A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my boy's life and feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere, of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today. -Joel Demont, Inwood, Owa. THE TOP OF VESUVIUS.

A Visit to the Crater of the Seething Volcano.

There was no life on that bare, black, birdless cone, and as we climbed an icy wind began to blow, and the lava dust stung the face like hail. The crust was warm to the feet. I dipped my hand into an aperture the size of a rabbit hole and withdrew it hot and wet. On every side the smoke eddied up from tiny craters, but all these things were details in face of that everlasting vomit of black smoke from the crater.

The wind raged above us as we drew near the crater, and the lava dust spat more viciously; the sulphurous smoke hid the world from our view. It was as if the lieutenants of that angry monarch strove to prevent mortals from gazing too closely at their infernal orgies. On hands and knees we grabbed our way up the cone, coughing, blinded by the smoke, buffeted by the icy wind. We reached the verge of the crater and threw ourselves on our faces. I peered for one moment into that caldron of fire and smoke. The guide clutched my arm and motioned me to follow him round the edge of the crater. I crawled after him, crying, "Enough!" But he did not hear. He could not have heard a fohorn in the roar of that wind.

"Enough!" I bawled, trying to grab him. "Enough!" I roared, clutching at his leg. He shrugged his shoulders, and, taking my arm, we plunged down through the lava. A few paces below we stopped. I bent toward him and through the screams of the wind heard him say, "Give me a little present to buy macaroni!" -Academy.

Vitality of the Centipede.

The sight of a full grown centipede is said by travelers in tropical lands to be enough to affect the strongest nerves. Ten to eleven inches is the average length, although larger ones have been seen. Lafcadio Hearn in "Two Years in the French West Indies" says that the vitality of the centipede is amazing. Mr. Hearn kept one in a bottle, without food or water, for thirteen weeks, at the end of which time it remained active and dangerous as ever. The centipede has one natural enemy able to cope with him—the heu.

The hen attacks him with delight and often swallows him, head first, without taking the trouble to kill him. The cat hunts him, but she is careful never to put her head near him. She has a trick of whirling him round and round upon the floor so quickly as to stupefy him; then, when she sees a good chance, she strikes him dead with her claws. There are superstitions concerning the creature which have a good effect in diminishing his tribe. If you kill a centipede, you are sure to receive money soon, and even if you dream of killing one it is good luck.

An Unlucky Citizen.

"Yes, sir," said the town story teller, "he was the unluckiest fellow that ever drew the breath of life and a week's wages." "You don't say?" "Fact. Clumb a pine tree once when he seen the sheriff comin' to levy on him, harricane come along, blowed the tree down and landed him in the only vacant seat in the sheriff's buggy; sheriff started to jail with him; met by lynchin' party, who mistook him for 'nuther man, an' strung him up, an' he'd almost quit kickin' when some one cut him down an' hauled him home jest as his mother-in-law had finished writin' his obituary an' was standin' before the glass to see how well she looked in mouruin'." -Atlanta Constitution.

The Dog.

Man is the best friend of the dog. Horses come next, but between the dog and all other farm animals, from the house cat to the cow and the beef steer, there seems to be a natural enmity. Dogs, however, are fond of sheep and goats—but as diet, not as living friends. Cows and sheep and goats should be kept as free from association with dogs as is possible, with the exception of the trained shepherd dog. A dog walking through a cowpen will often cause a decrease in milk flow that amounts to more than the cash value of the dog. Many dogs are worth considerably less than $5.00.—Farm and Ranch.

Singular Marriage Custom.

When two Negrillos, a people of the Philippine Islands, are united, the whole tribe is assembled, and the affianced pair climb two trees growing near to each other. The elders then bend the branches until the heads of the couple meet. When the heads have thus come into contact, the marriage is legally accomplished, and great rejoicings take place, a fantastic dance completing the ceremony.

The Honorable Members.

"I suppose the arrival of new congressmen from time to time has a tendency to give variety to life in the Capitol City?" "Not a great deal," answered the man who is more or less cynical. "It merely means the introduction of new names into the same old anecdotes." -Washington Star.

In His Mind.

"Braggy says his grandfather lost his mind because of the loss of his fortune." "He's just got the story twisted. He lost his fortune because of the loss of his mind. That's where he had his fortune." -Catholic Standard and Times.

The Mischievous Emu.

