The Coat of Faded Greg.

A low hut rests in Lookout's shade As rots its moss-grown rocf away, While sundown's glories softly fade, Closing another weary day; The battle's din is heard no more-No more the bunted stand at bay-

The breezes through the lowly door Swing mute a coat of faded gray, A tatter'd relic of the fray— A threadbare coat of faded grey.

Tis hanging on the rough log wall Near to the foot of a widow's bed. By a white plume and a well worn shawl-

His gift—the happy morn they wed, By the wee slip their dead child wore-The one they gave the name of May, By her reg doll and pinafore— A red-fleck'd relic of the fray— An armless coat of faded gray.

Her all of life now drapes the w_ll, Poor and patient still she waits On God's good time to gently call Her, too, within the jewel'd gates; And all she craves is here to die—

To part from these, and pass away To join her loves eternally That wore the slip—the coat of gray, be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup—C mden as a saleguard against croup-C mden (S. Starting and Staying.
The shell-torn relic of the fray— Her soldier's coat of faded gray.

At the start in a long race, the advant-age often appears to be with an outsider. But the race is won not in starting but in staying. The quality which wins is staying power. It is so in the race of life. Staying power wins, and as a rule the best staver is the man with the best stomach, All physical strength food which is properly digested When the food eaten is only partly digested and assimilated there is a loss of nutrition which means a loss of strength and the and the general result is physical

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery gives strength and staying power, be-cause it cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of the food eaten, and so strengthens the body naturally by the nutrition derived from food. "I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliactta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail until I wrota to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a path in my stomach and left side an a thought that it would kill me. Now! am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pelicts' cured me."

Accept no substitute for Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach,
