The South End Road.

There was a conference between the citizens of Oregon City and the officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad company last Friday afternoon, at which the subject of a crossing for the south end road was discussed at some length. The officials of the road assured the citizens of their hearty good will and co-operation in the matter, and engineers will be sent up within a few days to make estimates on the cost of the crossing. The proposed road is to be one and one-half miles in length and its cost is estimated at $9,000.

There is a difference of opinion as to who owns the rights of way over which the Southern Pacific tracks are laid at the base of the bluff, and a friendly suit is now pending in the State Supreme court to settle the matter. The city claims that the street, winding along the lower edge of the precipice, is and always has been the property of Oregon City, and that the railroad company only has a franchise for its tracks through there. The company, on the other hand, claims that it owns the property by right of purchase of the land from the John McLaughlin heirs seven years ago. The city contends that the heirs of John McLaughlin had no land to sell there and that the quit-claim deed of the railroad company was therefore void and of no effect; that in the plat of the city bluff street follows the base of the precipice; that the city some years ago could have bought the McLaughlin interest for $3000, but upon investigation it was found that the heirs had no interest in the tract whatever. This new road will mean a great deal to the property owners and business men in the southern part of the town and will likely have the effect of building up the end. The town of recent years has steadily grown northward while the south end has progressed very little.

A Modern David Harum.

O. N. Greenman is the David Harum of Oregon City. We do not mean to say that he could be persuaded to trade horses on Sunday; but we do mean to say that he will sell, trade or "dicker" for a horse on any other day. A few days ago he sold a team of very common worn out plugs for $350. The Oregonian had it $450, which is just about as near to the truth as a Republican paper can conscientiously get. Well that is only the beginning of the story. One day last week an innocent farmer came to town with a spanking fine team of young bay draft horses. They were fine as silk and to look upon them was good for sore eyes. When brother Greenman saw them, he threw away his cane. He approached the farmer and asked him how much he wanted for that pair of "plugs." The farmer said $375 and they worth every dollar of $500. Mr. David Harum Greenman however said he could not see it that way but if he would take $350 he might be able to borrow the money from a friend and make a trade. The farmer fell into the trap so Mr. Greenman has the best team that Oregon City has seen in many a day. It is a peach. It is good to look at. They are like a royal flush. The old gent has been offered $500 for the team but says no.

A New Mill.

The country between Eagle Creek and High Bridge on the Clackamas is a perfect hive of industry. More than 200 men are employed along the right of way of the O. W. P. & Railway company's new electric road. At the falls of the Clackamas a large force of men are employed in setting up a much needed lumber mill to supply timbers for the bridges, and ties between Springfield and Gresham. This new road will open up a splendid country and will add materially to the wealth of Clackamas county.

Walks Without Crutches.

I was much afflicted with sciatica, writes Ed. C. Nud, Lowville, Sedgwick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me. I used three 30c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons, all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, and can perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1 at Charman & Co.

Herbine Cures.

Fever and Ague. A dose will usually stop a chill, a continuance always cures. Mrs. Wm. M. Stroud, Midlothian, Texas May 31, 1880, writes: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we have ever used, for the ague, bilious fever and malaria." 50c at Charman & Co.
