A MISTAKE.

Leads to a Shooting Affray in Which Patrick Freeman is Wounded in The Leg.

Last Friday afternoon John Evans fired a charge of birdshot which took effect in the leg of Harry Freeman. Freeman was in the employ of J. F. | Hawkes, of Portand who was rafting logs down the Clackamas and owing to the high water was unable to hold the logs together and as a consequence about two hundred of them got away. Evans is the Government tender of the light of Elk Rock and has made a business of gathering in stray logs as they come down the stream. Hawkes says that in company with Ren Baster he went to see Evans and told him that he could not hold the logs as they were branded but that Hawkes was willing to pay salvage. Freeman was on a raft replacing the logs when Evans approached in a rowboat. Seeing the logs were being taken he picked up a shot gun and opened fire on Freeman, nearly the whole charge taking effect in the side and thigh. Freeman was brought to Oregon City where the shot were removed. He was afterwards taken to Portland where he lives in a scow at the foot of mill street. A warrant was sworn out for Evans and he was arrested. He is out on bail furnished by Mrs. Adkins of Milwaukie. He says he thought Freeman was stealing the logs. The case will be tried today.

A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to po so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: "Chamberlain's Colic, Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the [party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have remedy is for sale by G. A. Harding.
