

COUNTY WILL ASK FOR BIDS

Arguments Made for and Against Barton Bridge.

MR. TRACY SCORES GRANGE

Estimates Considered Low, But if People Contribute Enough, Bridge May Be Built.

Whether the Barton bridge across the Clackamas will be constructed or not is still an open question, but it seems probable that ultimately the improvements will be made, notwithstanding protests from the Oregon City Board of Trade and taxpayers.

Judge Gordon E. Hayes appeared for the petitioners as an attorney, and he said that he was there also as a public-spirited citizen.

"I am aware of the fact," said he, "that no improvement has ever been made in Clackamas county without opposition. I am not a representative of the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, but of the five gentlemen who sit here, I confess that I am a little surprised at the members of the Board of Trade for exhibiting such a selfish spirit. We must give these people a market. They have none. We cannot corner all of the trade of Clackamas county. Farmers of that section require facilities and they must have them."

The attorney roasted the Board of Trade and denounced the opposition as a short-sighted policy. He made some comparisons with the situation in regard to roads and bridges at Stafford and Oswego.

W. P. Kirchman, of Stone, talked in opposition to the bridge, as did President W. A. Hantley, of the Board of Trade.

County Judge Ryan said that the county court would advertise for bids for the construction of the bridge, with the object of ascertaining its cost, which has been estimated at $3500. This estimate is considered low too, but the total cost of the bridge and the three miles of road leading to it would probably be close to $15,000. Three thousand dollars have already been subscribed for the road, and the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company will give $3000 toward the bridge. This will leave $3000 to be raised, and it is very likely that if the county court is satisfied that the road and bridge can be made at a total cost to the county of $6000, it will be done. Judge Ryan states that if Clackamas county can secure $15,000 worth of bridge and road improvement for $6000, he regarded it as good policy to go ahead.

Estacada Issues Bonds. Estacada has decided to issue bonds for $5000 for the erection of a new school building. The matter has been under discussion for some time.

LOCAL NOTES

Friday night, Myrtle Chapter, No. 15, Portland, will give a reception at their ball in Portland to Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, of this city, grand matron of Oregon. An invitation is extended to Pioneer Chapter to attend. A special war has been chartered from the O. W. P. Ry. Co. to take the Oregon City members to Portland. All who desire to attend will meet on the 8:20 car. Reduced rates will be obtainable at 25 cents a round trip.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran church of this city will give an ice cream social on the evening of Thursday, the 25th, of this month, on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Seiler, Third and Adams street. Coffee and cake will also be served.

J. L. Matthews, editor of the Covina (Cal.) Argus and wife, accompanied by their aunt, Mrs. M. L. Jeffries, of Long Beach, Cal., who are in attendance upon the Lewis and Clark Exposition, called at this office Thursday.

L. W. McAdams, formerly principal of the Oregon City schools, arrived this morning from Pendleton, where he is engaged in the hardware business. Mr. McAdams states that on his return he is to move to Echo, Or., where he will branch out in the same business.

Harding-Brodie.

One of the prettiest weddings in this city of recent years was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Episcopal church, when Miss Jennie Imogen Harding and Edward Everett Brodie were made man and wife.

Long before the hour set for the ceremony the church was crowded by invited guests, and many were unable to gain entrance.

Mrs. Water Reed, of Portland, rendered a solo, "I Know a Garden," by Carills. This was followed by the entering of the bridal party, which was led by a chorus of Miss Harding's pupils, singing the wedding march. The bride, attended by her father, was met at the altar by the groom and the Rev. Phillip K. Hammond. Miss Neita Harding acted as maid of honor, and Mr. Tremble, of Portland, as best man.

Immediately after the services at the church a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding. The large and spacious lawn of the Hardings was handsomely decorated with Chinese lanterns, under which tables were placed to accommodate the guests receiving the delicious refreshments, which were served by a number of young lady friends of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Brodie left on a late car for Portland, from whence they left this morning for a short honeymoon at Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.

