MAKING A MAN.

Hurry the baby as fast as you can, Hurry him, worry him, make him a man Off with his baby clothes, get him in pants

Feed him on brain food and make him advance. Hustle him as soon as he's able to walk,

Into the grammar school; cram him with talk.
Fill his poor head full of figures and facts,

Keep on jumping them in till it cracks. Once boye graw up at a rational rate, Now we develop a man while he waits, Rush him through college compel him to grab Of every known subject a dip and a dab Get him in business and after the cash, All by the time he can grow a mous-

Let him forget he was ever a boy, Make gold his god and its jingle his joy, Keep him a hustling and clear out of breath Until he wins-nervous prostration and death.

Every school boy knows that a kite would not fly unless it had a string tying it down. It is just so in life. The man who is fied down by half a dozen blooming responsibilities and their mother, will make a higher and stronger flight than the bachelor, who having nothing to keep him steady, is always floundering in the mud. If you want to ascend in the world, tie yourmelf to somebody.

If our readers give but the faintest echo to their enthusiastic appreciation with which we know they read the Home Circle Column our desire will be reached and the utmost expectations we have entertained will have been realized. If your neighbors and friends are not subscribers for this paper speak to them regarding this special feature friends. Too often on such occasions which they can find in no other paper in the friends are greeted with "I know it

We were greatly charmed this spring by the sight pear a small rivulet of four stately trees growing from one root. We loved to sit in the shadow first of one and then of the other and to watch them swaying in the wind and kiss each other through the interlacing branches. So it should be with our numerous churches and with religious aspirations-each separate in some sense from the other, and yet blossoming alike and bearing fruit alike, shooting up into the light together and alike glorifying the land.

They, all of them, are filled with selfishness and pride and vanity and other feelings of the lover nature which are ready to explode at the slightest touch. At the merest provocation they would naturally get angry and scratch, and scold and quarrel, and yet all day long there is harmony in that little band. Who chords it? Who keeps those cuildaren in a happy and peaceful state of mind from morning until night? They do not know it but it is the forethaught in all others you will find them. in all others you will find them. do not know it but it is the forethought of the mother. It is the touching of this one's disposition and that one's disposition, first on this side and then on that. It is the wise administration of love in the household which keeps everything moving harmoniously. The children do not know how to take care of themselves and there are many little temptations to wrangle with each other; but there sits the mother, who without any superiority, governs them in their play. There is an atmosphere thrown off from the mother's heart which keeps the whole household in order, and all progresses regularly and happily.

The true lady is known wherever you meet her. Six women get into a street car or omnibus, and though we never before saw them it is easy to pick out the true lady. She does not giggle constantly at everything that transpires. She wears no flowered brocade to be trodden under foot, nor rose-tinted Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our gloves, but the lace frill round her face notice and I got him a box, they so regis scrupulously fresh, and the bows un- plated his kidneys that relief came in a der her chin have evidently been han remarkably short time. I have often dled only by dainty fingers. She makes no parade of a watch if she wears one; still we notice such a trim little shoe, not paper soled, but of an anti-con- gon City people. Call at C. G. Hunt-sumption thickness; the bonnet or hat ley's drug store and ask what his cusupon her head is simply trimmed; she is quite as civil to the poorest as to the richest person who sits beside her. If she attracts attention it is by the un- agents for the United States conscious grace of her person and man-ner and not by the estentation of her no other. We are quite sorry when she pulls the strap and disappears. If we were a bachelor we should go home to our solitary den with a resolution to become a better and a married man. The strongest man feels the influence of woman's gentlest thoughts as the mightiest oak quivers in the solfest breeze. Never did language better apply to an adjective than when calling the wife the "better half." We admire the ladies "better halt" We admire the ladies because of their beauty, respect them because of their virtues, adore them because of their intelligence, and love them because we can't help it.

June, with its bright graduating classes and decorations of roses and ferns which seem to "look pleasantly into the secret senses of the goodness of the Heavenly Maker," is just as delightful to the eye and quickening to the heart and mind as it was years ago when we older people stepped out of school life into life's school. In every community there are homes made ready for the return of a son or daughter from school. How willingly all hands of the home circle are employed making attractive the home; and how anxious the father and mother become as the time of arrival approaches. Not only is the return causing much excitement in the home, but young people of the neighborhood are also jubilant over their friends' return, and many of them will be at the depot to give a warm welcome. The important question is how will our young graduate greet her young friends who have never been away to school? Colton tells us that "he who studies books alone will know how things ought to be, while he who studies man will know how things are;" but we who study both men and books know that she should greet them in an unaffected all and von know nothing," which creates wounds too deep for healing, Think you it is no sacrifice for the father mother to toil on day after day and deny themselves many things they should have for their comfort in order to meet the college expenses? Does it not seem cruel that they should often be rewarded by hearing fault-finding, criticism and even unjust ridicule of the old home, the old friends and associates? The once happy home is made miserable, and the other members of the family so severely corrected that they deeply regret there is one in the house who knows so much. Here is a family of three, four, or perhaps seven children. They are surrounded by a thousand implements of mischief. The circumstances are such as tend to lead them into mischief. It's pretty bard to attend to duties With a constantly aching back; With annoying urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills make work easier They cure backache: They care every kidney itl.

