Eugene Ogle, the Molalla music teacher, was here on business Tuesday. J. H. Schimer, of Vancouver, Wash., is spending the winter in the city. Mrs. Hiram Hart was calling on friends in Portland one day this week. Mrs. T. B. Smith, of Portland, is visiting with Mrs. Robert Canfield this week. J. W. Kilgrie, who lives at Portland, was transacting business in Oregon City Monday. Mrs. John R. Williams, of Portland, has been spending a few days this week visiting parents. Fred Miller, a well-to-do farmer who lives at New Era, was on the streets of Oregon City Monday. Bert Holcomb, who lives a few miles up the Clackamas, was among the visitors to the city Monday. Mrs. W. B. Wiggins and children were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson, this week. Mrs. P. Traglio and daughter left Thursday morning for Eugene to visit with relatives for a few days. Tony Genini, of Macksburg, called at the Courier office Wednesday and ordered his paper sent to Hubbard. John Myers, a former resident of Oregon City, but now of Portland, was transacting business in this city on Monday. Louis Funk, of Redland, was in Oregon City Wednesday and dropped in to offer a word of encouragement. Call again, Mr. Funk. John Parks, of Springfield, was in the city Wednesday on business. Mr. Parks' household goods and barn was destroyed by fire. Miss Helen Gleason began her second term of school in the Brown's new school house a few weeks ago with an attendance of 47 pupils. William M. Welch, of Salem, was in the city a day this week making arrangements to sell a fine farm which he has near Damascus. Mrs. T. W. Clark, Mrs. Bruce Curry and Mrs. J. P. Keating spent Wednesday in Portland the guests of Mrs. Curry's sister, Mrs. Seacrest. Mrs. Jennie May and Miss Myrtle Watson, former residents of this city, but now of Portland, were visiting old friends in the city Sunday dining with Mrs. G. W. Grace. Hon. Charles Fulton, a prospective candidate for United States senator at the next session of the Oregon legislature, was in the city Saturday, when he argued a case in court. The Courier office had a very pleasant call from O. D. Robbins, of Logan. He paid up his subscription till 1904, and offered encouragement that was appreciated by the editor. H. Stingley, who resides at Eagle creek, was on our streets Thursday. Hon. J. P. Lovett was in Portland on Wednesday calling on Governor-elect Chamberlain and other dignitaries of state. William Bros. have put a brand new transfer wagon on the road, and will deliver goods, express and freight as promptly as ever. W. W. Jesse, of Barlow, was in Oregon City on business on Wednesday and paid the Courier office a visit, making a guess on the number of seed in the big pumpkin. Ackley Scott left for Salem Thursday evening to accept a position in Haas' drugstore. Mr. Scott was formerly a clerk in Huntley's drug store and made many friends while in this city. M. Vitch, a prominent and prosperous farmer of Borings, was in the city Wednesday. Mr. Vitch runs a large separator on his ranch and every day does a lucrative butter business. Some of his butter is shipped here and to Portland. George Steel, who owns the beautiful ranch northeast of Oregon City, was in this city Wednesday with a fine assortment of Concord grapes which he grew on his place. Mr. Steel raises fine grapes and has a promising orchard of young trees. P. A. Fairclough has recently returned to Oregon City from Bohemia, where he went in search of health. His many friends will be glad to hear that he was greatly benefited by the trip. Mr. Fairclough is a partner in the commission house on Main street. Mrs. M. A. Nicholson, of Wilhoit, was in Oregon City Monday morning and paid up her subscription to the Courier and ordered it sent to Prineville, where she goes to join her son, C. F. Holt. They have taken up a homestead there and have quite a lot of cattle to winter. Miss Julia Prentiss, daughter of Prof. G. A. Prentiss, principal of the West Side school, was elected teacher in the Eastham school by the board of school directors on last Monday evening. Miss Prentiss will teach in the room recently created by the board on account of the crowded condition of the school. Dr. M. C. Strickland will finish the post-graduate course he is taking in New York City by Christmas. Without delay he will return to Oregon City, to meet his friends at his old place of business, better prepared than ever heretofore to aid them in the hours of sickness. J. W. Stone, of Damascus, a farmer of that locality, was doing business here on Thursday, and incidentally dropped into the Courier office and renewed his subscription for two years, taking two guesses on the number of seed in the big pumpkin. Mr. Stone had a good word to say for the Courier. Thanks. Come again. Dr. M. C. Strickland, who has been in the East for some months taking a post-graduate course in medicine, will finish his course and return to his home and his practice in Oregon City by the first of January next. The doctor will return to his practice better equipped than ever to serve his patients. The doctor writes that he has had a very enjoyable time in the East, and that his post-graduate course has been somewhat of a holiday to him. E. M. Howard, of Ely, an old resident of Oregon City, was attending to business and paying a few social calls in this place on Wednesday. Mr. Howard subscribed for the first paper ever published in Oregon City, and is still on the mailing list. He has raised a family of sixteen children, ten boys and six girls, all of whom are yet living, and claims to have the biggest family in Washington or Oregon. Four of his boys at the present time are working in a logging camp in the former state.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

