Mr. Dundas has moved into the Jas. Blanchard house.

Charles Rauch, of Canby, is working in the sawmill.

Grange Meets in New Hall.

Maple Lane Grange met in their new hall last Saturday for the first time. The hall is still in an unfinished condition, but is all enclosed.

The building is 24 feet wide, 48 feet long and 12 feet high, and has cost so far about $300. It is situated on the Maple Lane road about 60 rods beyond the school house.

The grange owns its own lot, it being a small fractional less than an acre, joining the farm of N. W. Richards, and having a very fine grove of small fir trees on it. We have no anti-rooms, and as there were several candidates in waiting we held our meeting in a very informal manner, but as everyone felt happy and good natured we got along without a hitch.

Brothers S. T. Roman and A. J. Hobbie groomed the goat. James Shelby and A. Mautz had charge of the coffee pot, and the sisters were all interested in the pork and beans sizzling in the oven, that the W. M., Wm. Beard, and the overseer, L. W. Ingram, had actually gone through the form of openings the grange with all its secret forms and ceremonies without paying any attention to the candidates who were considerably amused at the circus and wondered when and where they were to drop into the procession, so we all had a good laugh, and like the Irishman building his chimney, we began at the top, and what between marching and counter-marching, eating and drinking and later on speech making the new converts must have thought they had the greatest show on earth.

We now number about 60 members in good standing, 15 of them carrying life insurance and three fire insurance, eight or ten have dropped out for various reasons, but instead of making the grange weaker it has acted in the opposite way, as the grange was neber in a more flourishing condition than at present.

By the way, there will be a basket social given at the new hall on Saturday, March 21st, at 6 o'clock, for the purpose of raising funds to complete the hall. Coffee will also be served. Come one, come all, but if you cannot come yourself do as Bro. Alfred Luelling did send four bits his was, and yours will be very acceptable.

WM. BEARD.

Springwater.

Sunday morning mercury 30, snow 3 inches deep.

La Grippe has been prevalent in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Hatch, D. O. Howe and J. A. Shibley were confined to their rooms for over a week with la grippe.

The writer was in Highland yesterday.

The Methodists in Highland contemplate building a church. It appears that the present church is not large enough for the Methodists and Baptists.

At the present writing the snow has disappeared and there are indications of rain.

John Scott and Mr. Post, two old gentlemen of Highland, are quite ill and feeble and not expected to last long.

Barlow.

That's right, Mr. Editor, and it's the most Democratic city we suppose in the state of Oregon. If you don't believe it, just read the following: Mayor, W. S. Tull, Socialist; recorder, W. W. Jesse, Democrat; treasurer, W. B. Tull, Republican. The following are councilmen: D. O. Freeman, Populist; Mr. Ogle, Republican; R. E. Irwin, Independent. What city can beat that for non-partisanship?

There are three more weeks of school. The attendance is light just now on account of sickness among the pupils, but the health of the neighborhood is improving.

Mrs. W. W. Jesse is getting away with most of the ladies prizes at the euchre club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bratton were favored with a delightful visit by their son, L. H. Bratton and wife of Knox, N. D. They were highly pleased with our Oregon climate.

John Andrews was called to McMinnville last week to attend the funeral of a sister.

P. J. Kaylor and Charles Daugherty, two of the best known farmers of the Molalla prairie, were in town on business last Saturday. Mr. Kaylor said that the farmers in the Molalla country have been very busy with their farm work during the past month of good weather and the outlook for big crops of everything is good.

James Turner, of Stafford, was in Oregon City Saturday and paid the Courier office a very pleasant visit. Mr. Turner is a farmer and a son of Thomas L. Turner. Nearly all the plowing in the Stafford country has been done and the farmers are happy and are looking for a fruitful harvest this year.
