While the manufacture of beer steadily increases in England decreases. At one time the acreage in hops was 17,327; today it stands at 48,024 a decrease of 3,103 from the acreage of last year. The high price of Oregon hops is not hard to account for.

The school board which was in session Tuesday, opened bids for the construction of closets and sewers for the Barclay and Eastham schools. All the bids were rejected, the members of the board considering them excessive. They think the work ought to be done for about $2000.

W. E. Marshall, the efficient and good natured clerk in Huntley Bros. store, has bought a half interest in his brother's store at Highland. He will move to Highland this week and assist in running the business. Highland is an excellent location and the two boys will no doubt do a good business.

Tuesday was Jewish New Year, and almost every member of the tribe of Benjamin from Oregon City shut up his place of business on that day and with his family went to Portland to observe the day. There are eight places of business operated by Hebrews in Oregon City and each one of them was closed up all day Tuesday.

Oregon City and the A. & L. baseball teams of Portland crossed bats at Canemah park last Sunday afternoon. The game resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 2 to 3. The baseball season in Oregon City is practically over and the football season is coming on apace. Billy Callif is organizing a football team which he expects to be a corker. There is fine material in Oregon City for a football team.

The following Oregon City ladies have again secured positions in the public schools of Portland: Miss May Kelly, Miss Sade Chase and Misses Fannie and Katie Porter. Miss Jennie Beattie was also re-elected, but resigned.

Henry Cook, of Willamette Falls, died of pneumonia at a hospital in Walla Walla, Monday at the age of 58 years. He leaves a wife and five children, one of whom, Mrs. G. H. Rogers, was with him. The interment took place in the Walla Walla cemetery.

Earl Davenport, the young man who was so badly injured at the Clackamas bridge some two weeks ago and who was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital for treatment, is reported as improving and is believed will get over his injuries and will be as good as new.

Mrs. Minnie F. Cooper filed suit for divorce in the Circuit court last Friday from her husband, W. J. Cooper. She alleges desertion. The couple were married in Greeley Center, Neb., some seven years ago. Two children blessed the union and the plaintiff asks that the court give her charge of them.

At an adjourned session of the Circuit Court last Friday the suit of the administrators of the estate of Roy P. Sunderland to recover $5000 damages from the Crown Paper Company for the killing of Sunderland in the mill several months ago. On motion of the defense the case was ordered transferred to the United States Court, the defendants being residents of California.

Messrs. Rothe and Baker opened up the Depot saloon last Saturday and commenced business. Both parties are well known to Oregon City people and will no doubt do a good business in their new place. They are refitting the building, putting in new fixtures and in many other ways making the old stand more attractive.

Mildred Sladen, the little four-year-old daughter of Mrs. H. T. Sladen, while playing with some small companions last Thursday afternoon, fell and broke her collar bone. The child seems to be peculiarly unfortunate. About a year ago she lost a foot by being run over by an electric car. A false foot was improvised and she managed to get about fairly well. The clumsiness of the artificial foot, however, was the cause of her fall.

There were two funerals in Oregon City last Sunday. One was that of Mrs. Matilda Vigelius, who died the preceding Friday. The funeral was held at the home on Fourth street Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the burial took place in Mountain View cemetery. Another funeral was that of little Francis Devine, who died at the home of her father, John Devine, in Kansas City addition Friday, of pneumonia. The funeral was held at the residence, Rev. E. S. Bollinger officiating.

Marriage licenses were issued Tuesday to Fay Franklin and Harvey Roddy. The parties were married at the Congregational manse by Rev. Bollinger. Martia Nordenhausen and Jacob Yost were granted a license to wed on the same date. Florence Schindler and Orville Steven were married by the Catholic priest. Ada Nelson and P. A. Nelson were married by Rev. Grimm of the Methodist church on the same date. Jessie Nelson and Chas. Rauch were married by the Congregational minister on the same date.

Four marriage licenses were issued to Clackamas county parties Monday last. The parties who secured the papers which enabled them to get rid of their state of single blessedness and enter into the realms of connubial felicity, were Bertha Trullinger and William Hayward, Ruby Dygert and W. G. Thompson, Rosa Wilkins and Louis Toedtemeier, and Jessie Nelson and Charles F. Rauch. In the Toedtemeier-Wilkins affair the parental consent of the girl's mother was necessary to the union, the bride being under age. Toedtemeier was a widower from the Stafford neighborhood of about 40 years old. The girl was 17.

Hundreds of people from Oregon City and Clackamas county attended the State Fair at Salem last week. Clackamas county had no exhibit at the fair, however several parties took prizes on private exhibitions. George Lazelle, of New Era, exhibited four Red Polled cattle, a two year old bull in the collection taking a prize. C. W. Morrow had several coops of fine plymouth rock chickens on exhibition which captured prizes. Richard Scott, of Milwaukee, took prizes on his cotswood and dorris sheep. He also exhibited a number of shorthorn cattle. Sheriff Shaver purchased three prize herefords at the fair, a bull and two heifers.

