Business Clothes

When you buy business clothes you want an 'businesslike' price.

But it isn't good business to buy clothes that you don't admire, nor to pay too much or too little for them. We've kept the famous Hart Schaffner and Marx line for you; and with this statement we answer every question you can think of about business, tailoring, fit, and businesslike prices.

You can prove the truth of all we say by for a minute, or an hour:

We also carry the celebrated David Adler's & Co. Outfitters in all the latest styles.

About the Raise in Prices

You will well remember everywhere the prices of pianos have been agreed upon to go up this very same time there was an upsurge somewhere.

This chart shows the high price of fuel and high rates accelerating it was inevitable. Dealers who have not foreseen to advertise this precaution are forced to absorb their higher prices or substitute an inferior instrument at the former sale. Eilers Piano House was in a position to prepare for the raise. Happy days ago, the dealer who was not well prepared smelt quite a large supply of pianos and shipped immediately. We could do this because we own immense storage depots in Portland, where we can hold pianos until sold. There are several hundred pianos there now which were purchased at the old price. They came in such large quantities, all at once, we secured the best possible freight rates upon them. They were shipped in one new harness system, which saves the large expense of hauling. They are opportunity is neglected by the usual method of transporting pianos, and we are sure that in a position to tell all pianos more closely than other dealers on the coat. The result of our foresight is as now, notwithstanding the raise in price of pianos, to sell as good an instrument as we can. It is better to sell one piano than to sell nothing at all.

We carry only the best standard makes, such as the famous Kimball of Chicago, the artistic Weber of New York, the peerless Childress of St. Louis, the famous Steinway, the famous Wurlitzer, the many noted Heintze, the Vincent Price, the Vincent Weber, and others, one of which is guaranteed.

Call us as we are on, and satisfy yourself concerning these statements.
