low bears the name of Lewis and purloined a 32-caliber revolver. He was arrested by James Turner, constable for district No. 1, and on order of the prosecuting attorney he was brought to Oregon City for trial. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge McBride to two years in the penitentiary. Mr. Aden is a vigorous official and is making a good record at Stafford.

Durand Fields, bookkeeper in the First National Bank of Portland, was visiting the family of Charles Albright on Saturday evening. Mr. Fields is a Kentuckian, having migrated from Sadieville, Kentucky, to Portland about eleven months ago. He has been in the banking business at Portland for some months past, and the outlook for the future is very bright for him indeed. His mother and sisters came out to the coast with him. Mr. Fields is only twenty-five years old, but was a cashier in a bank in Kentucky before he came to Oregon. He came from an adjoining county to that from which the editor of the Courier hails, and is a nephew of Mr. Fields, the superintendent of this division of the Southern Pacific railroad. He may be seen in Oregon City often in the future.

PERSONALS

W. H. Burghardt, of Salem, was in Oregon City Saturday.

Abel Meresse, of Forest Grove, was visiting friends in Oregon City last week.

Miss Gussie Maddock, of this city, visited her mother at the Portland Sanitarium Sunday.

Miss Grace Marshall, of New Era, visited her sister, Mrs. T. F. Ryan, of this city, Saturday and Sunday.

B. D. Dimick, of Portland, was a guest of his cousin in Oregon City, the honorable G. B. Dimick, on Monday.

Willie and Harry Westover had the pleasure of taking dinner with Mayor Dimick and his wife on Monday.

Henry Jackson, the humorous peddler of meat in years gone by, was in the city last week. Henry shows the frost of age.

John Gleason, of this city, left Monday morning for Eastern Oregon, to finish up the wool business for this season.

Miss O. J. Randall, of Newport, who has been visiting with relatives in this city, returned to her home Saturday morning.

Miss Helen Gleason, principal of the Brown's school, New Era, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gleason, of this city, Sunday.

Phil Marquam, of Marquam, claims to have discovered the secret of living a thousand years. The story of Methuselah may, after all, be literally true.

R. O. Grim, of Needy, and his nephew, of Aurora, were in the city on Monday and paid the Courier office a pleasant visit. Each of them are prominent ranchers of their respective localities.

Mrs. G. W. Scramlin, of Mack-burg, Or., who has been in St. Vincent hospital at Portland, has returned home very much improved in health. She was a patient of Dr. E. A. Sommer.

Will H. Walker, an erstwhile lawyer in this city and populist candidate for attorney-general of the state, is located in Tygh Valley, Eastern Oregon. He is teaching school and raising a family and is as lassy as a clam at high tide.

George W. Green, of Clackamas, who has been ranching in Eastern Oregon for the past few years, has moved back to the Willamette valley to locate for a couple of years and educate his children. He has been a citizen of Kingsley on the eastern side and has proven up on his homestead of 160 acres. He is now a resident of the town of Clackamas.

C. M. Langdon, of Somerset, Kentucky, was in Oregon City on last Saturday afternoon and taking a look around at the great resources and attractions of this part of the Willamette valley. Mr. Langdon left Kentucky on October the 8th, and has been traveling on the coast since that time. He has spent most of his time in Washington and is delighted with the coast in general. He will go from here to California, reaching home in the late winter.

W. H. Hearn, of Antelope, Wasco county, who was once upon a time a citizen of this county, and who has a brother living in the Molalla country, has been visiting his brother and looking around in this part of the world for the past week. Mr. Hearn is extensively engaged in stock raising in Eastern Oregon; but recently sold out his ranch and is looking around for a location and may again become a citizen of this county.

Justice of the Peace George Aden, of Stafford, was in the city last Friday on business. While here Mr. Aden saw one of his Pleasant Hill neighbors plead guilty to grand larceny and take his sentence to the "pen". The young fel-

Nick Motison has opened a chop house opposite the Courier office.

It is sometimes expensive to let cattle run at large. The poundmaster corralled 12 head on Saturday.

The traction engine of Shannon Bros. is pumping away at the Willamette. They keep a six-inch stream running all day to keep the water down for the laborers on the foundation for the new mill of the Crown Paper Company.

