SUIT TO DISSOLVE STANDARD OIL.

Suit has been instituted by George Rice, of Marietta, O., for the dissolution of the Standard Oli Company, a corper-ation organized under the laws of New Jersey. It is charged that the company is illegal, and exists in violation of the anti-trust laws of the United States. The result of the suit will be of no benefit to the general public. Even if the contention of the plaintiff is upheld, the decision will be so worded as to effect the real status of the Standard Oil Company no more than did the famous "Merger" decision affect the railroads in their relation to the general public.

THE SITUATION IN COLORADO.

General Sherman Bell, who is govern-ing Teller County under martial law, has issued another statement for publi-

EXHIBIT FOR NATIONAL GRANGE,

Portland, Or., June 14, 1904. To the members of the Grange in Oregon and Washington, Greeting:

The National Grange will meet in Portland, Or., in November, 1994, and it is desired that we show to our visitors a complete exhibit of the resources of the Northwest in the shape of grasses, fruits, grains, vegetables, minerals, forestry and isheries. In order to make this matter a success, it will be necessary for every mem-ber to do his or her utmost.

We suggest that each subordinate Grange appoint a committee of three to take hold of the work. Exhibits must be grouped by counties, and each sample marked with the name and address of the producer. Samples of grasses and grains, when cut, should be tied in small

Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Washington, D. C., June 23, 1904. The fires of the summer solstice are blazing overhead, but the heat does not prevent business being done at the head-quarters of the two parties here. Rambiting off from each are ten or a dozen rooms filled with coatless men and maid-ens decolletees, writing wrappers at full jump to every county, and almost every town, in the United States. The Repul-licans have just received a new consignment of partisan literature from the Government Printing Office, the Public Printer having given a partisan twist to the agreement in Congress to permit no more "leave to print" matter not uttered on the floor. Republicans all over the city are laughing very heartily at having cunningly outwitted their adversaries. A lively excitement prevails in the of-fices of Mr. Cortelyou around the desk of the Chief Inspector of Steamboats. He sees just as few newspaper men as possible, and is a rival of Judge Parker in taciturnity. The eteamboat horror in the East river makes it interesting to know that the law prescribes a penalty of $100 for each passenger received on board any steam vessel not having official certificates of approval from Corteivou's department, and "Every Inspector who willful, custific, falsely conching any steam vessel, as to ter hull, accommodations, boilers, engines, machinery or their appurtenances, or any of her equipments, or any matter or thing contained in any certificate signed and sworn to by him, shall be punished by fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment of not more than six months, or Bu; the most astounding provision of not according to the efficiency of their service, but according to the number of steamboats which they can inspect in a year! In Districts inspecting one hun-dred and fifty steamers the Inspector's salary is $1,800. In districts inspecting five hundred steamers, the inspector's salary is $2,500. Besides this, they are paid traveling expenses. Of course, the tendency of such a provision is to ex-treme haste, carelessness and recklessness. It offers every inspector a bribe to neglect his duty. It pays him just as much for inspecting a two ton pleasure yacht as for the Fall River steamer. Is t any wonder that under such a wicked arrangement inspectors hurry from dock to dock and overlook the great floating palaces? It is obvious that the 2,500 life preservers on the General Slocum had not been properly looked at at all. How could they be, under prevailing conditions? How could the fire hose be tested under a law which paid the inspector to neglect it? Is not all this horrible to think of? The very least that Secretary Cortelyou can do is to see that serious punishment is inflicted on delinquent inspectors. Then he ought to see to it that Congress repeals the abominable law which hires an inspector to set death traps for the unwary public. Inspector Lundberg, for instance, ought he to be out on ball in view of the massacre of innocents in his district? The opening of Levi Leiter's will has few surprises. He leaves the bulk of his property to his wife, and a couple of millions apiece to his children with provisions for a good deal more. He gives Plunger Joe a couple of million dollars and forgives him the ten million which he lost in the wheat pit. So Josy has $100,000 annual income, enough to pay the expenses of his contemplated trip to Indis on a visit to Lady Curzon, the, Vicereine. They say that he has sworn off from heavy speculation. The Leit-ers will still continue to reside here.

It is alleged that on the strength of their official position some of the clerks employed in the Department of War contract debts in this city which they neglect to pay. The Secretary of War has issued orders to the effect that if creditors complain, and the facts are found as stated, such clerks will be dis-missed. The effect of this order is likely to be wholesome. It might be adopted by all the executive Departments.
