Central Committee Meeting. The Democratic Central Committee met in Oregon City Tuesday, April 28, in response to a call sent out by Chairman Eby. The meeting was the best attended of any similar one held for years and this is held in the face of the fact that the farmers are at least two weeks behind with their work and could ill afford to lose the time necessary for a trip to town. One committee man in particular, Thos. Duffy, of Beaver Creek hired a man to work in his place, and walked eight miles to attend the meeting. Many of the candidates were present and if there was any one in attendance who came doubtful of the success of the meeting, he went away feeling that the fear had not been well founded. Some places on the ticket which were left vacant on the day of convention were filled and other routine work attended to. Ways and means of raising a suitable campaign fund were discussed--something which certain of the opposition never have to bother themselves about, and which they never have to account for. Chairman Eby announced that he would keep accurate account of all funds entrusted to his care, would take and keep for inspection receipts for all disbursements. It was decided to make a three week's campaign and the arranging of the details was left to the County Chairman and Secretary. The nominations of justices and constables for the different districts was taken up and disposed of. Their names will be published as soon as they file their acceptances.

COMMEMORATE CHAMPOEG. Celebration Monday in Honor of Birth of Civil Government in Northwest.

Commemorating the formation of the first civil government on the Pacific Coast, F. X. Matthieu Cabin, Native Son of Oregon, will hold a reunion and celebration at Champeog, Or. next Monday. Former Governor T. T. Geer will preside and William Galloway, president of the Oregon Pioneers' Association, will deliver an address. Other speakers will be heard. Excursion steamers will be run from Portland and Salem, including way points. A large attendance is expected.

It is expected that F. X. Matthieu, who is 87 years of age and the sole survivor of the Champeog incident, will be present. There will be facilities for enjoying a basket luncheon or meals will be for sale on the boats. It was at Champeog, 27 miles south from where the City of Portland now stands that on May 12, 1843, the first civil government on the Pacific Coast was born. From this humble beginning grew the State of Oregon and the commonwealth which have sprung from what originally was the Oregon Territory. Monday will be the 61st anniversary of this important event--Telegram.

Rural Dell. On account of hands being scarce, farmers of this locality are busy plowing and sowing grain while the weather continues nice, as but little grain was sown last fall. Ira Bonney started his sawmill last week. It is situated on the Mosherberger place in a fine belt of timber. Mr. J. A. Bue at this writing is low with pneumonia. He is under the care of Dr. Weaver of Hubbard. Mr. L. L. Hein has a mare with a colt by her side that is perfect in all respects but was born blind. School is progressing nicely under the management of Miss Pearl Leabo. A seven months term will soon close. Our R. F. D. mail carrier is now making his daily rounds. He was irregular heretofore in making his rounds on account of bad roads. Rev. Gillmore preached an able sermon at the Smyrna church Sunday at eleven o'clock. EZEKIEL.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., April 28, 1904. This has been a busy week. The remaining appropriation bills have slid noiselessly along in Senate and House and given opportunity for the discussion of other important matters. Both majority and minority leaders now announce that Congress will adjourn toward the end of next week. This will be one of the shortest regular sessions ever known, excepting such as terminate by law on March 4th. The House on Tuesday after an excited discussion, passed the Statehood bill providing for the admission of Oklahoma, and of Arizona and New Mexico as Arizona. There was heated opposition to the measure and it is not thought that it will this season get through the Senate where it meets its appearance yesterday Democrats protested and raged against it in the House and voted against it without a single dissent, but the Republicans, though several of them spoke against it, voted solidly for it, and, Mr. Williams said, "jammed it through for party purposes." General Grosvenor spoke against it but lined up as a party man when the roll was called. For two days now the Senate has been discussing measure to provide more office room. The proposition to erect a marble palace for such purposes diagonally opposite the Senate on B street meets with much favor and will probably be carried out. There is a strong tendency to turn down the provision of the sundry civil bill by which the House ordered an extension of the vast front of the capitol. It is denounced as desecration and sacrilege by Senators Hale, Bacon, Teller, Bailey and others, who insist that the antique beauty of the facade shall not be defaced. Emphasizing the need of more spacious quarters, Mr. Bailey affirmed that Senator Berry of Arkansas could not without the assistance of a messenger find the dark and gloomy cavern in the basement which by courtesy is called his room. Senator Berry acquiesced and said he had only been there three times in a year; yet he objected to the proposed building as being too sumptuous and expensive for a Republic. The fermentation of the protest against the seven-hour day by the clerks seems to have precipitated a conclusion. The House committee on reform in the civil service yesterday reported favorably on the bill by unanimous vote which provides that all clerks shall be dismissed at seventy years of age, after June 30, 1907. A great city of pain and wrath goes up from the superannuated forces in the departments but a good many people think that clerks that have been a generation or two in the public service at salaries averaging over $1,200 a year, are not entitled to a longer occupancy of government chairs merely because they have spent all their money. Of course this kills all the civil pension projects. Senator Reed Burrow's committee on the case of Senator Reed Smoot has got to work again. Six of the thirteen more witnesses summoned have already arrived in the city and two or three transient apostles are on their way hither. Brigham H. Roberts, former Congressman, testified yesterday. Meantime President Joseph F. Smith has had enthusiastic reception in Salt Lake City by his five wives, forty-two children and innumerable friends. The Daughters and other various relics of the American Revolution now in session here have uttered an execratory snuff and vociferously demanded the extinction of Smoot who is still in his seat and we can only like to point the scornful finger of indignation at from their seats in the gallery. He is an undersized, bashful-looking man, with skin milk eyes, red hair, unaggressive moustache and a nose that Julius Caesar might envy. Just looking at him one would not think he could make such a disturbance. He is said to have marred his popularity at home by being parsimonious in the matter of wives. Roberts acknowledges to three wives and defies the government. In a talk which I had this morning with a statesman from the geographical centre of these United States, he said "It is an infernal shame about Joe Burton. He has been a faithful senator uniting in the interests of Kansas. He has never meant to do a wrong thing. You ask me why he doesn't let you interview him. Well, he is too proud and too conscious that he is dead right and will be vindicated in the end. See here! he was convicted of influencing the post office department against the fraud order in behalf of the Riato Company, through Payne and Cochrane. Now both these men affirm his innocence. No, sir! Joe Burton will die in his tracks before he will whimper or make any appeal to the public against the outrage than has been inflicted on him." But then, Senator Pomeroy's Kansas friend said the same thing about him. Ten thousand applications for patents are held up in the United States patent office on account of informal presentation or unskillful prosecution. C. A. Snow & Co., patent lawyers of Washington make a specialty of such cases, fees moderate and contingent on success. A couple of days ago an enterprising and inquisitive boy belonging to "the Cabinet Circle" tore the lid off an experimental beehive in the Agricultural grounds. The outraged insects jabbed enough formic acid into him to cure all the rheumatism in Washington. He swelled up faster than the head of a chorus girl receiving a favorable notice, and his body looked like an India rubber doll-baby when he fell into the hands of a cop and was identified just in time. Sarah Jane Lippincott ("Grace Greenwood"), a famous author of the last century, died recently in New York. She had lived in Washington for a generation and was lately dispossessed by Congress which condemned and acquired her residence which stood on the square where the great marble palace will be presently built for the use of Representatives. A Thoughtful Man. M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind. knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25 cents at Charman & Co's Drug Store.