Mrs. C, Richards, wife of C. Richards, Portland, painter, and living at 671 Mar-ket street, says; "Mr. Richards values Doan's Kidney Pills very highly. He has had attacks of kidney trouble for years. He is a painter by trade and there is no doubt but the turpentine has had more or less effect on his kidneys, as I believe most painters are more or less afficted with kidney troubles. Last fall he had an acute attack and when heard him express his appreciation of this valuable remedy

Casadero and Estacada.

Casadero, the townsite or city-site, two miles above Estacada, is great in placed with other big timber exhibits it possibilities. An outsider cannot tell the outside space. Oregon has two owhar the O. W. P. & Ry Co. intends to the largest sticks in this section, one be bridge. Fire and a steam engine provided with drum and cable are clearing land, here. The reservoir presupposes a can do in the lumber line. dero lies in a narrow canyon, the hills on either side being several hundred feet high.

Estacada is a problem too. It is said that twenty lots bought on the installment plan have reverted to the company the buyers having become discouraged The village has a stragging appearance. The company intends to make its huge botel building profitable by excursions from Portland. Whatever the future of the new villages may be, the farmers along the line of the new railroad are confident that it will be of great advan-tage to them. It has proved to be such already. As the thousands of cords of wood piled up near the track testify. Wood at the track brings $2.50 per cord. The clearing of land means the establishing of new Lomes and increase in population.

At Estacada the Odd Fellows are building a $1200 lodge building.

Oregon's fish and game resources are very well displayed at the Louisana Pur-chase Exposition in the Forestry Building along with the state forestry exhibit. The combined display occupies a whole section in the southeast corner of the building, and makes a fine showing for

Of course the most important part of the fish display is the Royal Chinook salmon from the Columbia. Five of these big fish in great glass jars show visitors what Oregon streams produce in this line, each jar containing a single salmon. Two other large jars have two steelheads each on exhibition.

Every variety of Oregon game bird, both upland and waterfowl, are on hand to catch the sportamen's eyes. The birds are of course stuffed, with the exception of a pair of Chinese ring neck pheasants, which live in a cage at the end of the exhibit. These birds attract great attention, though they have now lost many of their feathers. They were very beautiful for a while, and were among the most interesting features in the whole building.

Credit for the exhibit is due to Mr. George T. Myers, Jr., of Portland, who has been appointed Superintendent of the Fish and Game by the State Commission. He has worked hard with the limited means at his disposal, and has accumulated an exhibit that does Oregon great credit,

As said before, the game and fish exhibit is in the same space as the main forestry exhibit. This department is under the supervision of Edmund P. Sheldon, and comprises principally au exhibit of Oregon woods and lumber. Oregon's big timber is far too large to place in the building, and it is therefore placed with other big timber exhibits in the outside space. Oregon has two of do. The track between the two points ing a square timber four feet on a side and 42 leet long, and the other a rough lies in the narrow bottom on the north and 42 leet long, and the other a rough bank of the Clackamas. At the end of log 30 feet long and ten feet in diameter, the track a crusher is grinding rock for Portland. On the south bank in Casa-dero, both banks being connected by a which stood 200 feet to the first limb.

You Will Be Happy if Well.

Paine's Celery Compound

Bestows that Health and Vigor that Makes Living a Pleasure.

If you are sick and out-of-sorts, it is in your ower to make yourself healthy, strong, and power to make yourself healthy, strong, and happy.

There is not the slightest reason why you should go through life feeling sickly, miserable, languid, and melancholic. To be well and strong, means happiness and true joy.

If you are sleepless, rheumatic, neuralgic, dyspeptic, or have the shadows of disease havering over you; if you are not as bright, energetic, and strong as you were some weeks ago, the use of Paine's Celery Compound will tone up and fortify your whole system, cleanse the blood, correct digestion, sharpen the appetite, and conduce to restful sleep. Thousands once in a half-dead condition owe their present good health to the use of Paine's present good health to the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. Wm. S. Gibson, of Pleasureville, Ky., who, through sickness and suffering, was brought near the dark grave, writes as follows, regarding his marvelous

"I have been broken down in health and strength, nervous system shattered, kidneys out of order, had nervous and trembling spells off and on for the last ten years. I have taken three bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound and all of the above-mentioned troubles have left me, and I can now do a good day's work. I go about my business all day long and it don't worry me, and I now feel better than I have in ten years. I have a good appetite, and can eat and get around on foot as active as when I was a boy. My age is 65 years."