2000 sacks of first-class potatoes wanted. Shank & Bissell. There will be preaching at the Baptist church on Sunday morning and evening next by the pastor at the usual hours. The Dickens Club met at the home of Mrs. T. W. Clark on Monday afternoon, and the work was resumed. There will be a basket supper given by the Parkplace Sunday school at the church building on November 21st. All are invited. Messrs Shank & Bissell are moving their undertaking establishment to the room vacated by Jackson in the Jaggar building, opposite Huntley's store. O. D. Eby on Thursday was admitted to practice before the United States land office. He will shortly be admitted to practice in the state and Federal courts of the state of Oregon. Sever Ramsby, of Molalla, shipped a wagon load of dressed hogs on Monday, from here to Portland. The local butchers had on hand all the hogs they could handle on the block. Mr. Brown, whose farm is near the Brown school house, was in the city on Monday. He reports that the price of choice potatoes in New Era is 80 cents per 100 pounds. A local dealer says the price here is 60 cents. The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a dime social at the residence of Mrs. Schobel on Friday night, November 21, 1902. A pleasing programme is being arranged and an excellent time is expected. All friends of the congregation are invited. Patti Rosa and Louis Seffries are the names of two very clever soubrettes who are seen in this year's production of "Yon Yonson." They are both charming singers and clever dancers, so the vocal and terpsichorean features of the performance possess a degree of excellence this year that has not been surpassed, and rarerly equaled in former seasons. At Shively Opera House, September 10. There will be an adjourned session of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association at the court house in Oregon City on Tuesday afternoon, November 18, 1902. The object of the meeting is to devise ways and means for the betterment of the equipment of the association, and possibly the reorganization. All of the affairs of the association will be discussed, and all the stockholders of the Chautauqua are invited to be out. An intermediate basket ball team has been organized at the Y. M. C. A. with the following line-up with Will Beach as coach: Forwards, Allan Cooke and Charles Bollinger; center, Will Wilson; guards, Norwood Charman and Raymond Bernier. This team did some excellent work last winter, and their work for the ensuing year is looked forward to with much interest. They expect to play some of the Portland teams in the near future. At the semi-annual election of officers of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church, the following were elected: President, Arthur Holden; vice-president, Frank Andrews; secretary, Aivena Horn; treasurer, David Thomas; chorister, Owen A. Thomas; organist, Winnie Young; corresponding secretary, Lizzie Gilbert. A cordial invitation is extended to all to the meetings of the society. Strangers will be gladly welcomed. To Mayor G. B. Dimick we are under profound and lasting obligation for the present of a fine, full grown China pheasant and of the male variety. The bird is a beauty and grew up on the level land around Molalla. Having been out hunting with the mayor we presume that he thought the only way we would ever get a China pheasant was for some of our friends to give us one. Thanks, just the same. If he were a dead one we would know just what to do with him; but a live one is a different proposition altogether. Clara Mathes opens a week's engagement at the Shively Opera House Dec. 1. Star and Company come highly recommended by the leading journals of the United States and Canada. During her recent engagement at Winnipeg Clara Mathes played to the largest matinee of the season and the leading critics spoke in the highest terms of star and Company, commenting on the wonderful improvements in Clara Mathes artistic work. The Company is almost entirely new; scenery, costumes and effects are of the best and some of the highest salaried vaudeville artists appear between the acts. The opening play is Among the Philippines. There will be music afternoon and evening on "Opening Day" next Saturday at Huntley's Drug Store. Everybody cordially invited. B. E. McGregor, of Damascus, was in the city Thursday. John K. Ely, of Currinsville, was in town on Wednesday. Mr. Lebo, of Marquam, has been stopping for some days at the Electric hotel. Miss Nellie Ingalls, of Portland, is visiting Mrs. J. P. Lovett. Miss Ingalls has just returned from California, where she had been for some time. Jack Humphreys, a former resident of Oregon City, was in Oregon City Thursday visiting his friends. Mr. Humphreys was formerly employed at Chas. Albright's meat market.

