig bosom.

The Woodmen of the World held one of their usually fine entertainments at Shively's hall Tuesday evening. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large attendance was present and the program, consisting of songs, speeches, recitation, instrumental selections, etc., was very fine. This splendid order is growing in Oregon City every day and the members are always made up of the best people in the community.

It will be of interest to the friends of William Hornshuh to know that he has completely recovered from a serious cancer complication, at Chicago, where he went for treatment. Mr. Hornshuh went to Chicago four months ago and placed himself under the treatment of Dowie, and after four months of attention under his care, is reported well. This is, indeed, a case which might be viewed with incredulity, but the report comes from the young man himself and will have to be credited.

The firm of Burmeister & Andresen, always so ready to make changes and introduce new things, has purchased an expensive cash register which is very handy and which one can only understand by seeing it manipulated. It has a key for every clerk with a place for the registration of every clerk's sale, as well as the purpose of the sale. This contrivance admits of no mistakes and enables one to tell at a glance just what has been the nature of the transaction and the amount of same.

On Tuesday afternoon in the city of Portland Miss M. E. Custer was united in matrimony to Mr. Shaver, of Lyle, Wash. Miss Custer has made her home in this city with Mrs. W. W. H. Samson for the past 12 years, and is a highly respected woman. Mr. Shaver, who is so fortunate to gain such a prize, is a prosperous farmer of Lyle, and as highly respected in his community as is his wife in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Shaver left Portland Tuesday afternoon for their home. The best wishes of their many friends attend them.

Reports come to the editor from Molalla that a canvasser for a book to contain writings of pioneers is misrepresenting facts when securing subscribers at $18 each. The party interviewed is asked to sign a paper which is really an order for an $18-book, although he is told by the agent that he does not need to take the book, but he will have to pay the $18 if he signs. It is all right if a man wants the book and signs for it intentionally but he should not sign on any other pretext and he will surely have to pay for a little experience.

Charles Criswell and Clarence Simmons, both young men who live in this city, fell from a roof they were tarring Saturday and sustained severe injuries. The roof on which they were working was on the warehouse recently built by the paper house on the east side of the river near New Era. The boys were on a ladder and as usual it had to slip at a critical moment, and the boys fell about 15 feet to a bed of rocks. Both were rendered unconscious, but Simmons was injured more seriously than Criswell. Neither of the boys had any bones broken, but it is feared Simmons is hurt internally. He is at his home in this city and will probably remain there some time.

Our line of trimmed hats is exquisite designs, unequaled values. Miss C. Goldsmith.

Seven new members were added to the Y. M. C. A. last week, and from the present prospect as many more will enter before the week is closed. Secretary Leavens declares that the outlook was never brighter, and that class work, as well as gymnasium practice, is picking up amazingly. William Beach, the association physical director, is doing excellent work and giving general satisfaction, and the women's class in gymnastics is growing under his direction every day. Soon base ball and basket ball will commence and possibly a foot ball team will be organized. These rooms are open every day from 8 o'clock a. m. to 10 p. m., and everybody is invited to visit them and enjoy their benefits.

The first debate at the Oregon City Academy held last Friday night in the school room on Shevntz street, was of a very interesting character. A goodly attendance of friends and members were present and showed warm appreciation for every number. Edward Willey made the opening address on the "The Benefits of the Literary Society," and although this was his first appearance as a speaker, his efforts were deserving of the appreciative applause which was tendered him. The question for debate was "Resolved, that Immigration is a Detriment to the United States." It was ably discussed by Marcus Sugarman and Miss Davis on the negative, and A. A. Price and Miss Gertie Griffith on the affirmative. The negative won, receiving the votes of the judges. This society is giving and is certain to hold many profitable meetings this winter. Friends of members are cordially invited to attend. The meetings are held every Friday night.