Down through the meadows we come to the playground of the poet Shelley, where the old mill still stands, its grinding stones propped against its sides, quietly registering the flight of time. Swans glide to and fro upon the pond or rest upon its edge. Black and white rabbits scurry across the wooded paths. Fancied pigeons disport upon the lawn. In the tall grass tiny fawns feign sleep, while furtively watching with half closed eye, and everywhere the mischievous emu stalks about in conscious pride of his importance in this strange land.

Being a special aversion of the gamekeeper's, this bird takes apparent delight in annoying him in every way. Prying about until he finds a choice nest of pheasant's eggs, he dispatches the dainty morsels instantly, thereby destroying the hopes of both keeper and hen. Every effort to break him of this pernicious habit has been unsuccessful. Once the keeper resolved upon a plan which he thought would without doubt prove effectual. Having hard boiled a number of eggs, he carried them in steaming hot water to the field and placed them before the ever ready emu. Much to his surprise, the dish seemed to appeal strongly to the voracious appetite of the bird, for in a twinkling they were gone, a seeming look of wonder accompanying his grateful appreciation of this unusual attention.—Century Magazine.

Profanity in Europe.

The most ordinary conversation in Spain is rarely carried on without oaths being interpolated, and invocations of saints and expressions which border on swearing are common even on the lips of ladies. Spanish workmen do not understand an order unless it is delivered to them with a strong gush of profanity; masters swear at their servants, ladies at their children, schoolmasters at their scholars and officers at their men. It must be remembered that all over the continent profanity is more common than in England. In Germany even it is not uncommon to hear schoolmasters swear at the boys, a state of things unheard of and impossible here, while both in France and Italy oaths are taken as a matter of course and applied equally to man and beast. At the same time it should be remembered that most continental "cuss words" are not taken so seriously as ours.—London Answers.

The Careful Grocer.

"John," said a butter dealer, "always put in a couple of sheets of paper when you weigh. Customers will think you neat and cleanly in your business. They don't like to have their butter slopped on to a scale that, for all they know, has never been washed. And, besides, there's a good profit in buying paper at a halfpenny per pound and selling it for 18 pence." -London Standard.

Not So Disinterested as Appeared.

Miggs—I had no idea old Graspit was a philanthropist until I saw him circulating a petition yesterday for the purpose of raising money to enable a poor widow to pay her rent. Diggs—Oh, Graspit's all right. He owns the house, the poor widow lives in.—Chicago News.

Unappreciated Lavishness.

"Whenever a man gives me a whole lot of advice," said Uncle Eben, "I can't help 'splainin' dat if his opinions was so valuable he'd be busy somewha' else countin' money."—Washington Star.

Engling Him On.

Actor—I have a war as well as a his-trionic record. I was nearly killed once by the bursting of a shell. Manager—Who threw the egg?—Baltimore World.

In the name of the state of Oregon you and each of you are hereby summoned and required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the last day of the time prescribed in the order for publication of summons herein, which is six weeks from the date of the first publication hereof which date is the 2nd day of January, 1903, and you and each of you will take notice that if you fail to so appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the said last day of the time prescribed in said order, relief demanded in the complaint in this suit which is for the foreclosure of a mortgage for $400—besides interest upon the following described property to-wit:

Beginning at the northwest corner of the S. D. Francis Donation Land Claim Number 18 in Township 2 south, range 2 east of the Willamette Meridian, and running thence east 22.00 chains; thence north 15 minutes west 6.80 chains west 22.00 chains to the east boundary of the L. D. C. LATOURETTE Donation Land Claim Number 45; thence south 15 minutes east along south boundary line of said Donation Land Claim Number 45, to the place of beginning, containing 16 acres more or less and that plaintiff will apply for such other and further relief as to equity may belong. Published by order of said court.

C. D. & D. C. LATOURETTE, Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Dated, Jan. 19, 1903.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned executor of the will of Leonard Heintz, deceased, has filed his final account with the county court of Clackamas County and state of Oregon, and that the Hon. J. F. Ryan, judge of said county, has set Monday, the 24 day of February, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, for the hearing and settling said report and objections thereto, if any there be.

Starting and Staying.

At the start in a long race, the advantage often appears to be with an outsider. But the race is won not in starting but in staying. The quality which wins is staying power. It is so in the race of life.

Staying power wins, and as a rule the best stayer is the man with the best stomach.

All physical strength is derived from food which is properly digested and assimilated.

When the food eaten is only partly digested and assimilated there is a loss of nutrition which means a loss of strength and the general result is physical break-down.
