"Every time," remarked Dr. C. D. Love, the Osteopath, "Osteopathy is made an issue before the state legislature as inapplicable to the state. More than twenty legislatures have passed bills to recognize the science, while no law has yet been passed against it. This argues that a thorough investigation always will establish the merits of the system."

The City council was in session Wednesday evening. Only about the regular routine work was gone through with. A petition was presented the council by Messrs. The brick house at the foot of Moss hill is said to be haunted. Residents of Clackamas Heights passing by it late at night report seeing indefinitely weird sights through its windows, lighted up, with a flash, by a vivid radiance. A fluid, red as blood, trickles from the toolboxes in the yard, when they are pulled up. The owner of the house, who is said to live in Seattle, might coin money out of his ghostly menagerie.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. Prescriptions Properly Prepared

This represents the foundation of our business—the corner stone of our success.

That word "properly" means something here, it means—that we are careful to have none but the purest and freshest drugs—careful that every prescription gets just exactly what it calls for.

It isn't an easy thing to properly compound a prescription. It requires care and brains; it requires accuracy and practice.

No boy's work behind our prescription counter. We make a specialty of putting up prescriptions. We can do it better than the man who doesn't. We have had experience, long and varied. We want your prescription trade.

The Eagle Creek Maccabees held a most enjoyable meeting last Saturday evening. Hon. George C. Brownell, of this city, Sheriff J. R. Shaver, E. E. Taylor and R. E. Woodward were present. The members of the Maccabee Quartette sang several selections. State Commander Sherwood addressed the meeting along the lines of fraternalism. Jacob Rettiger, who lives three and one-half miles out from Oregon City on the Center Point road brought the prize apple of the county of Clackamas to the Courier office on last Tuesday. It was a magnificent Spitzenbergen five inches across and four and one-half inches the short way. This apple was perfect in every particular. Mr. Rettiger says that the apples he has grown this year are as large again as they have been growing on the same farm in recent years and he is of the opinion that the reason is to be found in the fact that he cultivated his apples well, mulched the trees, trimmed them good and gave them all the best of attention. This only demonstrates what the Courier has been trying to impress upon its readers that as fine fruit can be grown in this county as can be grown in any county in the world if the farmers and fruit growers will give their orchards sufficient cultivation and attention.