Monday afternoon a man was seen on the railroad track whose actions excited the suspicions of onlookers as to his sanity. He was approached by an officer and asked to give an account of himself. He stated that his name was George B. Meechem, and that he was the bridegroom of Jesus Christ. He was taken before Justice Stipp and an inquest of lunacy held and was adjudged a lunatic. The man carried on his person a number of bundles of fir buds, rolled up in cylindrical proportions, five inches in length and an inch in thickness. He had been subsisting on these buds for a number of days. He did not chew them but simply put them in his mouth and swallowed them. When the officer asked him to go with him he was perfectly willing but wanted to know if his going would interfere with his business. When told that, he would not seem much relieved. The man was about 30 years of age and had grown quite thin, the result no doubt, of his peculiar diet.

The Clement Keeper Co. The date is October 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, a treat of high class drama, produced by a standard company.

The name of the company that will appear at Shively's opera house October 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. The Clement-Keeper which will surely please.

Such productions as "The Bachelor's Honeymoon," "Resurrection," and "A Mountain Romance," will surely merit the patronage of the people of this city.

Frank Welch left for his mineral claim on Ogle Creek yesterday morning. He has three men working the claim and thinks prospects are fine for taking out some good paydirt at an early date. There are reports of a very rich assay that has recently been made.

The keeper of a boarding house in Oregon City must be a heart-hearted, merciless wretch, to hold his own. A widow in this city, a noble, hard-working woman, was swindled by her boarders, mostly young men, in one year out of $400. She quit the boarding house business.

Members of disorganized Co., A. O. N. G., will meet next Monday night in the office of Captain J. U. Campbell and will transact business relative to winding up the affairs of the company and disposing of any property which may be on hand. All members of the company who are in good standing are requested to be present.

Next Sunday will be Rally Day at the Congregational church. In connection with the rally exercises the thought of "Harvest Home" will also receive attention. The church will be appropriately decorated and the morning and evening themes will be in harmony with the season and of the year. The pastor hopes to see all in their places again. There is a welcome for strangers and plenty of room for newcomers.

Miss Hilda Walden died at the home of her mother on the bluff Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Walden was a very popular young lady and leaves many friends to mourn her death. The cause of her demise was heart trouble, which had afflicted her for more than a year, during most of which time she had been an invalid. A mother and sister remain to mourn her loss. Arrangements have not been made for the funeral as we go to press, but it will probably be held sometime today.

G. B. Dimick has brought suit in the Circuit Court against George Keenes for title to real estate in Clackamas county. The complainant alleges that he is owner of a tract of land and that defendant claims an interest in the land; that the claim of the defendant is unlawful and by reason of it the plaintiff is embarrassed by it in the disposition of the property and asks that the court compel his defendant to set forth his claims and to enjoin and forever debar him from asserting any title or claim to the premises.

Just one week from yesterday, October 1, 1903, the closed season for native pheasants, grouse, China pheasants, quail, bobwhites, ends and partridge, and the slaughter of these game birds will begin and continue upon a large scale for several weeks to come. Already the sportsmen have begun to clean up and oil their field pieces, dressing the while of the fragrant stubble fields and the big bags of beautiful and luscious birds, which they will bring back with them as a result of a successful day's hunt behind a brace of good dogs. The law of 1901, which limits the hunter's bag to ten birds for a single day's hunt is still in force and effect. Numerous reports of open and flagrant violations of the game laws have already been made, but the violations continue without any apparent effort to stop them on the parts of the game wardens and their force of deputies.

Frank Welch and Clyde Smith returned last Saturday from a week in the mountains about Ogle Creek. They brought out some fine specimens of gold bearing ore from their mines. They report the prospects in the mountains in that section as still holding up well, and say that the Wall Street mine grows better all the time. While out in the mountains they had an exciting adventure with a bear. Another party left Ogle Creek Monday morning for a week or two of prospecting.

If you will consult your own interest you will have your wife take a look at the fine display of millinery at Hamilton's store known as the Red Front. They have the very best and their prices will tickle their fancy.

Phone 13, Oregon City, Ore. Prescriptions a Specialty

Prescriptions Properly Prepared

This represents the foundation of our business—the corner stone of our success.

That word "properly" means something here. It means—that we are careful to have none but the purest and freshest drugs—careful that every prescription gets just exactly what it calls for.

It isn't an easy thing to properly compound a prescription. It requires care and brains; it requires accuracy and practice.

No boy's work behind our prescription counter. We make a specialty of putting up prescriptions. We can do it better than the man who doesn't. We have had experience, long and varied. We want your prescription trade.
