With Interest.

"Yes, I know that certain passengers object to tipping on principle; but, speaking for myself, I believe in it," remarked a ruddy faced old man in the corner of a third class smoker. "It is only right to reward courtesy, and I always make a point of giving the guard of this train sixpence when he comes to see if I'm all right, although I'm only a poor man."

The other passengers, not to be outdone, thereupon dived into their pockets, and when the guard popped his head inside the door a few minutes later he found himself overwhelmed with silver coins.

An hour passed, and the passengers got out one by one until the old man was left facing a spruce commercial traveler, who leaned toward him confidentially and asked him how he could afford to give the guard sixpence every time he took a journey.

"Oh, don't worry yourself about that," responded the old man. "I dare say I shall get it back with interest."

"How will you?"

"The guard is a son of mine!"—London Globe.

About the Raise in Prices.

You will see it announced everywhere that the prices of pianos have gone up. We told you this was going to happen some time ago. That with strikes, the high price of fuel and freight rates advancing, it was inevitable. Dealers who had not the foresight to anticipate this and provided against it, are forced to advance their prices or substitute an inferior instrument at the former figure. Eilers Piano House was in a position to prepare for the raise. Sixty days ago, when word of the intended advance was received we ordered a large supply of pianos and shipped immediately. We could do this, because we own immense storage depots in Portland, where we can hold pianos until sold. There are seven hundred pianos there now which were purchased at the old price. They came in such large quantities, all at once, we secured the best possible freight rates upon them. They were shipped in our own patent harness system, which saves the large expense item of boxing. They were unloaded direct from the cars to our storage depots, which are located immediately on the railway tracks, and all our hauling is done by our own teams, thus doing away with the long cartage bills. No opportunity is neglected by us for saving money in the handling of pianos, and we are thus in a position always to sell pianos more cheaply than any other dealers on the coast. The result of our foresight enables us now, notwithstanding the raise in the cost of pianos, to sell as good an instrument as we ever did, which is a much better one than is sold by other dealers for the same price.

If you have not a piano, or your old one is unsatisfactory, it will pay you to look into our prices and values immediately. Seven hundred pianos are not so very many for a house with such an immense business as ours. They will not hold out long. So the sooner you secure one the safer you will be.

We carry only the best standard makes, such as the famous Kimball of Chicago, the artistic Weber of New York, the peerless Chickering of Boston, the Hobart M. Cable, Hazelton, the many-toned Crown, the Vose, Weser and others, every one of which is guaranteed.

Call on us or write us and satisfy yourself concerning these statements.

Statesman and Gambler.

Charles James Fox, the English statesman, was even more notorious in the gaming world than he was famous in the world of politics. He had squandered $250,000 before coming of age. He became one of the most profligate gamblers of the vicious days in which he lived. Some of his finest displays in debate were sandwiched between excitement such as would unnerve most men who had no serious business on hand. Walpole has given a glimpse of a typical passage in the extraordinary man's life. He had to take part in the discussion on the thirty-nine articles in parliament on a certain Thursday. He had sat up playing hazard from Tuesday evening until 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. An hour before he had recovered $60,000 that he had lost and by dinner time, which was 5 o'clock, ended losing $55,000. On Thursday he spoke in the debate, went to dinner at past 11 at night; thence to a club, where he drank till 7 the next morning; thence to a gambling house, where he won $30,000, and between 3 and 4 in the afternoon he set out on a journey to Newmarket.

Saving the Money.

In a certain parish in Scotland collectors were going round soliciting contributions for the kirk. On coming to a wretched little hotel they hesitated whether or not to enter, but finally decided to "try their luck." A hale old man greeted them, and to him they explained their errand, but he really had nothing to give them, he said.

"Can't you give up your whisky?" one of the visitors asked. "No," he said, "I don't drink 'whisky.'" Perhaps then he could forego the pleasures of snuff. No, he didn't use snuff.

The collectors prepared to move on. "Stop a bit!" cried the old fellow. "I pay Sandy, the barber, twopenny every Saturday night for shaving me. Tell the meenister he can have the twopenny if he'll come and shave me himself!"

The Student's Prayer.

There was long ago a divinity hall presided over by a most amiable and dignified professor. On certain days the senior students opened the proceedings of the day with prayer. One morning a raw youth from a remote region performed this duty, and it was a memorable occasion. None who were present can forget how the venerable professor turned and gazed on the untutored lad, who prayed for him as follows: "Lord, have mercy on our professor, for he is weak and ignorant. Strengthen his feeble hands, confirm his tottering knees, and grant that he may go out and in before us like the goat before the flock."—"Twenty-five Years of St. Andrew."

WINE OF CARDUI

Mrs. Fred Unrath.
President Country Club, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

Lengthening a Bee's Tongue.

Man is often blamed for driving to extinction many sorts of beautiful creatures, but the account is far more than balanced by the amount of good he has done for those animals which proved useful and could be tamed.

Take the case of the bee. The bee lives by its tongue, with which organ it is able to extract the honey from flowers. Now, a bee's tongue is naturally about a twenty-fifth of an inch long. Clever beekeepers, by keeping only those bees with naturally long tongues, have succeeded in lengthening the tongues of a number of bee colonies to the extent of another hundredth of an inch. It does not sound much, but it enables those insects to do a quarter as much work again in the same time.

Man has done more than this for bees. He has given them ready made homes, where they are safe from wasps and other enemies; frames for making their combs without using large quantities of wax for outside walls, and food during flowerless weather.

What Carlyle Wrote of Tennyson.

Tennyson in his prime was thus described by Thomas Carlyle to Ralph Waldo Emerson on Aug. 5, 1844: "One of the finest looking men in the world. A great shock of rough, dusty dark hair; bright, laughing, hazel eyes; massive aquiline face—most massive, yet most delicate, of sallow brown complexion, almost Indian looking; clothes cynically loose, free and easy; smokes infinite tobacco. His voice is musically metallic, fit for loud laughter and piercing wail and all that may lie between; speech and speculation free and plentiful. I do not meet in these late decades such company over a pipe."

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.
