BARTON.

It won't be long until we will hear the binders humming in the grain fields.

"The Brawler," given by the Portland Dramatic Club at Barton hall Saturday night, was pretty well attended, and was followed by a dance, at which all had a good time.

An electric car jumped the track at Barton Sunday at 6 p. m. Nobody hurt.

Mari Griffin started across the mountains on his bicycle for the harvest fields.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.

LIBERAL.

Farmers are busy now with their fall grain. Spring grain is ready for the binder and a great deal of hay is being baled. W. H. Bair, of Canby, is running a baler here and the Fredrichs' and Meindl's baler is busy also. Spring oats have come out very fast in the last ten days. There is a general complaint that they are not filling well. Potatoes early planted are a good crop. Gardens are needing rain badly.

J. D. French bought three hogs of Mr. Perrin. One died after they got it weighed and another died before he got them home and the third one is not expected to live. These hogs certainly had a great love for home. I have heard of young men homesick, but I never heard it of hogs.

Fall grain is ready for the stack and the hum of the thresher will soon be heard.

A new disease has struck the apple leaves, black spots appearing under the leaves. They turn yellow and die in a few days.

Fred Nelson, deputy assessor, and Mr. Turner, of the Willamette paper mills, spent Sunday with S. Wright.

There was some pretty lively racing Sunday evening as the crowd returned from Wilhoit. We pity some of the horses.

Grain is ripening very rapidly and the hayseed rustles early and late, even if it is hot.

LOGAN.

The merry sound of the binder is heard in early grain and it is all ripening rapidly. Haying is about over and the cows of Logan have a hard winter's work before them to convert most of it into milk, butter and cheese.

Miss Young has been re-employed to teach the fall term of the Lower Logan school. The ice cream social the teacher and pupils recently gave at the Grange hall brought $24, to purchase a globe and other apparatus.

M. H. Riehoff is building a barn on his place on Arthur's Prairie.

Fred Moser has completed a barn on the Fredericks place.

Mrs. Barbara Zimmerman surprised Mrs. U. Babler, her mother, and other relatives by arriving unexpectedly from Missouri last week.

J. S. Gill took a short trip around last week with a relative from Missouri.

Two citizens of Logan, L. H. Kirchem and Mahala Gill are completing the Chautauqua season at Gladstone.

H. S. Anderson is at work on his house and will have a fine residence when it is completed.

Harding Grange will survive the roast it received before the county court. Some of the members favor the Barton bridge, most of them do not, but they all respect each other's opinions and try to be temperate in language.

Beautify your complexion with little cost. If you wish a smooth, clear, cream-like complexion, try cheeks, laughing eyes, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, greatest beautifier known. 35 cents. Wurfel Bros., Barlow, Or.

Robbins' young people have attended the Chautauqua and report a fine time.

tended campmeeting at New Era Sunday.

Almost everyone around these parts went to the Fair Gorman day.

WILHOIT.

We, the people of Russellville, are having some very warm weather. People are still haying and do not complain of hay not curing. Some cut and rake up the same day. Wheat is commencing to ripen. Wheat, oats and peas are yet to harvest. When they are harvested—then for the hot springs or the huckleberry patch.

Mr. Wittenborg and granddaughter visited Mrs. Burgoyne and family the first of the week.

D. McArthur is contemplating building an addition to his residence in the near future.

Aunt Hannah Brown is staying with Mrs. McArthur for the present.

The Spiritualist campmeeting was well attended last Sunday, and in fact all week, considering the busy time of the year. Come next Sunday and hear their wonderful manifestations from the spirit side of life, and be convinced that spirit return is not impossible.

CURRINSVILLE.

Grandpa Brown is on the sick list this week.

CHAMPION FORCE FEED BINDERS

Built to harvest under difficult conditions.

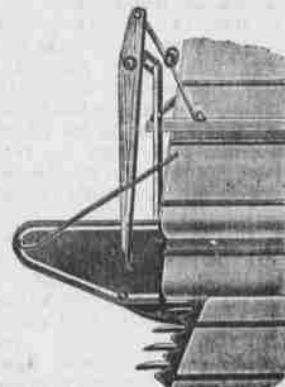

Equally adapted to favorable conditions.

All good features found in others, and many they do not have.

FORCE FEED ELEVATOR

All grain is saved, cannot choke at top of elevator. Notice the positive deliver to packer arms. Does not allow grain to thresh against binder cover.

RELIEF RAKE

Keeps inside end of platform clear. No getting down to clean the corners. Takes no power to run. Taken off for clean grain if desired.

ECCENTRIC SPROCKET WHEEL

Notice the difference in length of spokes of large wheel. When bundle is being compressed and tied, the chain pulls over long spokes, increasing leverage and adding power equal to 1/2 horse power, equalizing draft and lengthening life of machine.

BALE TIES

"The Ties that Bind" to stay bound. You cannot get better ties or binder twine, better prices or better deliveries anywhere, from anyone, and you know we are right.

These three features that are absolutely necessary to make a good binder are found only on the Champion.

Mr. Wingfield made a flying trip to Canby last week. He reports crops and gardens looking well. Gardens are very good. People will doubtless winter well.

Mrs. R. E. Howe, of Oklahoma, has left our country for London, Or. to visit until the last of September, when she will return to Oklahoma.

Mr. Wingfield has made quite an onslaught on varmints, and other things, killing two coons, two owls, two skunks, one crow and two mice, all of which had been catching his chickens. Hawks have been scarce.

O. S. Boyles has been employed by the company to return and work in the tunnel, which they think may prove to be good. We hope they will strike something rich.

We think the mining road is through by this time, as when last heard from they only lacked about five miles.