The quarterly meeting services for Oregon City charge, M. E. Church, South, will be held on the 22d and 23d of this month at Currineville. Preaching both Saturday and Sunday by Rev. E. L. Fitch, P. E., of Corvallis. Business meeting at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

The new school room in the Eastham school building has at last been finished and fired up and was occupied on Monday morning by Miss Grace Meldrum as teacher. The school has been very much crowded and the new room will give a big relief to the overcrowded pupils.

One of the Baxter boys living at Green Point, narrowly escaped drowning last week. He was out on the river at night with Jim Baxter fishing, when their boat struck a rock so violently that it upset and both were pitched out into the ice-cold water. Jim reached safety without difficulty, but the other's feet and legs had become numb and useless before he reached shore, saving himself by vigorous arm movements.

The entertainment given on Friday night by the ladies of Mount Pleasant at the schoolhouse for the benefit of the sidewalk fund, was a grand success. The sum of $20 was realized and this with the other sums netted heretofore will soon be used for the building of the sidewalk, which has so long been needed between this place and Mount Pleasant. The good women of Mount Pleasant deserve a great deal of credit for the work they have done to raise the amount required.

The Democrats of the Molalla precinct are arranging a meeting for Saturday afternoon, December 13th, next. They propose to have an old-fashioned live-foam and discuss ways and means of getting closer together and making winning fights in the future. The writer, J. H. Westover, has accepted an invitation to be present and make an address to the citizens of Molalla at that time. The meeting will be at the Grange hall and will be called to order at one o'clock by W. H. Vaughn, or the chairman of the district democracy.

The opening of the magnificent new drug store of Huntley Bros. on last Saturday was more than a success. The new home of these enterprising citizens of Oregon City is a beauty in every particular. Their store room is as lovely a place as can be found in the state. Large and roomy, built especially for the business, and in every way arranged to accommodate the trade and filled with the choicest lines of drugs, druggist's sundries, books, and the many other things they carry in stock, the store room presents a novel and charming appearance. All day long on Saturday their house was crowded with sightseers, and until late in the night the people crowded in and out of their store looking at the lovely store room and the thousand of things arranged tastefully for their inspection. Cigars were served to the gentlemen, souvenirs given to the ladies and children, and music to make joyous the hearts of all. It was a day long to be remembered by Huntley Bros. The Courier hopes that they will live long and prosper.

THIRD AND OAK STREETS PORTLAND, OREGON

Event of the Season.

The Clara Mathes Company presenting the latest dramatic successes, which opens a week's engagement at the Shively opera house Monday evening, December 1st, is without a doubt one of the finest amusement events ever offered the pleasure loving people of Oregon City, as no repertoire attraction has received such universal approval of both press and public, as has the popular Clara Mathes and her supporting company of thespians. The following notice from the La Grande Observer shows the favor in which the company is held: "Manager Steward made a tenstrike when he booked the Clara Mathes company. Seldom does a company give such universal satisfaction. The play last evening was an exceptionally strong one and required more than usual ability, but the company demonstrated that they were thoroughly capable of giving a creditable performance. The costumes worn by the ladies are marvels of beauty and elegance, the stage settings all new and complete."

For the opening play in this city Miss Mathes will present the New York success, "Among the Philippines," a beautiful story based on the recent Philippine difficulties. The play contains a liberal amount of dramatic incident, a pretty love story of a Red Cross nurse and no end of fresh crisp comedy. Miss Mathes will be seen in the character of a Red Cross nurse. Specialties will be introduced between acts by Miss Emma Mathes, Oswald Roberts, Rowe and Cleveland, the Lawrence and Bert Van Cleve. Prices for the engagement will be the lowest possible figure.

Strayed from Borings.

Strayed, a cow and calf—cow 3 years old in spring, mostly white with red on neck and head and some red spots on body, ear marks two splits in right ear, cow has long straight horns wide apart. Calf—red spotted steer with ear marks the same as cow. Any one notifying the owner will receive $5. Cow had small bell tied with a rope when last seen.

Barton, Oregon.

Annual Ball.

Court Robin Hood No. 9, Foresters of America, will give their seventeenth annual ball at the Armory Hall on Thanksgiving evening. Great preparations have been made by the "boys" for this annual revel of the disciples of torpachore. Their balls in the past have been delightful and pleasant in the extreme, and great preparations have been made to make this one a grand success. Everybody is invited.
