A tramp, riding on the pilot of the local passenger train bound for Portland, was put off by the train crew Wednesday morning at this place. Nothing daunted, he waited till the train had attained a considerable speed and then with an ease born of long experience, deftly scooted under a car and deposited himself on the rods and rode on to his destination.

Ed J. Hammond, of Molalla, was in town Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday for the first time in twelve months. Mr. Hammond is one of the substantial farmers of Molalla. He is prominent in Grange circles and a good citizen. He says that a large number of calves and young stock in that part of the country are dying of some unknown disease.

The Textile Union met Wednesday evening and an unusually large amount of business was transacted. A large attendance of the members were present. The Textile Union has decided to give a grand ball at an early date, which has not yet been decided upon, but which will be at some time within a month. The proceeds derived from the ball will be used to pay the expenses of a delegate to the State Federation of Labor at La Grande, Oregon.

Frank Roth, of Canby, dropped off the local passenger train Wednesday morning long enough to deliver to the local editor a package of oranges brought home from Southern California by his brother, C. B. Roth, who has been sojourning in the south during the winter. Frank is on his way to Tacoma, where he expects to get a job braking on the Northern Pacific railroad. He is one of the very best boys and we hope he will be successful.

A team belonging to Roadmaster Polard, of Highland, ran away with his buggy while Le was coming into town Wednesday morning and the horses were not caught until they struck the Latourette bridge. One of the animals was badly crippled, but the vehicle was not much damaged. Several people passed on the road by the runaway met with narrow escapes from damage. The team was in the hands of a hired man when it started to run and no one was in the buggy.

Jacob Bettinger, who has recently located in Clackamas county, was in Oregon City on Thursday. Mr. Bettinger came to this valley from the state of Kansas two months ago. He bought the ranch of Mrs. Albright near the Mount Pleasant school house, and with his family has cast his lot in this good part of the earth. Mr. Bettinger says what he has seen of Oregon that it beats Kansas a block, and that he is here to stay. He likes the country, likes the people and thinks that Oregon with a little push and pluck will be at the head of the procession one of these days.

The strike at the Barclay school by the pupils of the 11th grade, has been declared off and the striking pupils have returned to their studies after being out about three days. None of the girls showed up Monday morning, but Tuesday the whole class was in their seats, with the exception of a single boy. The directors took the stand that the Prof. was in the right and the pupils were unwarranted in walking out as they did. The strike has been the subject of much comment in Oregon City, and has even been commented on by Portland dailies, while Rev. Mixsell, of the Presbyterian church, delivered a sermon on it Sunday. Public sentiment is divided relative to the matter, though the greater part of the people think that a good dose of "sprouts," properly administered, would have been good medicine to have used in the settlement of the strike.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

About Painting - - -

There is a whole lot to learn about paints and painting. We've studied buying and selling this class of goods for the past dozen years and during that time have learned many of the ins and outs of a business that has altogether too many of these ins and outs. Sometimes we have paid for the knowledge and perhaps many times our customers have stood the cost. Be that as it may, the knowledge must be gained somehow and now that we have gained a fair share of it, we want to help use it to your advantage.

Early last fall we bought a year supply of Adam's Paint Brushes—direct from Adam's. Since that time the price on all bristle goods has advanced from 15 to 30 per cent. Here's one line of goods on which we will not be forced to raise the price for at least six months. We'll have them in our windows in a few days—take a look at them.

Recently we bought a supply of Sherwin & Williams pure Linseed Oil. The same oil as is used in making their celebrated mixed paints. This oil of course, costs somewhat more than ordinary Portland oil, but when you want something you can bank on—something absolutely pure—we have it in any quantity and at a very reasonable price.

We have a complete paint store and you're welcome to any knowledge we may have.