In Memoriam.

Jane Elizabeth White, after a lingering illness of several months died in this city Saturday. Mrs. White was born at Providence, Illinois August 6, 1851, being the oldest child of Edward P. and Jane C. Rands. When she was three years of age her parents moved, going by wagon to the then new state of Iowa, settling first in Marshalltown and later at Staceyville, Mitchell county, where on April 28, 1877 she was married to Frederick F. White. Immediately after they came to Oregon first stopping a few days in Oregon City, then in Albany till October of the same year when they returned to this place which has since been their home. Two children were born to them, Jean M. and Ina C., the latter of whom after a brief life of eight years passed to the other side. Soon after coming here Mrs. White united with the Congregational church in which faith she had been reared, and ever since has been one of its most consistent, active and untiring members. For twenty-three of the twenty-six years of her membership she has been the church organist and much of the time director of the choir. Her ability in this line made her in demand in many of the musical functions of the city; and to no object having a Christian, benevolent or charitable purpose as its aim, was she ever known to decline her help. On this account she will be missed not alone in her own church, but by a host of friends in all the churches and out of the churches, for whose gayer hours her touch upon the keys had a voice of gladness and a smile, and into whose darker musings it glided with a mild and gentle sympathy which stole away their sadness ere they were aware. Mrs. White was a member of Pioneer chapter of the order of Eastern Star, and of the Knights and Ladies of Security. She is survived by her husband Frederick F. White, her daughter Jean M. White, her mother, Mrs. Jane C. Rands, two sisters and four brothers as follows: Mrs. Wm. A. White, Mrs. James L. Swafford; Clarence A. Ernest P., and Harold A. Rands, all of this place and Edward M. Rands of Vancouver. Lumber--Leave orders for lumber of all kinds at W. L. Block's, the house furnisher, or address W. F. Harris, Ely, Or. M 25-13.

An Interesting Argument When we talk you expect to hear something interesting. What we say gives you pleasure. What we say gives you benefit. Our argument is one of high values and low prices. Our boast is of qualities rather than of anything else. We point out the good things and help you to share them. A good thing for you is to get the good things we offer.

HOSE QUALITY There are good, bad and indifferent grades of garden hose. Poor hose rots, cracks and bursts. In two seasons you need more. That's expensive. Good hose costs a third more, and, if properly cared for, lasts four times as long. That's economical. We'll sell you the kind you want, but advise the best. Our cheapest hose sells for $3.00 in 50 foot sections.

REED ROCKERS For the porch, lawn or sitting room. These are some of the new special designs for this season in large comfortable rockers and chairs. They are all strongly made and nicely finished, and the price is the only cheap thing about them. $1.00

LINOLEUM The largest assortment we have ever carried from the cheapest to the best. The cheapest are all good quality two yards wide in very handsome designs and colorings and range in price from 35c to $1.65 per square yard. We have the better grades in 12 feet widths and our prices are the lowest at which these goods have ever been sold at this season of the year. FITTING THE FRAME When we talk about fitting the frame to the picture, we mean that we put on the picture just the frame it needs. Our framing is really the finishing touch. It improves the picture--tones it as it were, and bring out its best qualities. That is what our frames do. Let us give you an example. 16x20 frame with glass $1.50. Oriental Curtains Imported striped designs, in rich combinations of colors, with deep knotted fringe to match. These curtains are three yards long and will harmonize with any furniture. The richness of design and style of these curtains make them bargains at one-half as much again as we ask for them.
