Monday evening a pleasing surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harding at their home in this city. The occasion of the gathering was in honor of their silver wedding anniversary, and it wasn't altogether a silver wedding either for many of the gifts given were more gold than silver. This pleasant affair was perhaps one of the most pleasing of its kind ever witnessed in the city. Everybody came to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Harding and the manner in which they fulfilled their mission was equal to the most sanguine expectations. Notwithstanding the fact that the guests were considerably past middle age, the spirit with which they entered into the fun of the evening was lively and youthful in the extreme, and not one moment of the evening found the interest lessening in the host. One of the most charming features of the whole evening was the mock marriage performed by Rev. P. K. Hammond. The ceremony was very enjoyable and productive of much merrymaking. At a late hour a fine luncheon consisting of cake, ice cream and delicious fruits were served, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the many present. Mr. and Mrs. Harding are of the most highly respected families in Oregon City. They have lived here many years and no two people enjoy a larger circle of friends or stand higher in the estimation of the people of the county.

Word is received from Portland that Dee Wright has just been brought to this city from Sand Point, Idaho, where he was shot through the leg. It seems that while in a depot at that place a drunken set came in and at a moment when Wright was off his guard, he fired a shot at him and injured him in the above described manner. At the late hour we have not heard how dangerous the injury is, but it is feared that the poor boy will lose his limb. The boys of the Oregon City Academy deserve credit for taking and active hand in putting out the Surfus fire Tuesday morning. The papers have all given Company No. 3 all the credit for extinguishing the flames, which was more than their due. As soon as the fire alarm was sounded the academy boys unceremoniously forsook their tasks and were in a minute at the scene of the fire with hose and water. They got all the furniture out and much of the fire was extinguished before the other fire company arrived. We make this correction because we believe in giving honor to whom honor belongs. The case of O. W. Eastham vs. A. W. Cheney which was tried in the justice court on the 1st day of October, 1902, has been appealed to the circuit court and again come up for hearing. The question, at issue, it will be remembered, was certain commission which the plaintiff maintained was due him from defendant for getting a buyer for a certain piece of the defendant's property. The defense was that the property was to be sold on condition that Mrs. Cheney give her consent, which it was averred was with held thereby relieving defendant of having to make payment, and that plaintiff was not defendant's agent. Plaintiff lost case in Justice Court. O. W. Eastham will appear in behalf of appellant and Geo. C. Brownell is to conduct the defense. Fire broke out about 9 o'clock Monday morning at the home of John Surfus, opposite the quarters of the Hose Company No. 3. It started in the attic of the house from a defective flue and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Hose Company No. 3, turned out promptly, but at a critical moment when everything was in danger of total destruction, it was discovered that the hose was reeled on wrong and it became necessary to change ends before a coupling could be made, considerable time being lost in making the change but often great exertion and fast work on the part of all the firemen. Two streams of water were soon trained on the house. The structure was damaged considerably, but no furniture was lost. Mr. and Mrs. Surfus have just lately been married and the unfortunate circumstance is quite discouraging.

A very pleasant surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nehren Saturday evening in honor of Miss Anna Schriever, of Portland. The parlors, reception hall and dining room were tastefully decorated in autumn leaves, cut flowers and potted plants. Games and a general good time was enjoyed by all present. After the games a pleasing luncheon was served to those present by Mr. and Mrs. Nehren. Those present were: Mrs. Peter Nehren, Mrs. R. L. Herren, Mrs. Earhart, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bacon, Addie Hedge, the Misses Hall, Ethel Green, Clark Nehren, Lizzie Hoesy, May Mark, the Misses Curran, Georgia Grace, Lottie Crabtree, the Misses Boyd, Minerva Haley, Anna Schriever, Messrs. T. P. Randall, Victor Neinger, Charles Emery, R. P. Martin, Sterling May, Charles Dickey, J. W. Wetmore, J. W. Kirk, Dr. Taylor, R. Race, Rupert Hall, and Master Carl Nehren.

The case of Cyrus Todd vs John D. Moyer, was called in the Oregon City land office on last Thursday October 13, 1902, at 9 a. m., and five witnesses for contestant. Todd appeared and gave his testimony, and six witnesses in behalf of John D. Moyer, all of the witnesses occupying the time of the office in the contest department from October 23 until Tuesday of this week at one o'clock. That after said contest was finished one Christian Smith made affidavit that the testimony which he had submitted in said case in behalf of Cyrus Todd was wrong and he did not know any thing in regard to the testimony that he had submitted relative to the settlement, or the building of the house and the establishing the residence of John G. Noyer. That J. W. Draper was attorney for John D. Noyer, the contestee therein, and he is fully proving that he is entitled to the land in controversy, being the first settler on said land and having settled there six months prior to the contestant, John Todd therein.