THAT OPENING DAY At HUNTLEY'S

We want you all—whether customers of ours or not—to drop in and see us some time during next Saturday. Make it a point if you can to come in the afternoon or evening, (3 to 6 or 7:30 to 9 o'clock), as we will have some music, but anyhow, be sure to come some time during the day; we have some handsome souvenir calendars for the ladies, a good cigar for the men; as for the children we'll try to have something for them too.

SATURDAY, NOV. 15, 1902.

THE ELDER SOTHERN.

What the Hair Tells. Women who are the possessors of fine black hair are emotional and of very sensitive nerves. Coarse black hair is said to denote great energy, but an unmanageable disposition. Women who have brown hair make the best wives, for they are usually considerably full of sentiment, but somewhat "high strung" and are somewhat affected. Red haired people are usually keen in business, but somewhat quick of perception, high tempered and witty. The woman who has thin hair is impulsive and loving, but usually feeble, although an agreeable companion.—Pittsburg Press. A Couple of the Celebrated Comedian's Practical Jokes. Many stories are told of Sothern's original methods of entertaining his friends at dinner, and possibly the most amusing is that of the belated guest. When, late in the dinner, this friend was announced, Mr. Sothern exclaimed, "Let us all hide under the table," and down they all went save Mr. Sothern himself, who remained seated. When the tardy guest entered, Mr. Sothern rose and received him with exquisite courtesy, saying, "When your name was announced, my guests, for some unaccountable reason, all hid under the table." After a few moments of discomfort on one by they crept out and back to their seats. I heard from both Mr. Sothern and Mrs. Vincent this account of an outburst of fun at a dinner given by him in his parlour at the Revere House: As the guests, ten in number, were gathered about the open fire before dinner a stout, pompous waiter, afflicted with short breath, added the last touches to his dinner table, already spread. Ten large, square pieces of bread were placed with mathematical precision one at each plate, and then he left the room to bring the wine. Mr. Sothern saw his opportunity and, calling his dog, cried: "Tiger, the bread! Quick, Tiger!" And the nimble little grayhound bounded lightly upon the table again and again as he heard his master's imperative "Fetch the bread!" until each piece had been removed to a dark corner near the fire. Upon the waiter's return all was silence. The expectant look upon Mr. Sothern's face showed only that dinner was awaited. Standing for a moment, bewildered, the waiter, seeing no bread upon the table, hesitatingly turned to the door, then retraced his steps to the table, examined it carefully and hurriedly left the room. He soon reappeared with a fresh plate of bread, and again at each plate a piece was carefully placed, and he retired with the empty plate. "Quick, Tiger! Fetch it again! More bread! More bread!" And once more each piece was removed before the grave waiter reappeared, and all were again silent. One look at the table and one at the guests, and there remained no doubt. Those poor, hungry actors had eaten it! With a look of contempt he announced dinner, and after all were safely seated at the table he brought a third plate of bread and with a fork placed it, with a gesture of scorn, piece by piece for each person and for the host. The merry scene soon disarmed his hostility, and before the evening was over the bread in the corner was revealed.—Mrs. Lucy Derby Fuller in Century. Measles and Ammonia. A Detroit woman who labors among the poor children of the city was telling her experiences. "One day there was a death in the neighborhood; a little girl died, and the children were visibly impressed. They told me about it in unison. "It was better for her, wasn't it, missus?" one little girl said philosophically. "What was the trouble?" I asked. "Oh," another spoke up, "she had measles and ammonia on the lungs and a lot of things." "I was of course deeply impressed by the 'lots of things,' but more so by the 'ammonia on the lungs.'"—Detroit Free Press.

A Useful Rhyme.

If poisoned, take mustard or salt, table-spoon. In a cup of warm water and swallow a right spoon. For burns try borax and a wet bandage, too; If blistered, then oil and dry flannel will do. For children's convulsions warm baths are the rule; With castor oil dose, too, but keep the head cool. Give sirup of Ipecac when croup is in store; For fainting stretch patient right out on the floor. To soak in hot water is best for a sprain; Remember these rules, and 'twill save you much pain.

Discerning Germs.

"What is this stuff?" asked the testy husband, sputtering over a mouthful of the strange dish which he finds on the breakfast table. "That," answers the thoughtful wife, "is the new health food." "It ought to be healthy," declares the husband. "I'll bet no germ of any sense would try to live on it!"—Baltimore American.

Very Close.

"I was surprised to hear you speaking against Flyntskyn. You told me some time ago he was your nearest friend." "That's so. He couldn't be any nearer than he is, the stingy old beggar!"
