OREGON CITY, APRIL 10, 1903.

Say boys, we have a clean deck and a new deal. Come go along with us fellows once and we will show you a trick or two that is good for sore eyes.

Tariff revision and an honest administration of the land office. Two planks in the Democratic platform good enough, the Oregonian says, for any honest man to stand upon.

Governor Cummins, of Iowa, believes that the time has come for a readjustment of the tariff. Therefore, in the opinion of a cabinet officer, Governor Cummins is no better than a Democrat.

Democratic harmony insures Democratic success. Let every good Democrat do his duty and Oregon will not only have a Democratic Governor but a Democratic Congressman from the First Oregon District.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, strikes the key note of the Democratic campaign policy when he says: "Let the dead past bury its dead." The Democratic party must espouse live issues and make a progressive fight against Republicanism.

As clean as a ribbon, as straight as a string, as honorable as a Knight of old, is the Democratic standard bearer presented the voters of the First Oregon District. It will do every honest man good to cast his vote for Reames.

A young, clean, honorable man in Congress would be of infinitely more advantage to the State of Oregon than an old broken down, rich, corrupt politician, who has had his hands in the public treasury since "The memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

Democrats of Clackamas County, you have not in years had a better chance of showing the metal of which you are made than now. Get together, be harmonious, let every man do his duty, and Reames will go to Congress and Hermann can go out in the woods somewhere and finish up his land office business.

The "High and Mighty Muck a Mucks" of the Republican party of Clackamas County are all for Hermann of course. But under their breath and deep down in their hearts they are cursing their evil star and wishing that Hermann was in the middle of the sea.

Senator George C. Brownell played two or three star engagements at Eugene last Wednesday and Thursday. He essayed both comedy and tragedy and wound up with a burlesque. One thing about the suave Senator from Clackamas however. No one ever takes him seriously and the people are no longer even amused at his idiosyncrasies.

Politics is an itch from which no one ever fully recovers when thoroughly inoculated with the virus. Hermann has been in office for eighteen long years, twelve years as Congressman, six years as Commissioner of the land office. Yet he is not satisfied; but wants to get back to Washington so he can throw a few bricks at "Teddy."

Binger Herman represents all that is bad in Republican politics. He stands sponsor for its corruptions and its abuses of the rights of the common people. He is the very lowest strata of Republican corruption. His election would be an insult to the President of the United States, who turned him out of office, and a very serious reflection upon the manhood and integrity of the people of Oregon, who believe that the President is trying to give them a decent administration of public affairs.

One of the most stupendous frauds uncovered since the stars first sang together in the morning, is being unearthed in Washington in the postal department under the present Republican administration. When all of the facts are known and all of the truth has come to life, it will, as it now seems certain implicate many men in high places and hundreds of minor employes. Millions of money has been filched from the pockets of the unwary and the unwise, and black-mailing has been practiced as a profession by half dozen -bureaus of the postal department. Being a Republican does not make an honest man any more than being a Democrat makes a thief. The Republicans will, however, have to stand sponsor for their own breed and answer at the bar of public opinion for their stealings of their colony of thieves.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM, FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

"We are unalterably opposed to the present trust dictation of our financial tariff legislation, especially as exemplified by the Aldrich and Fowler bills now pending before Congress, and declare such control harmful to good government
"There is an overwhelming demand from a vast majority of the people for revision of the tariff along rational lines. We repudiate the absurd proposition of continuing high protection on products of the gigantic trusts, now grown to pithoric wealth under government favors.
"We demand favorable action in lieu of mere promises in securing Federal improvements of our rivers and harbors.
"We demand the passage of effective laws controlling the trusts, and sincere efforts to enforce them.
"Public lands belong of right to the people, and any attempt to alienate said lands contrary to law should be condemned at the bar of public opinion, we therefore favor an honest administration of the land department, as well as all other departments.
"The administration of Governor Chamberlain is justly receiving the commendation of the people, irrespective of party in the recent legislature reflects honor upon the party, and will redound to the welfare of the state. We commend their earnest endeavor to curtail public expenditures in the interest of the taxpayers."

The Republicans of the First Oregon District are evidently about out of Congressional timber. They have nominated a man for Congress who has been in office for the last eighteen years and who has grown so corrupt in recent years that about sixty days ago he was taken by the seat of his pants and bodily lifted out of the land office department by President Roosevelt. If Hermann was too bad for the Republican crowd in Washington he must be a pretty "bad egg" and we guess he is. Yet the Republicans of this district have picked up this man who was put out of office because he was either incompetent or dishonest and have made him their standard bearer. Why build your wagon out of an old tree, hollow at the stump, rotten at the heart and worm eaten all through when there is plenty of thrifty young timber growing in the woods.

The Democrats of the First Oregon District are to be congratulated upon the good sense and wise judgment of the Democratic convention which met at Albany last Saturday and framed the Democratic platform and named the Democratic candidate for Congress from this District. No plainer, simpler, clearer declaration of principles could have been enunciated than the platform or declaration of faith put forth, and not in the State of Oregon could a better, or cleaner man or Democrat have been found to stand upon the platform than A. E. Reames, of Jackson County. The platform is broad and generous. It will appeal to every honest man and ought to draw support from every quarter. Mr. Reames is a platform within himself.

He is a young man of fine ability and character above reproach. He stands for clean methods and honest politics. He is neither a politician or a "graft-er." He belongs to the better class of our younger American citizenship. In Congress he would be a credit to the State of Oregon. He ought to be elected and if we read not the signs of the times amiss, he will be.

Extract from an address made by Robert G. Ingersoll:

"A little while ago I stood by the grave of the old Napoleon—a magnificent tomb of gilt and gold, fit almost for a dead deity—and gazed upon the sarcophagus of black Egyptian marble, where rest at least the ashes of that restless man. I leaned over the balustrade and thought about the career of the greatest soldier of the modern world.

"I saw him walking on the banks of the Seine, contemplating suicide. I saw him at Tonlon—I saw him putting down the mob in the streets of Paris—I saw him at the head of the army in Italy—I saw him crossing the bridge of Lodi with the tri-color in his hand—I saw him in Egypt in the shadow of the Pyramids—I saw him conquer the Alps and mingle the eagles of France with the eagles of the crags. I saw him at Marengo—at Ulm and Austerlitz. I saw him in Russia, where the infantry of the snow and the cavalry of the wild blast scattered his legion's like Winter's withered leaves. I saw him at Leipzig in defeat and disaster—driven by a million bayonets back upon Paris—clutched like a wild beast—banished to Elba. I saw him escape and retake an empire by the force of his genius. I saw him upon the frightful field of Waterloo, where Chance and Fate combined to wreck the fortunes of their former king. And I saw him at St. Helena, with his hands crossed behind him, gazing out upon the sad and solemn sea.

"I thought of the orphans and widows he had made—of the tears that had been shed for his glory, and of the only woman who ever loved him, pushed from his heart by the cold hand of ambition. And I said I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes; I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the rays of the autumn sun. I would rather have been that poor peasant with my moving wife by my side, knitting as the day died out of the sky—with my children, about my knee and their arms about me. I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust than have been that imperial impersonation of force and murder."

Redundant.

For the benefit of your readers will you please answer the following questions through the columns of your paper.

1st.—What is the total value of all taxable property in the state of Oregon?

2nd.—What is the amount of exemptions?

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 30 cents, guaranteed, at Geo. A. Harding's drug store.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are paralysis and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by G. A. Harding.
