Practically any to have your teeth filled by the methods I employ. Why suffer the nerve racking ordeal of having teeth filled by old fashioned methods when you can have work done by up-to-date scientific methods in comfort. By specializing each individual case the fillings I insert never discolor and crumble away but always retain that beautiful luster a properly inserted filling should have. Remember all work has an absolute guarantee behind it.

For about three years 210 cords of fir wood have been piled up along side of Molalla Avenue, half way between the head of Seventh street and John Everhart's store. It is said that the Woolen Mill lately bought the woodpile.

—Hon. Harley E. Stevens returned last week from his two week's sojourn in the city of San Francisco. He had a most enjoyable time in the city by the "Golden Gate" visiting friends, and taking in the sights of that truly marvelous city.

Mitt Fairbrother, accompanied by his wife and two children, arrived on Saturday from Bayard, Neb. They are the guests of A. P. Cannon, Mrs. Fairbrother being his sister. In the section of Nebraska whence they came irrigation is necessary for growth of vegetation, and, in contrast, this generously watered country seems to them the Land of Promise.

If you are looking for a chance to get some desirable city lots at a bargain do not fail to investigate the property to be sold Wednesday, November 18th, at 10 o'clock at the Court House Door and attend the sale. For particulars inquire of E. G. Caulfield, assignee.

An "Old Folks Concert" at the Congregational church last Friday evening attracted a large number of Oregon City people, both old and young. The affair was a very pleasant one and was thoroughly enjoyed. The rendition of the different selections was all that could have been desired and the concert was a success both from a social and literary standpoint. The church realized quite a tidy little sum from the proceeds.

Enos Cahill's seedling is one of the new varieties of apples in this valley that should be assiduously propagated by chardists. It is a waxen color, good size, good keeper, and of fine flavor, whether raw or cooked. Mr. Cahill will furnish grafts to those who desire to enrich themselves by the possession of this valuable variety, and that, too, without money or price. The seedling is strictly an Oregon apple.

Last week Bert Strickland returned from his summer's work, as packer for a surveying outfit, in the mountains of Idaho. He will probably return to take charge of a packtrain running between Pierce and the Clearwater, a distance of 30 miles. Every morning, he and his helper will have the pleasure, if such it be, of fastening the packs on a couple of dozen horses with a double diamond hitch. The trail leads through valuable forest recently surveyed and, past mining camps.

Notwithstanding that the open season for catching mountain trout is at end numerous parties still are beating the waters of the Clackamas and other streams for the speckled beauties, and quite a few good catches have been made since the season ended. There is no law to keep one from fishing in side-water and the Willamette falls in tide-water, but the Clackamas and other streams in the county are not in tide water and parties who fish there are liable to arrest and fine.

M. M. Borkholder, of Macksville, was in the city on Tuesday, on his way home from Portland, where he had been attending to some business matters. Mr. Borkholder has been a resident on Oregon for the past eleven years and has lived in Clackamas county all of that time. He has a wife and seven children and is only thirty-one years old, so President Roosevelt's race suicide idea does not "touch him." Mr. Borkholder is a farmer and a rancher and has been fairly prosperous during the last few years as have been all of the farmers of the Willamette valley. He does not affiliate with any party but votes as he says for the best man every time. He is an honest, law-abiding citizen and if Clackamas county had more men like Mr. Borkholder and more families like his it would be better off in the long run.

Prescriptions
Properly
prepared

This represents the foundation of our business—the corner stone of our success.

That word "properly" means something here, It means—that we are careful to have none but the purest and freshest drugs—careful that every prescription gets just exactly what it calls for.

It isn't an easy thing to properly compound a prescription. It requires care and brains; it requires accuracy and practice.

No boy's work behind our prescription counter. We make a specialty of putting up prescriptions. We can do it better than the man who doesn't. We have had experience, long and varied. We want your prescription trade.

A great many people are taking advantage of the Courier's offer to send them the Oregon Daily Journal and the Courier for a year for the one price of the Journal alone—$4. Next year is a national election and you ought to have a reliable daily paper as well as a county paper. Why not subscribe for both?

An industry that has hardly been born in the Willamette valley, which holds large prospective profits in store, is that of the growth of flax and the manufacture of linen. It has been amply proven by thorough trial that nowhere flax thrives better than in Web-foot.

The heavy rains of last week flushed the streams entering the Willamette and caused a decided raise in the waters of that stream. All of the tributaries in the county, such as the Molalla, Clear Creek, Milk Creek, Clackamas and other streams were running bank full. The rain was an unusually heavy one for this season of the year.

The law authorizing the throwing in jail and fining of any one caught stealing rides on trains, on complaints sworn to by officers of the road, is declared to be unconstitutional by District Attorney, Allen. In consequence of this decision all the hoboes who were doing time in the county jail, last week have been released and have flitted. For a time the jail was full of these "Weary Willies" as many as a dozen at a time being placed there by the city police, and they were entailing considerable expense on the county.

"Every time," remarked Dr. G. D. Love, the Osteopath, "Osteopathy is made an issue before the state legislature as an impartial jurist it gets an indorsement. More than twenty legislatures have passed bills to recognize the science, while no law has yet been passed against it. This argues that a thorough investigation always will establish the merits of the system."

PHYSICIANS COMMEND US

No physician ever looked through our stock of drugs and chemicals without expressing surprise and appreciation at the extent and character of the assortment carried.

No physician in town is so narrow or so prejudiced, we believe, as to say that we are not most thoroughly equipped to handle properly the most delicate or particular prescription he has ever had occasion to write.

Therefore, with superior facilities, commendation of all the physicians and a price guaranteed as low or lower than you can get elsewhere, we invite you to let us fill your next prescription, no matter on whose blank it may be written.