L. O. Nightingale has brought suit against A. H. Rich, Ethel E. Rich, Charles A. White and Delbert C. Rich for a one-third interest in the 160-acre homestead of William P. Austin and in Kayler's sawmill. The complaint, which is prepared by A. S. Dresser and Mayor Dimick, alleges that on August 3, 1890, A. H. Rich and J. N. Kauffman entered into a partnership for the purpose of operating a sawmill near Willhoit, in Clackamas county, and that on the same day the partners entered into a contract with Charles White and agreed to sell 160 acres of the William P. Austin homestead, also the Kayler sawmill, and all buildings, machinery and attachments connected. On December 17, 1890, Kauffman sold his interest to L. O. Nightingale, who became a partner of A. H. Rich. On November 12, 1900, the full consideration for the sale of the property having been received, Chas. A. White, A. H. Rich and Ethel E. Rich, the plaintiff further alleges, conspired to defraud him of his rights and interests in the property by causing a conveyance of the property to be executed by White to Ethel E. Rich. Judge McBride was in the city Thursday arranging the time for the various trials now on the docket for this term. The musical, given by Miss Mary Conyers Tuesday evening, was one of the most pleasing affairs of its kind ever given. The Woodmen hall was beautifully decked in leaves and ferns of variegated hues and the effect was charming in the extreme. Every number on the long and interesting program was encored, and the appreciation which was tendered was merited in every detail. Miss Conyers, who was second on the program never appeared to better advantage, her voice was clear and strong, and the selections, which she choosed, were well adapted to her voice. Miss Grace Marshall, who sang on the occasion, also made a very pleasing impression for her beginning effort and was heartily encored to which she responded with another selection quite as charming. Mr. Don J. Zan, of Portland, sang four selections in his usually able style, and each time received heartiest applause of all the fine numbers rendered. None merited more applause than the Shakesperian reading by Mrs. Robert A. Miller. She is a reader of rare talent, and her effort at this time was very able. Mrs. E. E. Williams, Miss Veda Williams and the Misses Drapers rendered instrumental selections and perhaps received the heartiest applause of any on the program. These ladies possess great talent as musicians, and they always meet with a warm reception when ever they make an appearance. In this brief recital of the merits of the entertainment, we can not well fail to mention the exceptionally fine work done by the popular Alcabee quartet. These gentlemen are always in demand. The quartet has added a new member to its number, Frank Aldridge, who is one of the finest tenors in Oregon. The whole affair was successful beyond all expectation, and Miss Conyers has reasons to work forward to a bright future in the musical world. She has the best wishes of many friends.

One of the large dray horses of Clark Greenman was seriously injured Wednesday evening. The wagon was heavily laden with merchandise and the horse was drawing the load over a slippery pavement near the woolen mill when he slipped and fell with such force that the knee was mashed and the knee cap badly cut. This fine animal was one of Mr. Greenman's best and the unfortunate circumstance is a serious setback to the pioneer drayman.

Belani Vlau, who lived in this city a few years ago, but who now resides at Portland, where he is in the cigar business, came up to Oregon City Wednesday evening where he was married. For once, notwithstanding, the watchful care employed by the reporter to get all the news going, he failed to learn the name of the fortunate young lady. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Grim at Willamette Falls. Perhaps by next issue we will have learned her name.

Two Memorial Windows. "In Memoriam, Dr. John McLoughlin, Knight of St. Gregory, Father of Oregon and Founder of this City." These words, beneath the knightly figure of Dr. John McLoughlin in the window placed in the Roman Catholic church in his memory, briefly represent the prominence of this great figure in the early history of Oregon. The artist has faithfully reproduced the face, and its benignant expression, the long hair flowing back on each side beneath a plumed helmet. The hero, for such he was, grasps a shield with one mailed hand; with the other, a lance. His dress is that of the knightly age. Beneath his feet he tramples a green dragon. The companion window represents that eminent and good man, Bishop Blanchet, in the attitude of prayer. The crozier is in his hands and an angel is watching over him from the parted clouds. Underneath are the words: "In Memory of Rev. F. N. Blanchet, 1st Archbishop of Oregon City." It is fitting that these pioneers, working together, with the fear of God and the love of men in their hearts, for the founding of a great state, be remembered together.

Here is Indeed a Genuine Slaughter Sale. Farnk Bush, "The House Furnisher," who needs no introduction to any householder of Clackamas county, suffered heavily by the fire in Springwater, where all the improvements on his farm, which were extensive, were swept away. This loss has put him in a pinch. He must raise hard cash to meet his liabilities. His misfortune will become a public benefit. To force sales he has made cuts never known in this city's trade in the prices of heating stoves, sewing machines and all other merchandise comprising his mammoth stock. Here is the best chance in the world to buy or cash.

Stricken With Paralysis. Henderson Grimett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. B. McDonald, Man Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known wherever, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by Geo. A. Harding.

A Wretched Millionaire. The story is told of the owner of several railroads who was unable to buy relief from the nerve-twisting agony of neuralgia. It is an unlikely tale. The sick man must have known that Perry Davis' Painkiller would help him at once, as it has helped so many thousands of sufferers in the past sixty years. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

If you have to take medicine you are looking for the druggist who will put into your prescription the very best quality of the drugs—no matter what they cost. If you want quality, not quantity. If you are not looking for cheap drugs, nor cheap compounding, nor guess work in your prescriptions, bring them here. We have four registered pharmacists—the latest appliances for accurate work and a buyer that knows pure, fresh, full strength drugs. Nevertheless you will find our prices no higher than are usually charged for common work.