The Harding home was most beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens. Each room in which the guests were received by the bride and groom, contained a distinct color scheme. Many beautiful presents were received by the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Brodie are very popular and well known young people of this city. Mrs. Brodie is well known in the state's musical circles for her splendid voice. Mr. Brodie has lived here for several years, being a leader in the newspaper business in Oregon City.

Those who are gaining flesh and strength by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion should continue the treatment in hot weather; smaller dose and a little cool milk with it will do away with any objection which is attached to fatty products during the heated season.

LIBERAL.

Farmers are putting forth all their efforts to "make hay while the sun shines," and will soon have the satisfaction of having a splendid crop of that product harvested. The potato crop is looking fine. The late rains produced a good effect on them, as well as the gardens.

B. Fredricks and sons have shingled their barn, which was only temporarily roofed last summer.

Laurence Mack, of Oregon City, has been working for J. W. Lowry the past two weeks and has also been entertaining the neighbors with his phonograph.

Mrs. Wm. Lowry has gone to Kansas for a few month's visit with relatives.

The hops are about as thickly covered with lice as they can be and appear to be worse on high ground than low. If the present weather continues it may exterminate the pests to some extent, but spraying will have to be resorted to to secure a fair crop.

The warm weather has undoubtedly come too late to do the grain much good in the way of ridding it of the grain aphid, as much of it is soon ready to cut and the substance is well sapped.

George Lowry has gone to house-keeping.

Mr. Borkholder purchased about 75 head of goats of Wm. Lowry, and expects them to do some good work for him clearing his land.

In some localities the fruit trees are badly affected. Many of the branches are dying and in some orchards a number of the trees have not a vestige of green leaves.

This part of the country was well represented at Oregon City the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marsh expect to soon make their second trip to the Fair.

Lyman Mack, of Oregon City, passed through our burg Tuesday on his way to J. W. Lowry's.

MOLALLA.

Hay harvest is now the order of the day in this section. The meadows usually are producing a light crop. There will be mostly grain and cheat hay cut here. Spring oats will yield a light crop owing to a blight that resembles rust but is something that has never happened to grain in this section before.

Quite a serious accident happened to a young man last Sunday, whose home is near Monitor. He, with others, were having an outing up near the mouth of Trout creek on the Molalla river. He accidentally discharged a pistol and the bullet penetrated his left hand, entering between the second and third fingers on the under side and passing out about an inch behind the knuckle of the little finger on top of the hand. Dr. Powell gave it a temporary dressing. His hand was so swollen that the doctor could not tell just how serious the injury was, as he did not probe the wound. Another one of the party stuck a ramrod through his hand, causing a painful but not very serious wound.

Dr. R. F. Parent has closed his office here and has gone to Tacoma to take charge of an office. His family will remain on the ranch for awhile.

Prof. James Buff is engaged in moving a large barn for Mr. Tolliver. They expect to move it about three-quarters of a mile. Mr. Buff has had 26 years' experience in moving buildings and will probably get the barn moved in good shape.

The upper Molalla, river for miles and miles shows strong evidence that there has been giant powder used in killing fish. The least possible fine that can be imposed is $200. Now, unless this is stopped, someone is going to get caught and who ever it may be will have a fine—and a good stiff one—to pay. There soon will be no trout in the Molalla unless this blasting ceases.

OSWEGO.

The Oswego baseball team was defeated in a game played last Saturday with the Fulton team at the latter's grounds. The score was 10 to 11. Next Sunday the Oswego team will play at Canby.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Evans, of this place, are camping at Chautauqua.

Many Oswego people attended the Fair this week.

John Biener is erecting a new house near his store, which will be quite an addition to the appearance of the town.

Mrs. Agnes E. Cox was visiting in Portland this week.

AGENCY PLAINS.

The weather still continues dry and hot. The crops are looking well, but are needing rain at present.

Mr. Ramsey is busy hauling water from the Deschutes river to fill his new cistern.

John Gard's daughter, Ruby, while playing, ran into the wire fence and cut her face quite badly, but not seriously.

Misses Addie and May Jackson and Billy Hannen, of this place, attended the celebration at Prineville the Fourth. Several on the plains celebrated the Fourth on the Deschutes river. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Mayfield, Mr. Hill and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kirk, Miss Myrtle Gard and Messrs. Burney and Chester Gard.

W. H. BAIR, Prop.

We baked some pies and several loaves of bread. Put on our ragged clothes and hats on our head. And to the Deschutes river to spend the 4th of July. Our intentions were to get a great many fish to fry. To go with our loaves of bread and orange and lemon pie. But alas! the roads were so rocky and rough. When we got there the pies were naught but crust. We got into camp at half past two. Pitched out our grub-boxes, which were but few. And the next thing in line Was to catch the fish we heard were so fine. The boys set out with smiles bright, And hearts very light, To catch the fish which were to gratify our appetite. The camp fire was ready, the frying pans nigh, And on the table were the loaves of bread and crusts of pie, But sad to relate, The fish met not their intended fate. Next day with clothing sadly soiled, We hitched up our horses and up the long hill toiled. When we got to our destination Our friends all asked of our celebration. But do not believe all the stories you hear, For we are sure the fish went celebrating, too, this year.

CANBY.

M. J. Lee, traveling salesman for Mitchell, Lewis & Staver Co., has been doing business in Canby this week.

W. H. Bair has purchased a large new hay baler and is now busy baling hay.

Mrs. Vesta Clark, of Silverton is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knight, this week.

Mrs. J. Steadman, of Pierre, S. D., is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. White, this week.

Mrs. H. N. Brown, Mrs. A. Kocher and Miss Marian Swansby are among the campers at Gladstone Park.

Don't forget the ball game next Sunday, Canby vs. Maroons, of Portland. This promises to be one of the best games of the season. Admission, 25 cents.

George Penman departed Wednesday for the Ogle Creek mines, where he is employed.

Mrs. Andrew Carothers, Lou Harvey and daughter, Ethel, of Olex, Or., were visiting relatives here this week.

George Murdock has accepted a position with the Conservative Life Insurance Co., of California, and is at present doing business here.

The M. E. camp meeting at this place closed Sunday evening after one of the most successful meetings ever held here. Large crowds, together with some of the most noted ministers on the Coast were in attendance.

A selected Orchestra of Nine Pieces will give a Concert each evening from 6 until 8 and from 9 until 12

OLIVE OIL

AS A PREVENTIVE OF CONSUMPTION

"Diet is a great factor in the prevention and cure of consumption," says Dr. W. H. Wiley, head chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and although no diet can be regarded as strictly "curative," many foods are of extreme value in treatment on account of their high nutritive qualities—namely, pure olive oil.

Pure olive oil contains more nutrient than any other food, and in comparison with the best beef, 10 to 20 per cent. more. Two teaspoonfuls before each meal is the proper portion. It is easily assimilated and readily clarifies the whole system—particularly the bowels. Masticating it thoroughly in the mouth not only pre-digests it, but its oily piquancy is most helpful to the throat. Olive oil is a wholesome stimulant. To obtain all these desirable results, however, the oil must be absolutely pure. The following brands we have handled for many years, and can safely guarantee them to be strictly pure.

- Maltese Cross, gallons.....$4.45
- Maltese Cross, 24-oz. bottles..... 1.00
- Lucca Cream, gallons..... 3.75
- Lucca Cream, pints..... .50
- Sanitarium Olive Oil, gallons..... 3.00
- Sanitarium Olive Oil, half gallon..... 1.75
- Durand's Olive Oil, gallons..... 3.25

We will gladly supply any customer a sample of any of these oils for the asking.
